

PERMANENT MISSION OF MEXICO
TO THE UNITED NATIONS

The United Nations Indigenous Peoples' Partnership (UNIPP)

Promoting a 'One-UN' Approach to Indigenous Peoples' Rights at the Country Level: the Second Phase of the United Nations Indigenous Peoples' Partnership (UNIPP)

Wednesday,
5 February 2018
10.00am – 12.00pm

S-2727 (27th Floor)
UN Headquarters

Followed by a Luncheon Reception

Speakers will include:

- Representatives of Permanent Missions to the UN
- Ms. Mariam Wallet Aboubakrine, Chairperson of the UN Permanent Forum on Indigenous Issues
- Grand Chief Dr. Wilton Littlechild, Former Member of the Expert Mechanism on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples
- Ms. Hindou Oumarou Ibrahim, UNIPP Policy Board Member
- Prof. Angela Riley, UNIPP Co-Chair, Professor of Law and Director of the Native Nations Law and Policy Center at UCLA

How can a 'One-UN' approach to indigenous peoples' rights be further promoted? What role can the UN Indigenous Peoples' Partnership (UNIPP) play in this respect? The round table – co-organized by the Permanent Mission of Mexico to the UN – will convene representatives of governments, indigenous peoples and the UN system to discuss challenges, opportunities and steps for the way forward.

Please RSVP to unipp.secretariat@undp.org to register by 18 January

UNIPP is a collaborative effort that brings together UN entities, governments, indigenous peoples' organizations and the broader civil society for the realization of indigenous peoples' rights as recognized by the UN Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples (UNDRIP) and ILO's Indigenous and Tribal Peoples' Convention. UNIPP pursues its objective through inter-disciplinary, multi-agency joint programming and a focus on enhancing capacities, facilitating dialogue and building partnerships.
