

Report VI

Towards a fair deal for migrant workers in the global economy

Sixth item on the agenda

UNITED NATIONS
JUL 19 2004
LIBRARY

Contents

	Page
Introduction	1
Chapter 1. Labour migration in a globalizing world	3
1.1. Introductory remarks	3
1.2. Growth of labour migration	5
1.3. Driving forces	8
1.4. Diversity of migrant flows	9
1.5. Irregular migration	11
1.6. Future flows of migrants	12
(a) Decent work deficit	13
(b) Economic disparities	13
(c) Population density	14
(d) The demographic deficit	14
1.7. The decline of bilateral migration management	15
1.8. Preliminary conclusions	16
Chapter 2. Migration and its consequences	17
2.1. Introductory remarks	17
2.2. Impact of migration on countries of origin	18
(a) Reducing population pressure and unemployment	19
(b) Emigration of skilled persons – The brain drain	19
(c) Social costs	23
(d) Flows of remittances	23
(e) Transnational communities and home country development	25
(f) Return migration	26
(g) Migration and trade	27
(h) Migration and overall economic performance	28
2.3. Impact of immigration on destination countries	30
(a) Impact on employment and wages	31
(b) Fiscal impact of immigration	35
(c) Social consequences of immigration	36
2.4. Preliminary conclusions	40
Chapter 3. Conditions of work and treatment of migrant workers	41
3.1. Introductory remarks	41
3.2. Scope and criteria of working conditions	42
3.3. Factors affecting conditions of work	42
(a) Evidence of disparities	42
(b) Reasons for differences in working conditions	44

	Page
3.4. Conditions of work in selected sectors and occupations	48
(a) Agriculture.....	48
(b) Construction.....	53
(c) Manufacturing: Sweatshops and migrant workers	55
(d) Services	56
3.5. Most vulnerable groups of workers	58
(a) Women domestic workers	58
(b) Migrant workers in irregular situations	60
(c) Trafficked persons.....	62
3.6. Occupational safety and health issues.....	64
3.7. Integration of migrant workers in host countries	67
3.8. Preliminary conclusions	69
Chapter 4. International regulation of migrant workers and migration	71
4.1. Introductory remarks	71
4.2. Current international regulation	72
Instruments developed by the ILO	72
Instruments developed by the United Nations	81
Instruments developed by the WTO	83
Regional agreements.....	83
Bilateral agreements	84
4.3. Relevance and impact of international regulation.....	85
Current situation	85
Protecting the rights of specific groups of migrant workers.....	86
The impact of international regulation	92
4.4. Preliminary conclusions	95
Chapter 5. ILO activities with governments and social partners.....	99
5.1. Introductory remarks	99
5.2. A core agenda	99
(a) Building the knowledge base.....	100
(b) Promotion of norms.....	101
(c) Social dialogue.....	101
(d) Technical cooperation	101
(e) Capacity building	103
(f) Special action programmes	103
(g) Building international cooperation.....	104
5.3. An integrated programme within the ILO.....	105
5.4. Preliminary conclusions	107
Chapter 6. Managing migration	109
6.1. Introductory remarks	109
6.2. Choosing policy directions	110
6.3. Towards greater policy coherence	110
Flexibility in administering policy	111
6.4. The value of social dialogue.....	112
6.5. Aligning foreign labour admissions with economic needs.....	113
Establishing quotas.....	114
6.6. Path dependence in migration policy	115
6.7. Making temporary migration schemes work	118

	Page
6.8. The need for a comprehensive approach to irregular migration.....	119
6.9. Regulating labour migration in countries of origin.....	123
Protecting workers against recruitment fraud and abuses	125
6.10. Advantages of inter-country cooperation.....	126
Aid and remittances	127
6.11. Multilateral processes	128
6.12. Bilateral migration agreements	130
6.13. Regional economic integration and the free movement of labour.....	131
6.14. Towards liberalizing trade in services.....	134
6.15. Preliminary conclusions: A complex policy challenge.....	135
Chapter 7. The way forward	139
7.1. Issues for discussion for a plan of action.....	140
Annexes
I. Summary of replies to the International Labour Migration Survey, 2003	143
II. Ratifications of relevant instruments (as at March 2004).....	166
III. Texts of the ILO instruments on migrant workers.....	169