Territorial Sea, Internal Waters, Archipelagic Waters and Contiguous Zone

4.—(1) The baselines, for the purpose of measuring the breadth of the territorial sea, shall be —

(a) the low-water line; or

(b) if and to the extent that the Minister so directs under subsection (2) (a), straight archipelagic baselines established as provided in subsection (2) (b).

(2) The Minister, by order —

(a) may direct that the baselines shall, subject to such limitations and exceptions as may be stated in the order, be straight archipelagic baselines; and

(b) if he does so, shall identify those baselines, drawn in accordance with international law, by reference to charts of a scale adequate for ascertaining their position or to lists of geographical co-ordinates specifying the geodetic datum.

5.—(1) Subject to subsection (2) and any order made under section 32 with respect to the delimitation of the territorial sea, the territorial sea of Grenada comprises those areas of the sea having, as their landward limit, the baselines and, as their seaward limit, a line measured seaward every point of which is 12 nautical miles distant from the nearest point of the baselines.
(2) Wherever the equidistance line between Grenada and a foreign state is less than 12 nautical miles from the nearest point of the baselines, the delimitation of the territorial sea shall, if possible, be effected by agreement between Grenada and the foreign state; but to the extent that no such agreement is effected, that equidistance line shall constitute the seaward limit of the territorial sea.

6. (1) The internal waters of Grenada comprise those areas of the sea that are on the landward side —

(a) of the low-water line; or

(b) if and to the extent that closing lines are prescribed pursuant to subsection (2), of those closing lines.

(2) The Minister may, whenever he considers it appropriate to do so having regard to international law, by order, prescribe closing lines for the purpose of defining any of the internal waters of Grenada.

7. The archipelagic waters of Grenada comprise those areas of the sea (other than internal waters) on the landward side of any straight archipelagic baselines established as provided in section 4 (2).

9. The sovereignty of Grenada extends, and shall be deemed always to have extended, to —

(a) the territorial sea, internal waters and archipelagic waters; and

(b) the airspace over, and seabed and subsoil underlying, that sea and those waters.
9.—(1) Subject to subsection (2), the contiguous zone of Grenada comprises those areas of the sea that are beyond and adjacent to the territorial sea having, as their seaward limit, a line, measured seaward from the baselines, every point of which is 24 nautical miles distant from the nearest point of the baselines.

(2) The contiguous zone shall not extend into any part of the territorial sea of a foreign state and, in any case where it would, but for this subsection, so extend, subsection (1) shall operate as though it were modified to the extent necessary to ensure that the contiguous zone does not so extend.

(3) Grenada has and may exercise in respect of the contiguous zone such powers and authorities as may be necessary to prevent, or punish, the infringement, within Grenada (including the archipelagic waters and the territorial sea), of any law providing controls or prohibitions for or with respect to customs, excise, immigration or health.

PART III

Continental Shelf and Exclusive Economic Zone

DIVISION 1 — continental shelf

10.—(1) Subject to any order made under section 32 with respect to the delimitation of the continental shelf, the continental shelf of Grenada comprises those areas of the seabed and subsoil of the submarine areas that are beyond and adjacent to the territorial sea throughout the natural prolongation of the land territory of Grenada to the outer edge of the continental margin, or to a distance of 200 nautical miles from the nearest point of the baselines wherever that outer edge does not extend upon to that distance.
(2) For the purposes of subsection (1), wherever the continental margin extends beyond 200 nautical miles from the nearest point of the baselines, the outer limits of the continental shelf shall be established and delineated with due regard to the requirements and limitations of international law relevant to the establishment and delineation of the continental shelf beyond that distance.

(3) For the purposes of this section, the continental margin comprises the submerged prolongation of the land mass of Grenada consisting of the seabed and subsoil of the shelf, the slope and the rise, but does not include the deep ocean floor with its oceanic ridge or the subsoil thereof.

11.—(1) Subject to this Act, Grenada has, and shall be deemed always to have had, in relation to the continental shelf—

(a) sovereign rights for the purpose of the exploration for, and the exploitation and management of, natural resources;

(b) exclusive rights to construct and to authorise and regulate the construction, operation and use of, and jurisdiction over—

(i) artificial islands; and

(ii) installations and structures, for the purposes provided for under paragraph (a) or any other economic purposes;

(iii) installations and structures which may interfere with the exercise by Grenada of rights in respect of the continental shelf;
(c) exclusive jurisdiction to regulate, authorise and control marine scientific research; and

(d) exclusive jurisdiction to preserve and protect the marine environment and to prevent and control marine pollution.

(2) In subsection (1) (a), "natural resources" means mineral and other non-living resources of the seabed and subsoil together with living organisms belonging to sedentary species, that is to say, organisms which, at the harvestable stage, either are immobile on or under the seabed or are unable to move except in constant physical contact with the seabed or subsoil.

DIVISION 2 — exclusive economic zone

12. Subject to any order made under section 32 with respect to the delimitation of the exclusive economic zone, the exclusive economic zone of Grenada comprises those areas of the sea and the submarine areas that are beyond and adjacent to the territorial sea, having, as their seaward limit, a line measured seaward every point of which is a distance of 200 nautical miles from the nearest point of the baselines.

13. Subject to this Act, Grenada has, and shall be deemed always to have had, in relation to the exclusive economic zone —

(a) sovereign rights for the purpose of the exploration, exploitation, conservation and management of the natural resources, whether living or non-living, of the seabed, subsoil and superjacent waters, as well as for producing energy from tides, winds and currents;
(b) rights and jurisdiction such as are referred to in section 11 (1) (b), (c) and (d); and

e) such other rights as are recognised by international law.

DIVISION 3 — provisions applicable to continental shelf and exclusive economic zone

14.—(1) Grenada shall not impede the laying or maintenance in accordance with this Act, of submarine cables or pipelines on the continental shelf or on the seabed of the zone.

(2) (Nothing in subsection (1) shall operate to prejudice the right of Grenada —

(a) to take reasonable measures for the exploration of the continental shelf or the zone, the exploitation of its natural resources and the prevention, reduction and control of pollution from pipelines;

(b) to establish conditions for cables or pipelines entering its territory, or its jurisdiction, over cables and pipelines constructed or used in connection with the exploration of the continental shelf or the zone or the exploitation of its resources, or the operation of artificial islands, installations and structures under its jurisdiction.

(3) The delineation of the course for the laying of submarine cables and pipelines on the continental shelf or on the seabed of the zone is subject to the consent of the Minister.
15. The rights and jurisdiction of Grenada under Division 1 or 2 shall be so exercised as not to infringe, or result in an unjustifiable interference with, navigation and other rights and freedoms of foreign states under international law.

16. Wherever the equidistance line between Grenada and a foreign state is less than 200 nautical miles from the nearest point of the baselines, Grenada shall use its best endeavours to ensure that the delimitation of the continental shelf or, as the case may be, the exclusive economic zone, is effected by agreement between Grenada and the foreign state, on the basis of international law, in order to achieve an equitable solution, or is otherwise effected in accordance with relevant international law for the settlement of disputes.

PART IV

Rights of Passage

17.—(1) Every foreign ship may, subject to and in accordance with this section and international law, exercise in relation to the territorial sea and archipelagic waters the right of innocent passage, that is to say, a right of passage that is continuous and expeditious and not prejudicial to the peace, good order or security of Grenada, for the purpose of—

(a) traversing that sea or those waters without entering internal waters or calling at a roadstead or port facility outside internal waters; or

(b) proceeding to or from internal waters or a call at such a roadstead or port facility.
(2) For the purposes of this section, the passage of a foreign ship shall be deemed to be prejudicial to the peace, good order or security of Grenada if, without due authority for doing so, the ship engages, within the territorial sea or archipelagic waters, in any of the following activities, namely—

(a) any threat or use of force against the sovereignty, territorial integrity or political independence of Grenada, or any other act which is in violation of the principles of international law embodied in the Charter of the United Nations;

(b) the launching, landing or taking on board of any aircraft or military device;

(c) exercises or practices with weaponry of any kind;

(d) any act aimed at collecting information relating to the defence or security of Grenada;

(e) any act by way of propaganda aimed at affecting the defence or security of Grenada;

(f) the taking on board or off-loading of any person, commodity or currency in breach of any law relating to exchange control, customs, immigration, health or drugs and therapeutic substances;

(g) any act of pollution calculated to or likely to cause damage or harm to Grenada, its resources or its marine environment:

(h) fishing or extracting living or non-living resources;

(i) the carrying out of research of whatever kind or survey activities;

(j) any act aimed at interfering with any system of communication or telecommunication whether such system is on land, on the sea or under it;

(k) being a submarine or other underwater vehicle, navigating otherwise than as provided in sub-section (4); or

(l) such other activity as may be prescribed, being an activity not having a bearing on passage.

(3) For the purposes of this section—

(a) the passage of a foreign ship does not cease to be continuous and expeditious by reason only of the ship stopping or anchoring, if the stopping or anchoring—

(i) is incidental to ordinary navigation;

(ii) is rendered necessary by force majeure or distress; or

(iii) is for the purpose of rendering assistance to persons, ships or aircraft in danger or distress; and
(b) a foreign ship has due authority for engaging in an activity of the kind referred to in subsection (2) if it does so —

(i) with the prior permission of the competent authority obtained by the captain or other person in charge of the ship; or

(ii) under the authority of a law, or of a licence, lease or other authority lawfully given or issued under a law.

(4) A submarine or other underwater vehicle wishing to exercise the right of innocent passage shall navigate on the surface and show its flag.

(5) In exercising the right of innocent passage a foreign ship shall comply with the provisions of the Regulations, and with any enactment, order or direction, which have effect in relation to the territorial sea or archipelagic waters, or both, and to the ship, for or with respect to the safety of navigation, the regulation of marine traffic or the use of sea lanes or traffic separation schemes.

(6) The Minister may, by order, suspend the right of innocent passage for such temporary period, and in such areas of the territorial sea or archipelagic waters, as are specified in the order, where he is satisfied that it is essential to do so for the protection of the security of Grenada or for the conduct of exercises or practices with weaponry.

(7) An order made under subsection (6) does not take effect until it has been published in the Gazette.
18.—(1) Every foreign ship or aircraft may, subject to and in accordance with this section and international law, exercise in relation to a relevant strait the right of transit passage, that is to say, a right of freedom of navigation or overflight in the normal mode for the purpose of continuous and expeditious transit of the relevant strait.

(2) For the purposes of subsection (1), a foreign ship or aircraft that engages in a relevant strait in any activity of the kind referred to in paragraphs (a) to (j) of subsection (2) of section 17 or prescribed under paragraph (1) of that subsection, as the case may be, without due authority such as is referred to in section 17, (3) (b), shall be deemed to have engaged in an activity which is not in the exercise of the right of transit passage.

(3) In exercising the right of transit passage of a relevant strait a foreign ship shall comply with—

(a) generally accepted international regulations, procedures and practices for safety at sea, or for the prevention, reduction and control of pollution from ships, which have effect in relation to the strait; and

(b) the provisions of the Regulations, and of any enactment, order or direction, which have effect in relation to the strait and the ship for or with respect to—

(i) the safety of navigation, the regulation of marine traffic or the use of sea lanes or traffic separation schemes;
(ii) fishing vessels, and the prevention of fishing, including the stowage of fishing gear; and

(iii) customs, excise, immigration or health controls in relation to the loading or unloading of any commodity, currency or person.

(4) In exercising the right of transit passage of a relevant strait, a foreign aircraft —

(a) shall observe the Rules of the Air established by the International Civil Aviation Organisation as they apply to civil aircraft, and a state aircraft shall normally comply with such safety measures and shall at all times operate with due regard for safety of navigation;

(b) shall comply with any applicable order made under section 20 with respect to the use of air routes or traffic separation schemes; and

(c) shall at all times monitor the radio frequency assigned by the appropriate internationally designated air traffic control authority or the appropriate international distress radio frequency.

(5) For the purposes of this section, the transit of a foreign ship or aircraft does not cease to be continuous and expeditious by reason only of any activity of the ship or aircraft rendered necessary by force majeure or distress.”
(6) In this section, "relevant strait" means a strait between Grenada and a foreign state which is being used for international navigation between —

(a) one part of the high sea or the zone; and

(b) another part of the high seas or the zone.

19.—(1) Every foreign ship or aircraft may, subject to and in accordance with this section and international law, exercise the right of archipelagic sea lanes passage, that is to say, a right of navigation or overflight in the normal mode through or over archipelagic waters for the purpose of continuous, expeditious and unobstructed transit between —

(a) one part of the high seas or the zone; and

(b) another part of the high seas or the zone.

(2) Subject to subsection (5), the right of archipelagic sea lanes passage may be exercised only through sea lanes or air routes designated pursuant to section 20.

(3) In exercising the right of archipelagic sea lanes passage a foreign ship shall comply with —

(a) generally accepted international regulations, procedures and practices for safety at sea, or for the prevention, reduction and control of pollution from ships, which have effect in relation to archipelagic waters; and

(b) the provisions of the Regulations, and with any enactment, order or direction, which have effect in relation to archipelagic waters and the ship for or with respect to the safety of navigation or the regulation of marine traffic.

(4) In exercising the right of archipelagic sea lane passage a foreign aircraft shall observe the requirements of section 18 (4) (a) and (c).

(5) To the extent that the Minister does not, pursuant to section 20, designate sea lanes or air routes through or over archipelagic waters, the right of archipelagic sea lanes passage may be exercised through or over the routes normally used for international navigation or overflight, as the case may be.

(6) Navigation by a foreign ship or aircraft through or over archipelagic waters does not cease to be continuous and expeditious by reason only of any activity of the ship or aircraft rendered necessary by force majeure or distress.

20.— (1) The Minister may, by order, designate sea lanes, air routes or traffic separation schemes for use by foreign ships or aircraft when exercising any of their rights of passage under this Part.

(2) In exercising any power under subsection (1) the Minister shall have due regard to the requirements of international law, with respect to the exercise of the power.

PART V
Arrest, Jurisdiction and Offences

21. Subject to this section, where an offence is committed on board a foreign ship (being a merchantship or a government ship operated for commercial purposes) during its passage through the territorial sea, a through the territorial sea after leaving internal waters.

(3) Subject to this section, where a foreign ship, proceeding from a port outside Grenada, is passing through the territorial sea without having entered internal waters, a prescribed power may be exercised in relation to any offence committed before the ship entered the territorial sea, on board the ship during that passage, only if — standards for the prevention, reduction and control of pollution from ships; or

(ii) any provision of the Regulations or any enactment, conforming to and giving effect to any such rules and standards; and

(3) there —

(ii) is clear objective evidence that that violation has resulted in a discharge causing major damage or the threat of major damage to the coastline of Grenada or to any resources of its territorial sea or exclusive economic zone.

(4) Nothing in this section shall affect the exercise of any power under section 23.

(5) The decision to exercise, and the exercise of, a prescribed power in circumstances of the kind referred to in section (1) or (3) shall be made or, as the case may be, carried out, with due regard to the interests of navigation.

(6) The prescribed power referred to in subsection (8) (a) shall not be exercised in relation to a ship unless the ship has refused, when lawfully required to do so, to give information regarding its identity and port of registry, its last and next port of call and other relevant information required to establish whether a violation of the kind referred to in subsection (3) (a) has occurred.

(7) The prescribed power referred to in subsection (8) (b) shall not be exercised in relation to a ship whenever appropriate procedures, which bind Grenada have been established, either through the competent international organisation or as otherwise agreed, whereby compliance with requirements for landing or other appropriate financial security has been assured in relation to the ship.

(8) For the purposes of this section, "prescribed power" means the power lawfully to arrest any person or to conduct an investigation into any alleged offence, and

(a) on conviction on indictment, to a fine not exceeding $100,000 or imprisonment for a term not exceeding 5 years or both; or

(b) on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding $30,000 or imprisonment for a term not exceeding 2 years or both.

and in addition the court may order the forfeiture of any vessels engaged, or equipment used, in any activity which is the subject of the offence.

(3) On a prosecution for an offence under subsection (2) it is sufficient defence if the defendant proves that the foreign ship had, under section 17 (3) (b), due authority for engaging in the activity concerned.

(4) In the exercise under this section of the power of enforcement against a foreign ship a member of the Police Force or a person authorised by the Minister shall not endanger the safety of navigation of, or otherwise create any hazard to, the ship, or bring the ship to an unsafe port or anchorage, or expose the marine environment to any unreasonable risks.

(5) Any person who in any way obstructs or hinders a Police Officer or an authorised person acting in exercise of any power conferred by subsection (1) is guilty of an offence under this Act and liable on conviction to the penalty referred to in subsection (2) (a) or (b).

Immunity. 24.—(1) Where the passage of a foreign ship is deemed under section 17 (2) to be prejudicial to the peace, good order or security of Grenada and the ship or any person on board thereof who participates in the activity which is deemed to be prejudicial is entitled to state or other immunity recognised by law, the flag state of the ship and the state of nationality of the person shall be deemed to bear international responsibility for the activity of the ship.

(2) Where the flag state of a ship or the state of nationality of a person is deemed to bear international responsibility under this section, the Minister shall take all steps possible to obtain redress under international law.

25. (1) Subject to this Act, no person shall on the continental shelf or within the zone, except under or in accordance with an agreement with the Government of Grenada, a permit granted under this Act by the Minister, any licence, permit or other authority granted or issued under any other law — and in addition, the court may order the forfeiture of any vessel, structure, equipment, device or thing in connection with which the offence was committed.

Jurisdiction. 26. (1) For the purposes of the exercise of the jurisdiction of the courts of Grenada, the territory of Grenada shall include the internal waters, the territorial sea and the archipelagic waters.

(2) The jurisdiction and powers of the courts of Grenada extend to the continental shelf and the zone for the purposes of giving effect to this Act and any other enactment extended to the continental shelf or the zone under section 31, as if the continental shelf or the zone were a part of the territory of Grenada.

(3) Where any offence punishable on summary conviction is committed or suspected to have been committed within or in relation to internal waters, the territorial sea, archipelagic waters, the continental shelf or the zone, the offence may be dealt with and determined by a magistrate assigned to any magisterial district, and the magistrate shall have and may exercise all the powers, privileges, rights and jurisdiction conferred on him by the Magistrates Ordinance.

(4) The quasi-criminal and civil jurisdiction conferred on a magistrate by the Magistrates Ordinance shall in relation to the internal waters, the territorial sea, archipelagic waters, the continental shelf or the zone be exercised by a magistrate assigned to any magisterial District.
(5) The jurisdiction conferred on any court under this section shall be without prejudice to any jurisdiction conferred on or exercisable by the court apart from this Act.

27. (1) In any proceeding in a court in relation to internal waters, the territorial sea, archipelagic waters, the continental shelf or the zone, the averment that an offence was committed or that an act was done within the limits of that sea, those waters, the continental shelf or, as the case may be, the zone, shall until the contrary is proved, be deemed to be prima facie evidence that the locus in quo was as so averred.

(2) For the purposes of any law conferring jurisdiction on a court in Grenada, an incident which occurs within the limits of the continental shelf or the zone shall be deemed to have occurred in Grenada if—

(a) the incident occurs in, on, under, above or in relation to any structure or within 500 metres of the structure; and

(b) the incident, if it had occurred in Grenada, would be an offence or give rise to quasi-criminal proceedings or a civil cause of action.
