

Introduction

- 1 2005: A good year for peacekeeping operations
 - 2 UN establishes the Peacebuilding Commission
 - 3 Sierra Leone: A success story in peacekeeping
 - 4 Liberia: Elections mark a historic turning point
 - 6 Burundi: A major breakthrough in peacekeeping
 - 7 Haiti: MINUSTAH prepares for overdue elections
 - 9 Côte d'Ivoire: Peace efforts move on despite a succession of delays
 - 11 Sudan: New mission deploys, provides assistance to the African Union in Darfur
 - 12 DR Congo: Robust posture hastens political process
 - 14 Kosovo: Status talks get underway
 - 15 Ethiopia-Eritrea: Political stalemate continues amid rising tension
 - 16 Georgia: UNOMIG police mark two years
 - 17 Other DPKO-led missions
-

Major peacekeeping operations

- 18 Afghanistan: Beyond the Bonn Agreement
 - 19 Iraq: UNAMI underpins the transitional political process
 - 20 UNSCO mediates, coordinates UN work in the Middle-East
 - 20 Political missions
-

Other peace operations

- 21 DPKO stresses conduct and a duty of care
 - 22 Gender in peacekeeping: An evolving field of practice
-

Challenges in peace operations

- 24 UN peacekeeping missions
 - 26 UN political and peace-building missions
 - 28 Peacekeeping contributions
-

Peace operations facts and figures

- 29 Peacekeeping 2005 in a snap shot