RECONSTRUCTION OF PUBLIC BUILDINGS

- Seven major public buildings are under reconstruction in East Timor including two in the capital Dili and five in Baucau, Ermera, Liquiça, and Oecussi districts. Since June 2000, 32 major public buildings have been completed by the East Timor Transitional Administration, now known as the East Timor Public Administration.
- This public reconstruction is being supervised by the East Timor Public Administration's architects and engineers, both East Timorese and international.
- The seven buildings now under reconstruction will house, among others, the Ministry of Health in Dili, and, outside the capital, the reconstruction includes District Administration Headquarters, Revenue, Education and Road Offices.
- So far, the East Timor Public Administration has signed contracts for the reconstruction of public buildings worth US$ 7.5 million.
- Twenty East Timorese companies and 11 foreign companies have conducted or are conducting the rehabilitation work and have been responsible for the direct employment of more than 1,000 East Timorese workers. Numbers will increase once all seven projects currently under tender start.
- This reconstruction does not include the rehabilitation of public buildings conducted by UNTAET's Assessed Budget. The budget includes: more than 20 buildings in Dili, including the UNTAET and Peacekeeping Headquarters and the Radio and Television Building; as well as some 240 buildings in the districts – Civilian Police stations, civil registration offices, district field offices, power houses, transmitter stations, workshops and warehouses, all of which are part of the Public Administration's facilities.
- These figures do not include reconstruction projects in the health and education sectors, namely clinics and elementary schools (see Fact Sheets on Health and Education).
