North American Student Energy Summit

Opening Ceremony Details – June 19th at United Nations Plaza

The opening ceremony will take place June 19th at the United Nations in partnership with the United Nations Sustainable Energy for All (UN SE4All). The purpose of the opening ceremony is to welcome the students attending the North American Student Energy Summit and offer them a chance to meet fellow delegates.

The theme of the session is "North America in the Global Energy Context" where we feature high level diplomats representing Canada, USA and the United Nations to speak on how students in North America can relate regional issues to the greater global context and enact change as a world citizen. This session hopes to open the eyes of the student delegates to the issues and opportunities in the next decade of their careers and encourage them to take a leadership role in transitioning the world to a sustainable energy future.

The opening ceremonies will be webcasted and live-streamed online to Student Energy's 31,000 students across 80 countries, many of whom may not have been able to attend the event. The video will also be published online to be viewed at a later date.

The program of the opening ceremonies will be as follows:
