Inventory of United Nations Resources on Women, Peace and Security

Guidelines Training Materials Manuals Reports

Inter-Agency Task Force on Women, Peace and Security October 2004

Introduction

This is an inventory of United Nations resources on various thematic areas related to women, peace and security. It includes guidelines, training materials, manuals and reports that entities of the United Nations system have developed in line with the critical area of concern "women and armed conflict" of the Beijing Platform for Action of the Fourth World Conference on Women (Beijing, 1995) and Security Council resolution 1325 (2000). The inventory has been produced to enable Member States, United Nations entities, civil society and non-governmental organizations to have a readily available list of United Nations resources in the field of women, peace and security.

The inventory and the electronic versions of most of the resources are available at: www.un.org/womenwatch/osagi.

This list will be continuously updated and new United Nations resources will be added to the online inventory as they become available.

Structure

The inventory is divided into three sections:

- Section I resources specific to women, peace and security, grouped alphabetically within the following themes: disarmament demobilization and reintegration, gender-based violence, humanitarian response, peace operations and post-conflict reconstruction;
- Section II general publications on peace and security which include gender and women's issues; and
- Section III a list of related websites.

For each resource, the title, the issuing agency, and a brief description of the content are provided, as well as an internet address where it may be downloaded or ordered.

2. Gender and Armed Conflicts: Challenges for Decent Work, Gender Equity and Peace Building Agendas and Programmes (ILO, 2001) provides an analytical synthesis of research and insights based on country studies undertaken by ILO between 1996 and 2000, and seeks to guide policy formulation, effective pursuit of gender-sensitive programming, decent work, and other activities on gender issues in the wake of conflict.

http://www.ilo.org/public/english/employment/recon/crisis/ publ/wp2.htm

- 3. Women, Peace and Security: Study submitted by the Secretary-General pursuant to Security Council resolution 1325 (UN, 2002) reviews the impact of armed conflict on women and girls; describes the relevant international legal framework; reviews gender perspectives in peace processes, peace operations, humanitarian assistance, reconstruction; includes recommendations for concrete actions and provides recommendations that build on resolution 1325. http://www.un.org/womenwatch/daw/public/eWPS.pdf
- 4. Women War Peace: The Independent Experts' Assessment (UNIFEM, 2002) focuses on voices of women in conflict areas and their experiences in building peace; covers gender dimensions of violence and displacement during conflict, the role of peacekeepers and the need for women to play a central part in peace negotiations and reconstruction, and lists key recommendations to protect and empower women. http://www.unifem.org/index.php?f_page_pid=149

General Publications on Women, Peace and Security

5. Women, Peace and Security: UNIFEM supporting implementation of Security Council resolution 1325: (UNIFEM 2004) highlights UNIFEM's programmes and advocacy on women, peace and security, and its efforts to ensure that the international commitments made in resolution 1325, the Beijing Platform for Action and the Convention to Eliminate All Forms of Discrimination against Women are not hollow words, but that they are translated into action. http://www.womenwarpeace.org/supporting1325.pdf

Disarmament Demobilization and Reintegration (DDR)

- 6. Disarmament Forum. Women, Men, Peace and Security (UNIDIR, 2003) explores gender aspects of early warning, the role of gender in DDR programmes, masculine behaviour and violence; considers specific UN efforts concerning gender mainstreaming, including the Gender Action Plan of DDA, and stresses limited effectiveness of peace and security work that does not involve the incorporation of gender perspectives. http://www.unidir.ch/bdd/fiche- periodigue.php?ref periodigue=1020-7287-2003-4-en
- 7. Gender Mainstreaming Action Plan (DDA, 2003) provides excerpts from DDA's action plan to implement a gender mainstreaming strategy in the disarmament area; identifies ways and opportunities to work for disarmament and gender equality; includes an overview of underlying themes, accomplishments, and areas of work where incorporating gender perspectives are particularly relevant and covers concrete entry points for DDA to mainstream gender. http://disarmament2.un.org/gender/gmap.pdf
- 8. Gender Perspectives on Disarmament, Demobilization and Reintegration (DDA and OSAGI/DESA, 2003) provides a comprehensive analysis of root causes of conflict and identifies differing impacts of conflict on women and men in the areas of weapons of mass destruction, peace and disarmament, small arms, DDR, disarmament and development and landmines. http://disarmament2.un.org/gender/note4.htm

Disarmament Demobilization and Reintegration (DDR)

- 9. Getting it Right, Doing it Right: Gender and Disarmament, Demobilization and Reintegration (UNIFEM, 2004) targets decision makers and practitioners; intends to influence policy and procedure in order to foster inclusive transitions to peace in post-conflict societies, and includes findings and recommendations from a desk review, case studies on Liberia and Bougainville-Papua New Guinea and UNIFEM's Standard Operating Procedures on Gender and DDR. http://www.womenwarpeace.org/issues/ddr/gettingitright.p df
- 10. Standard Operating Procedures: Getting it Right, Doing it Right: Gender and Disarmament, Demobilization and Reintegration. (UNIFEM, 2004) assists planners in designing and implementing gender-sensitive short-term goals and in envisioning future-oriented long-term peace support measures; focuses on practical ways in which women -- ex-combatants, wives of soldiers, war widows and others -- can be included in disarmament, demobilization and reintegration processes. http://womenwarpeace.org/issues/ddr/sop.pdf

Gender-Based Violence (GBV)

- 11. Clinical Management of Survivors of Rape. A guide to the development of protocols for use in refugee and internally displaced persons situations (UNHCR and WHO, 2002) describes best practices in clinical management of people who have been raped, and suggests adaptations to each situation, while taking into account national policies and practices, and availability of materials and drugs. http://www.who.int/reproductive-health/publications/rhr 02 8/clinical management.pdf
- 12. Not a Minute More: Ending Violence Against Women (UNIFEM, 2003) highlights many of the achievements over the past few decades in combating gender-based violence and outlines what must be done to build on these achievements; provides examples of good practices as well as of efforts that did not meet the goals set out for them -- and explains why not; looks at the challenges ahead and asks what the most fruitful next steps might be.

Gender-Based Violence (GBV)

13. A Practical Approach to Gender- Based Violence: A Programme Guide for Health Care Providers & Managers (UNFPA, 2001) offers step-by-step guidance on how reproductive health facilities can begin GBV projects and details three options on how to deliver services to survivors of violence. http://www.unfpa.org/upload/lib pub file/99 filename gen

http://www.unfpa.org/upload/lib_pub_file/99_filename_gen_ der.pdf

- 14. Prevention and Response to Sexual and Gender-Based Violence in Refugee Situations (UNHCR, 2001) presents conclusions from a Geneva-based conference on sexual and gender-based violence; covers lessons learned on what to do, what not to do, and what is needed to improve prevention and response for protection of refugees and sets out recommendations for a multi-sectoral and coordinated approach to prevention and response to GBV. http://action.web.ca/home/cpcc/attach/prevention%20and% 20responses.pdf
- 15. Sexual and Gender-Based Violence against Refugees, Returnees and Internally Displaced Persons. Guidelines for Prevention and Response (UNHCR, 2003) updates the 1995 guidelines and offers practical advice on how to design strategies and carry out activities aimed at preventing and responding to sexual and gender-based violence and contains information on relevant health, legal, security and human rights issues.

16. UNICEF Training of Trainers on Gender-Based Violence: Focusing on Sexual Exploitation and Abuse (UNICEF, 2003) provides a module for a training workshop on GBV, which focuses on sexual abuse and exploitation and outlines a two-day training: first day focusing on increasing awareness of basic concepts, and second exploring codes of conduct, reporting mechanisms and programmatic responses. http://www.reliefweb.int/library/documents/2003/unicef-tot-25sep.pdf

Humanitarian Response

17. Enlisting the Armed Forces to Protect Reproductive Health and Rights: Lessons Learned from Nine Countries (UNFPA, 2003) summarizes key lessons from nine country studies and a global review of emerging programming and policy issues for enlisting the help of the armed forces in reproductive health protection -- including preventing HIV/AIDS and promoting gender equality -- and examines progress and challenges.

http://www.unfpa.org/rh/armedforces/index.html

- 18. Gender and Humanitarian Assistance Resource Kit: Mainstreaming gender in the Humanitarian Response to Emergencies (IACS 2004) is an electronic tool kit located on Relief Web which provides a compendium of a variety of gender tools related to humanitarian response developed by the IASC, its members and others; provides resources on policies and standards; analytical documents; best practices; guidelines, checklists and tools for planning and training. http://www.reliefweb.int/library/GHARkit/1 mainstreaming. htm
- 19. Gender Training Kit on Refugee Protection. Handbook (UNHCR, 2002) describes the major UNHCR policies and provides guidelines relating to gender and refugee women, as well as training modules; includes handouts for participants, texts to be placed on transparencies for overhead projections, power point presentations, case studies, role-plays and a variety of other training exercises. Contact UNHCR to obtain a copy. http://www.unhcr.ch
- 20. Passport to Mainstreaming a Gender Perspective in Emergency Programmes. Key Analytical Questions for Designing Gender-Sensitive Humanitarian Interventions (FAO and WFP, 2000) consists of key questions to be asked in an emergency situation for data collection to help guide the design of emergency interventions toward sensitivity to gender differences and discusses mainstreaming gender perspectives through a participatory approach.

Humanitarian Response

- 21. Reproductive Health in Refugee Situations. An Inter-Agency Field Manual (UNHCR et al, 1999) targets field managers in refugee situations; supports the delivery of quality reproductive health services using technical standards set by the World Health Organization and provides programmatic direction with frequent reference to additional resource materials that should be used to ensure comprehensive and reliable reproductive health care for refugees. http://www.ippf.org/resource/refugeehealth/manual/
- 22. Respect our Rights: Partnership for Equality (UNHCR and WCRWC, 2001) reports on 2001 dialogue with refugee women; details particular concerns of refugee women, including access to asylum, basic goods and services, and education; highlights vulnerability of refugee women to sexual violence and takes stock of UNHCR's commitments to, and remaining gaps in, promoting equal rights of refugee women and men. http://www.womenscommission.org/pdf/unhcr_ref.pdf

Peace Operations

- 23. Gender and Peacekeeping Operations: Generic Training (DPKO, 2002) enables instructors to prepare and deliver basic training on the meaning and implications of gender in peace support operations and gives practical, concrete and useful advice based on real experiences/situations to allow participants to test their understanding of concepts and to discover responses and ideas for resolution. http://www.un.org/Depts/dpko/training/tes_publications/pu bli.htm
- 24. Gender and Peacekeeping Operations: In-Mission Training (DPKO, 2001) enables instructors to prepare and deliver basic training on the meaning and implications of gender perspectives in peacekeeping operations, and provides numerous examples, based on real experiences/situations to allow participants to test their understanding of the concepts and their ability to discover responses and ideas for resolution. http://www.reliefweb.int/training/trainingmaterial/dpkogender-2001.pdf

Peace Operations

25. Gender Resource Package for Peacekeeping Operations (DPKO, 2004) addresses all peacekeeping personnel, UN political missions, partners and NGOs working in conflict and post-conflict environments; provides guidance on the mainstreaming of gender perspectives in all aspects of a peacekeeping operation, including military and civilian police, political and civil affairs, HIV/AIDS, DDR, human rights, elections, etc.

http://pbpu.unlb.org/pbpu/Document.aspx?docid=495

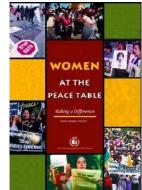

- 26. Mainstreaming a Gender Perspective in Multidimensional Peace Operations (DPKO, 2000) reviews UN principles and guidelines related to gender balance and mainstreaming; presents findings drawn principally from case studies, interviews and analysis of documents, and concludes women's participation has demonstrable effect on peacekeeping efforts, often with the result of reducing conflict and confrontation. http://www.un.org/Depts/dpko/lessons/Gender%20Mainstre aming.pdf
- 27. Peace agreements as a means for promoting gender equality and ensuring participation of women A framework of model provisions (DAW/DESA and DPA, 2003) discusses and analyzes the gender dimensions of peace agreements, specifically the obstacles, lessons learned and good practices in the negotiation, content and implementation of peace agreements, and presents a framework of model provisions on promoting gender equality which provides a set of standards for mediators, facilitators and funding entities involved in preparing peace agreements. http://www.un.org/womenwatch/daw/egm/peace2003/
- 28. Women at the Peace Table: Making a Difference (UNIFEM, 2000) finds that negotiations on peace and security remain an almost exclusively male domain; discovers ways in which women of all regions are challenging their exclusion and lobbying for an equal place at the peace table, and reports on a series of interviews with leaders that reveals that women who do participate in peace talks make substantial contributions to the process.

- 31. Fighting AIDS. HIV/AIDS prevention and care among armed forces and UN peacekeepers: The Case of Eritrea (UNAIDS, 2003) examines the unprecedented response to the HIV/AIDS pandemic undertaken by the UN peacekeeping Mission in Ethiopia and Eritrea (UNMEE) and discusses the need to increase awareness among peacekeeping personnel and to work closely with both troop-contributing and host countries. http://www.unaids.org/Unaids/EN/In+focus/topic+areas/unif ormed+services.asp?StartRow=20
- 32. Gender Approaches in Conflict and Post-Conflict Situations (UNDP, 2002) supports and strengthens the capacity of UNDP and other UN entities' staffs working on recovery and rehabilitation activities in crisis and post-conflict situations to mainstream gender perspectives and examines challenges and opportunities for women's human rights and gender equality in institutional and social frameworks. http://www.undp.org/bcpr/ref/gender_manual_uk.pdf

33. Gender in Crisis Response: A Guide to the Gender-Poverty-Employment Link (ILO, 2003) considers disastrous effects of crises on employment and poverty, as well as the capacity of crisis-affected populations to overcome these devastating effects and ensure return to decent life, and includes specific recommendations to integrate gender analysis into the design, implementation, monitoring and evaluation of post-crisis employment projects.

http://www.ilo.org/public/english/employment/recon/crisis/ download/gender3.pdf

34. Gender Guidelines for Employment and Skills Training in Conflict-Affected Countries (ILO, 1998) facilitates the mainstreaming of gender perspectives in policies and programmes; advances discussion, advocacy and action at different levels with regard to women and conflict and contributes to implementation of the Beijing Platform for Action of the Fourth World Conference on Women's critical area of "women and armed conflict." http://www.ilo.org/public/english/employment/recon/crisis/

http://www.ilo.org/public/english/employment/recon/crisis/ papers/gender.htm

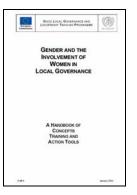

- 35. Gender and the Involvement of Women in Local Governance. A Handbook of Concepts Training and Action Tools (UN-HABITAT, 2004) provides a series of tools and exercises for trainers to train local leaders on gender and local governance issues, and serves as a resource guide for local leaders to involve men and women equally in municipal planning of other activities with a focus on urban environments. http://hq.unhabitat.org/programmes/rdmu/documents/som alia_gender.pdf
- 36. Gender Policy (2003-2007): Enhanced Commitments to Women to Ensure Food Security (WFP, 2002) outlines a combination of positive measures for women and gender mainstreaming measures and proposes eight Enhanced Commitments to Women for the period 2003 to 2007 and considers women's and girls' special nutritional needs, their access to food-assisted activities and supports their effective participation in decision-making.
