

Prosalus commitment with Zero Hunger Challenge

Prosalus will continue incorporating in its projects components of: •nutritional vigilance -specially focused on children-, and •nutritional education with families, to contribute to the improvement of children nutrition.

Prosalus will guide its work so that it contributes to the realization of the human right to adequate food for all, by cooperation projects and also by actions of advocacy and awareness, in collaboration with other organizations and institutions.

Prosalus will support food security and nutrition projects that incorporate agroecological approaches and natural resources conservation practices with the implication of the communities, so that their agricultural systems will be sustainable.

Prosalus will assume an active commitment with the support of small and familiar agriculture, contributing with organizations and networks of small producers to the design of friendly public policies for supporting this type of agriculture.

Prosalus promises to develop -at least for five years- an awareness campaign about food losses and waste, developing an APP for mobile devices oriented to informing and increasing awareness on this topic.
