

Bordering on Control: Combating Irregular Migration in North America and Europe

Prepared for IOM by

Professor Philip Martin

University of California at Davis
USA

April 2003

IOM International Organization for Migration

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Executive Summary	5
1. Costs and Benefits	9
1.1 Accounting costs	10
1.2 Economics: optimal level of violations	12
1.3 International: trade and migration	12
2. US: Border Yes, Interior No	16
2.1 The US immigration system	18
2.2 US immigration controls: external	21
2.2.1 The US-Mexican border	23
2.3 US immigration controls: internal	26
2.3.1 Enforcement of sanctions	28
2.3.2 Sanctions and labour laws	31
2.4 Assessment: from legalization II to uncertainty	33
3. Canada: High Levels, Satisfaction	36
3.1 Canadian immigration system	36
3.2 Canadian immigration controls: external	39
3.3 Canadian immigration controls: internal	41
3.4 Assessment	42
4. Germany: Guest Workers, Asylum, Managed Migration	44
4.1 The European context	44
4.2 The German migration system	48
4.3 German immigration controls: external	49
4.4 German immigration controls: internal	50
4.5 Assessment	53
5. The Netherlands: Liberal to Tough	55
5.1 The immigration system in the Netherlands	55
5.2 Immigration controls in the Netherlands: external	58
5.3 Immigration controls in the Netherlands: internal	59
5.4 Assessment	62

6.	UK: Limit Entries, Limit Problems	63
	6.1 The British immigration system	63
	6.2 British immigration controls: external	69
	6.3 British immigration controls: internal	70
	6.4 Assessment	72
7.	Northern Europe	74
8.	Southern Europe	77
9.	Whither Immigration Control?	79
10.	Migration in Perspective	84
11.	Notes	92
12.	Bibliography	98
13.	Websites	102
	United States
	Canada
	Germany
	The Netherlands
	United Kingdom	