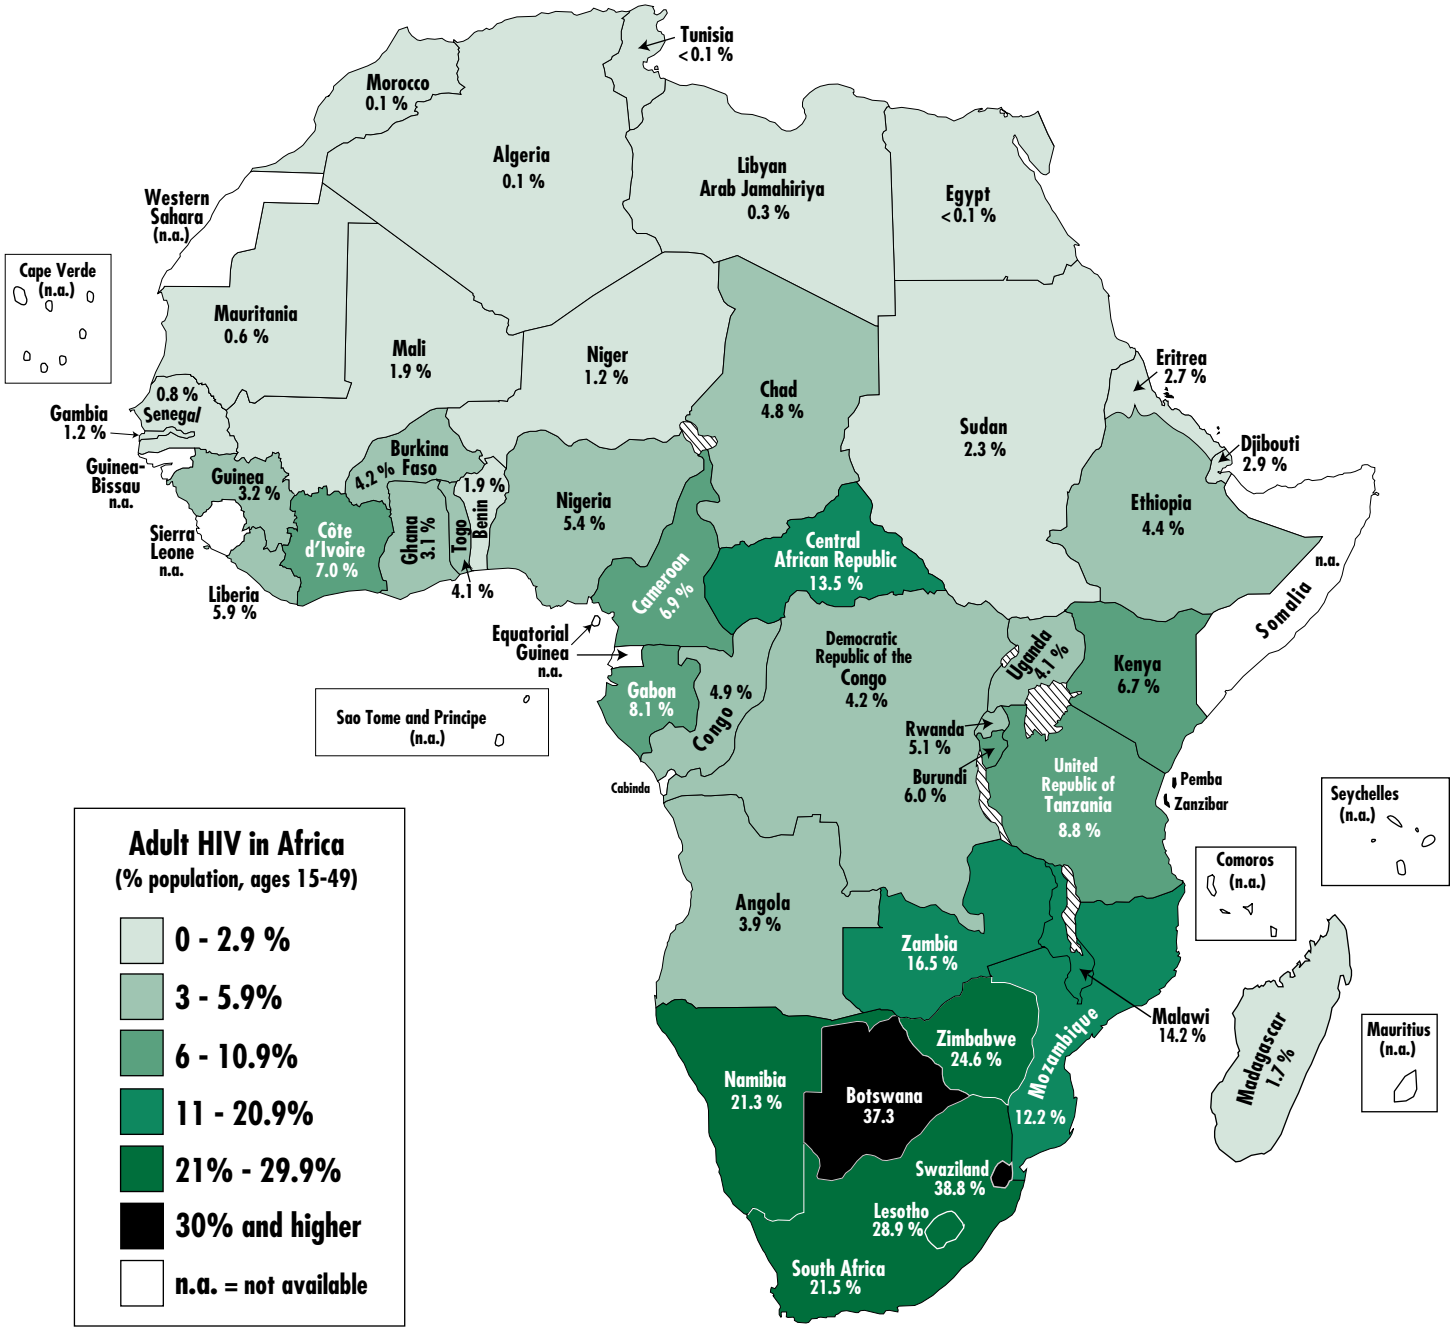
Adult HIV rates in Africa, 2003*

* Statistics reflect the midpoint between high and low estimates. Reduced percentages in many countries are a statistical anomaly, caused by recent changes in data collection and analytical methods. They do not reflect an actual decrease in HIV infection rates, which continued to rise in all but a very few countries in 2003.



Source: UN Africa Renewal from UNAIDS data.