

COMMUNITY FOR ZERO HUNGER

ABOUT THE COMMUNITY FOR ZERO HUNGER

Growing demand for nutritious food requires a collaborative, large-scale community response. We launched the Community for Zero Hunger as an independent initiative to deliver a specific response to support the UN Zero Hunger Challenge.

WHO IS INVOLVED?

The Community for Zero Hunger brings together individuals and organizations dedicated to the common goal of ending hunger and malnutrition.

Our advisors are leading experts across every area of global food security.

We are seeking broad involvement by individuals and organizations from all sectors to help us identify critical gaps and contribute insights and ideas for scalable solutions to meet our world's growing need for sustainably produced, nutritious food.

OUR ACTION ITEMS

1. Interviews with international organizations, non-profits, non-governmental organizations, foundations, policymakers, companies and others to identify specific priorities, needs and experiences to meet the UN Zero Hunger Challenge
2. Experience mapping of companies, civil society groups and public sector organizations to uncover experiences, technologies, research, services and other knowledge that can be applied to context-specific gaps that affect our collective ability to deliver a hunger-free world
3. Development of a report and open-access online resource highlighting experience mapping results and opportunities for multi-sectoral collaboration
4. Report and online resource launch, outreach and knowledge-sharing efforts globally, regionally and in collaboration with countries
