Chapter 4
Conclusion

CAMP FOR INTERNALLY DISPLACED PERSONS IN BANGASSOU
Central African Republic
This report offers an overview of today’s global challenges and the opportunities for progress that are made possible through multilateral dialogue and a rule-based international order.

As we look to the seventy-fifth anniversary of the United Nations, in 2020, we must continue to innovate as ongoing events and problems shift beneath our feet.

The interwoven and all-encompassing Sustainable Development Goals, diligently crafted by Member States and multiple stakeholders and spelled out in the 2030 Agenda, are well under way.

Peace, inclusive and sustainable development and human rights are intrinsically intertwined, and prevention permeates every path to success.

The United Nations continues to offer a platform where Member States, regional organizations and civil society can find solutions to global problems that no nation acting alone can resolve. Working together multilaterally is not optional; it is the only answer.
Children participating in a ceremony to commemorate the International Day of United Nations Peacekeepers, Geneva, Switzerland.