

The imperative of inclusive development: Who is being left behind?

Monday, 3 October 2016
1:15 - 2:30 pm

Conference Room E
UN Conference Building

Inclusion is a core aspiration of the 2030 Agenda, which has set to ensure that no one will be left behind and to reach the furthest behind first. The Agenda's focus on inclusiveness underscores the need to identify who is being left behind and in what ways. This side event will present the main findings of the Report on the World Social Situation 2016. In particular, it will illustrate what data tell us about social exclusion and discuss the best ways to promote inclusion and leave no one behind.

For more information see: <http://social.un.org/rwss>

A summary of the report will be made available at the event.

Agenda

The imperative of inclusive development: Who is being left behind?

Monday, 3 October 2016
1:15 - 2:30 pm

Conference Room E
UN Conference Building

Introductory Remarks

Ambassador Ion Jinga, Permanent Representative of Romania to the UN

Presentation by

Mr. Lenni Montiel, Assistant Secretary-General for Economic Development, DESA
Leaving no one behind: What do we know about social exclusion?

Comments by

Mr. Barry Herman, Visiting Professor, The New School for Public Engagement
Policy imperatives to leave no one behind

Moderated by

Ms. Daniela Bas
Director, DSPD/DESA

A discussion will follow