Introduction

1. The United Nations Forum on Forests at its fifth session, through its decision 5/2 entitled, “Review process of the fifth session of the United Nations Forum on Forests”, decided to complete the consideration of the review process based on the bracketed draft text developed in informal consultations during its fifth session. The bracketed text labeled as “Chairman’s draft text” was contained in the annex to the decision 5/2.

2. Taking note of the report of the Forum on its fifth session, the Economic and Social Council (see resolution 2005/29) further noted that the Forum will continue examination of its method of work, as per General Assembly resolution 57/270 B of 23 June 2003, through the implementation of decision 5/2 of the fifth session of the Forum.

3. This Note by the Secretariat has been prepared to transmit the bracketed text, provide background context and inform Member States of new developments that have occurred since the fifth session of the Forum at the time of writing this report.

Background

Agenda

4. The focus of the deliberations at the fifth session was on the following three main items of the agenda:

- a) Review of progress and consideration of future actions;
- b) Review of the effectiveness of the international arrangement on forests, as referred to in paragraph 17 of Economic and Social Council resolution 2000/35; and
- c) On the basis of the assessment referred to in paragraph 2(e) of Economic and Social Council resolution 2000/35, consideration of the parameters of a mandate for developing a legal framework on all types of forests, with a view to recommending them to the Council and through it to the General Assembly.

5. Three separate official pre-session documents were prepared to facilitate the discussions of the above three items. In addition, a report of the ad hoc expert group on “consideration of the parameters of a mandate for developing a legal framework on all types of forests, with a view to recommending them to the Council and through it to the General Assembly”, held in September 2004, was also considered by the session. A report of the country-led initiative in support of the Forum, held in January 2005 in Guadalajara, Mexico, on the same theme, was also presented to the Forum.

6. At the fifth session, the Forum also convened the second high-level ministerial segment and policy dialogue with heads of international organizations. The Forum considered the common items “Enhanced cooperation and policy and programme coordination” and “Multi-stakeholder dialogue” in conjunction with the high-level ministerial segment. The official documents addressing enhanced cooperation, the high-level ministerial segment, the linkages between forests and the internationally agreed development goals, including those contained in the United Nations Millennium Declaration, and discussion papers from the major groups were separately provided for the discussion and negotiations.

7. The sixth session of the Forum, therefore, is expected to complete the ongoing review process and recommend to the Economic and Social Council for adoption a draft resolution on the review of the effectiveness of the international arrangement on forests, including consideration of the future actions and the position of the Forum within the United Nations system¹.

A brief account of negotiations and resulting Chairman's draft text

8. The initial deliberations on specific agenda items at the fifth session focused, inter alia, on:

- Reaffirmation of the objective, purpose and functions of the international arrangement on forests as set out in the Council resolution 2000/35, but a desire for improvement in the effectiveness of the arrangement;
- Desire for a dynamic process of addressing emerging policy issues and setting strategic objectives to support the implementation;
- Different models of voluntary instruments including voluntary code on forests, technical guidelines, international understanding on sustainable forest management and peer review;
- Issue of setting global goals and/or associated national targets;
- Issue of finance and other means of implementation;
- Working modalities, including issues of regional dimension and a multi-year programme of work for the Forum;
- Issues of how and when to address a possible legal framework on all types of forests;
- Enhanced cooperation and cross-sectoral coordination, including the role of the Collaborative Partnership on Forests;
- Role of forests in achieving internationally agreed development goals, including those contained in the Millennium Declaration; and
- Ministerial message to the General Assembly Special Summit in September 2005.

¹ See Council resolution 2000/35 and the Forum's multi-year programme of work adopted in its resolution 1/1, in particular

9. Eventually, the Forum advanced its negotiations through a draft resolution. Negotiations on many of the above issues took place in working groups and informal contact groups. Due to a lack of time, the draft resolution for ECOSOC's consideration could not be agreed upon. The chairman's draft text represents the state of negotiations when the session came to an end. The text contains a preamble section with total of 10 paragraphs and an operative section comprised of 25 paragraphs under seven sub-headings², and an annex.

Recent developments

10. The World Summit of September 2005, in its review of progress in the global agenda for development, including those contained in the Millennium Declaration, adopted a specific statement regarding forests and the UN Forum on Forests in its resolution, "60/1 2005 World Summit Outcome" (A/RES/60/1, paragraph 56(j)). In pursuance of the commitment to achieve sustainable development, the Heads of State and Government resolved:

"To strengthen the conservation, sustainable management and development of all types of forests for the benefit of current and future generations, including through enhanced international cooperation, so that trees and forests may contribute fully to the achievement of the internationally agreed development goals, including those contained in the Millennium Declaration, taking full account of the linkages between the forest sector and other sectors. We look forward to the discussions at the sixth session of the United Nations Forum on Forests;"

section A, subparagraphs 4(d) (i), (ii) and (iii).

² The seven sub-headings are: (i) Global goals/strategic objectives, (ii) Means of implementation, (iii) Enhanced cooperation and cross-sectoral, policy and programme coordination, (iv) Working modalities, (v) Legal framework, (vi) Voluntary code/guidelines/international understanding, and (vii) Declaration and message.

11. An international meeting of experts, "Scoping for a future agreement on forests" as a country-led initiative in support of the UN Forum on Forests, held in Berlin, Germany (16-18 November 2005), explored some of the key issues and concepts presented and discussed at the fifth session and reflected in the Chairman's draft text. The meeting was attended by 152 experts from 87 countries and dealt with three of the critical issues discussed at the fifth session of the Forum and accordingly contained in the Chairman's draft text: voluntary code/voluntary instrument; implementation/means of implementation; and the regional dimension. The meeting brought much clarity to the concepts and their implications on the development of the institutional arrangement on forests. The report of the country-led initiative has been submitted to the sixth session for consideration.

12. The Bureau of the sixth session of the Forum held a series of briefings with Member States in late November and early December 2005 in New York. The briefings and subsequent exchange of views focused on the critical need to reach a consensus on the development of the international arrangement on forests, and on how to better organize the work of the sixth session to effectively conclude the pending work.

13. The 7th Conference of Parties (COP-7) of the UN Convention to Combat Desertification (UNCCD) was held from 17 to 28 October 2005 in Nairobi. The meeting sends a clear signal that the Millennium Development Goals cannot be achieved without addressing the root causes of rural poverty. In the final decision (ICCD/COP (7)/L.18/Rev.1), the COP commits to promote synergy between the Rio conventions, and invites for enhanced cooperation. It particularly suggests a synergistic approach to encouraging sustainable forest management.

14. During the 39th Session of the International Tropical Timber Council (ITTC-39) held on 7-12 November 2005, the Council approved a programme to support UNFF and its Secretariat and to cooperate with the Collaborative Partnership on Forests in various joint programmes in its newly approved biennial programme of work (2006-2007).

15. The Subsidiary Body on Scientific, Technical and Technological Advice to the Convention on Biological Diversity (SBSTTA), at its 11th session, held on 28 November – 2 December 2005, discussed the need to take note of the outcomes of the sixth session of the Forum (in relation to the work of CBD on forest biological diversity). SBSTTA-11 also encouraged more collaboration and coordination with the Forum and CPF on streamlining reporting requirements and initiatives on forest law enforcement and governance issues. The report of SBSTTA will be presented to the 8th Conference of Parties to the Convention on Biological Diversity in 2006.

16. The 11th Conference of Parties to the UN Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC) and First Meeting of Parties to the Kyoto Protocol, held jointly on 28 November – 9 December 2005, addressed the outstanding operational details of the Kyoto Protocol, including procedures relating to compliance and guidelines for the “flexible mechanisms,” including the Clean Development Mechanism, and future commitments for the period after the end of the Protocol’s first commitment period in 2012.

17. The Ministerial Conference on Forest Law Enforcement and Governance by the Governments from Europe and North Asia (ENA region countries) and from other participating countries, as well as the European Commission, was held from 21 to 25 November 2005 in St. Petersburg, The Russian Federation. The Conference, which was attended by ministers and other senior officials from 43 countries, adopted the St. Petersburg Declaration for coordinated actions and collaboration in effectively enforcing forest law and governance activities in the region.

Points for consideration

18. As stipulated in Decision 5/2, the Forum would base its deliberation on the Chairman’s draft text from the fifth session. The Forum may wish to take into account the recent developments, including those mentioned above, during its overall deliberations at the sixth session. In this regard, the Forum may also wish to consider making an appropriate reference to paragraph 56(j) of the 2005 World Summit Outcome, rather than maintain paragraphs 24-25 (under the heading “Declaration and message”) in the Chairman’s draft text, considering the fact that the General Assembly Special Summit (the 2005 World Summit) to which it was directed has already taken place in September 2005. The Forum may also wish to further deliberate on the issue of global goals in the context of paragraph 56(j) of the World Summit.

19. The Forum may wish to validate the objectives, purpose and functions of the International Arrangement on Forests, as well as the institutional status of the Forum as a subsidiary body of ECOSOC with universal membership, as set out in ECOSOC Resolution 2000/35 and in the light of the outcome and implications of the major summits and conferences.

20. In the Chairman’s draft text, paragraph 2 identified two additional tasks for the International Arrangement on Forests, namely, (a) enhance the contribution of forests to the achievement of internationally agreed development goals, including those contained in the Millennium Declaration; and (b) maintain global forest resources and forest quality for the long-term economic, social and environmental well-being of all, and in particular those that depend directly on forests, including local and indigenous communities. However, it is not clear whether these two tasks be termed objectives or functions of the International Arrangement on Forests in addition to what resolution 2000/35 stipulated. The Forum may wish to consider this issue in its deliberation.

21. While further deliberating on possible instruments, the Forum may wish to take into consideration the need for the articulation of international forest-related commitments in a voluntary instrument by developing a code on forests, international guidelines or an international understanding on SFM and/or by conducting peer reviews.

22. The Forum may also wish to consider how to enhance the contribution of forests through sustainable forest management in the achievement of internationally agreed development goals, including those contained in the Millennium Declaration, for the long-term economic, social and environmental well-being of all, and in particular those that depend directly on forests, including local and indigenous communities.
23. The Forum may wish to consider the method of work and a multi-year programme of work for the coming years which would envision and realign the Forum's work and direction for future actions. In this regard, the Forum may wish also to consider maintaining flexibility to address new and emerging issues and strengthening the linkages between forest policy development and dialogue at the global, regional, national and local levels by holding and encouraging regional and global thematic meetings on major forest-related issues.
24. The Forum may also wish to consider the creation of an enabling environment and development of financial mechanisms for the implementation of forest policies in the promotion of sustainable forest management, as well as for achieving the internationally-agreed development goals.
25. The Forum may wish to recognize the continued need for enhanced cooperation and cross-sectoral policy and programme coordination with relevant instruments, intergovernmental organizations and processes, both within and outside the United Nations system, as well as the role of the Collaborative Partnership on Forests (CPF) and major stakeholder groups in promoting SFM worldwide.
