2. The Permanent Forum on Indigenous Issues has identified the proposals, objectives, recommendations and areas of possible future action set out below and, through the Economic and Social Council, recommends that States, entities of the United Nations system, intergovernmental organizations, indigenous peoples, the private sector and non-governmental organizations assist in their realization.

3. It is the understanding of the secretariat of the Permanent Forum that those proposals, objectives, recommendations and areas of possible future action to be carried out by the United Nations, as set out below, will be implemented to the extent possible within the context of the approved programme of work of the relevant entities.

B. Matters brought to the attention of the Council

Recommendations of the Permanent Forum

Discussion on the theme “Tenth anniversary of the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples: measures taken to implement the Declaration”

4. The United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples is the most comprehensive international instrument on the rights of indigenous peoples. It establishes a universal framework of minimum standards for the survival, dignity and well-being of indigenous peoples, elaborates on existing human rights instruments and clarifies how they apply to the specific situations of indigenous peoples.

5. Collective rights to lands, territories and resources and the right to self-determination, as recognized in articles 3 and 26, are among the most important provisions of the Declaration and the most challenging to implement. Legal recognition of indigenous peoples' rights to land, territories and resources must be complemented by effective implementation through enabling legislation, executive action and judicial protection. It is also critical that legislation enacted to establish recognition of indigenous peoples' rights not be undermined or contravened by other laws and regulations.

6. The implementation of the Declaration has achieved some major successes. Constitutional and legislative frameworks that recognize indigenous peoples, including targeted policies and programmes, have been developed in some countries, and there is a growing body of national and regional jurisprudence recognizing the legal rights of indigenous peoples.

7. United Nations agencies, funds and programmes, including the International Fund for Agricultural Development, the International Labour Organization, the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, the United Nations Development Programme, the United Nations Environment Programme, the United Nations Entity for Gender Equality and the Empowerment of Women and the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights, have also taken action to advance the implementation of the Declaration through their own frameworks, country dialogues and the system-wide action plan for ensuring a coherent approach to achieving the ends of the Declaration.

8. At the high-level plenary meeting of the General Assembly known as the World Conference on Indigenous Peoples, held in 2014, States committed themselves to taking concrete action to achieve the ends of the Declaration. The process for the World Conference constituted in itself a good practice of partnership between indigenous peoples and Member States working together to identify gains and priorities for future action. The efforts of the General Assembly to enable the enhanced participation of indigenous peoples at the United Nations represents a continuation of that good practice. Of particular importance, as reflected in the outcome document, are the commitments made by States, in cooperation with indigenous peoples, to implement national action plans, strategies and other measures and to take legislative, policy and/or administrative measures to achieve the ends of the Declaration.

9. 7. Notwithstanding the progress made in implementing the Declaration over the past decade, the Permanent Forum is concerned about a gap between the formal recognition of indigenous peoples' rights and their implementation --in practice. Indigenous peoples continue to face exclusion, marginalization and major challenges in enjoying their basic rights. Ten years after the adoption of the Declaration, the usurpation of indigenous peoples' lands and resources continues at an alarming rate, and threats and violence against indigenous peoples who defend their territories, rights and livelihoods have increased dramatically. The Permanent Forum is also concerned about the continued refusal of some States to recognize the existence of indigenous peoples, and that free, prior and informed consent is rarely, if ever, obtained from communities for projects and legislation that affect them.

10. The Permanent Forum welcomes the organization of the high-level event of the General Assembly to mark the tenth anniversary of the adoption of the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples, held on 25 April 2017 at United Nations Headquarters in New York, with the participation of the mechanisms specific to indigenous peoples, namely the Permanent Forum on Indigenous Issues, the Special Rapporteur on the rights of indigenous peoples and the Expert Mechanism on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples, and of representatives of the seven sociocultural regions.

11. The Permanent Forum urges Member States, in their regular reporting to the United Nations human rights treaty bodies and, in particular, to the Human Rights Council through the Universal Periodic Review, to include the actions taken to implement the recommendations made by the Special Rapporteur on the rights of indigenous peoples, the Expert Mechanism on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples and the Permanent Forum on Indigenous Issues.

12. The Permanent Forum urges all States to substantially increase the human, financial and technical resources made available to implement the Declaration, in accordance with article 39 thereof, and to overcome the remaining gaps between the formal recognition of indigenous peoples and the implementation of their rights.

13. The Permanent Forum encourages the International Labour Organization to promote the ratification of the Indigenous and Tribal Peoples Convention, 1989 (No. 169).

14. The Permanent Forum encourages Member States with bilateral development agencies to enact, in accordance with the Declaration, policies that ensure the inclusion of indigenous peoples as partners in the development process with a meaningful role in the design, implementation, monitoring and evaluation of all projects that affect their territories, rights and livelihoods.

15. The Permanent Forum urges United Nations agencies, funds and programmes to cooperate with States and indigenous peoples in the development and implementation of national action plans, strategies and other measures that aim to achieve the ends of the Declaration, including providing support for the advancement and adjudication of the collective rights of indigenous peoples to their lands, territories and resources.

16. The Permanent Forum encourages resident coordinators and United Nations country teams to ensure the full and effective participation of indigenous peoples, including indigenous women and youth, in the preparation of the United Nations Development Assistance Frameworks and country programme action plans.

17. The Permanent Forum recommends to the International Labour Organization and its Governing Body the organization of a technical expert meeting to consider the drafting of a Recommendation to supplement the Indigenous and Tribal Peoples Convention.

Implementation of the six mandated areas of the Permanent Forum with reference to the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples

18. Fulfilling the objectives of the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples requires continuous follow-up, monitoring and observation of the six mandated areas. The sixteenth session attracted speakers from among governments, national human rights institutions, intergovernmental organizations and indigenous peoples. From the interventions presented, the Permanent Forum is concerned that not enough is being done to improve indigenous peoples' rights in the areas of health, education, human rights, economic and social development, environment and culture.

Human rights

19. The Permanent Forum welcomes the adoption of the American Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples by the Organization of American States on 15 June 2016. The Forum calls upon States to implement the American Declaration to advance the rights of indigenous peoples in accordance with the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples, the Indigenous and Tribal Peoples Convention, 1989 (No. 169) of the International Labour Organization and other human rights instruments.

20. The Permanent Forum appreciates the participation and active input of national and regional human rights institutions at its sixteenth session, encourages studies and reports by the national human rights institutions in the promotion and protection of indigenous rights and invites them to present their reports and studies in future sessions.

21. Notwithstanding the developments in international human rights standards, indigenous peoples continue to face denial of their most basic human rights, including the right to self-determination. The Permanent Forum notes the affirmation that the rights of indigenous peoples are a matter of international concern and that the United Nations has an important role to play in the promotion and protection of their rights, as stated in articles 19 and 20 of the Declaration. The Permanent Forum remains committed to promoting respect for, and the full application of, the provisions of the Declaration and to following up on its effectiveness.

22. Recalling the recommendations made by the Permanent Forum in 2011 in the report of the study on the Chittagong Hill Tracts Accord of 1997 (E/C.19/2011/6, sect. VIII), and given that the situation of the indigenous peoples of the Chittagong Hill Tracts remains a matter of concern, the Forum encourages the Government of Bangladesh to allocate sufficient human and financial resources and set a time frame for the full implementation of the Accord.

23. The Permanent Forum calls upon the Government of the United States of America to comply with the provisions recognized in the Declaration and to ensure the rights of the Great Sioux Nation to participate in decision-making, as set out in article 19 of the Declaration, given that the construction of the Dakota access pipeline will affect their rights, lives and territory. Furthermore, the Forum recommends that the United States Government initiate an investigation into of alleged human rights abuses by private security and law enforcement officers that occurred during protests to prevent construction of the pipeline.

24. The Permanent Forum takes note of the Deatnu (Tana/Teno) river fishing agreement between the Governments of Finland and Norway that was adopted by their respective Parliaments in March 2017. The Sami Parliaments of Finland and Norway have informed the Forum that the agreement was adopted without the free, prior and informed consent of the Sami. The Forum requests the Governments of Finland and Norway to renegotiate the agreement with the full and effective participation of Sami rights holders.

25. The Permanent Forum urges Colombia to promote and guarantee the rights of indigenous peoples in the development of the regulatory framework of the Colombian peace agreement and that a process of free, prior and informed consent is established for the implementation of the “ethnic chapter” of the agreement with their full and effective participation.

26. The Permanent Forum recommends to United Nations Multidimensional Integrated Stabilization Mission in Mali (MINUSMA), African Union, and European Union to establish special mechanisms for protection of indigenous peoples in areas of conflict and high insecurity in the countries of the Sahel and Sahara region, in particular Tuaregs in Mali and Libya.

27. The Permanent Forum continues to hear numerous accounts from indigenous peoples who are threatened by alien commercial ventures, militarization and administrative decisions that interfere with their governance over their lands, territories and resources and ultimately inhibit their capacity for sustainable development and wellbeing for future generations. The Forum strongly recommends that such disputes be considered in accordance with Article 27 of the UN Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples and paragraph 22 of the Outcome Document of the World Conference on Indigenous Peoples, ensuring a mechanism exists that provides for fair, independent, impartial, open and transparent adjudication. Any mechanism established for adjudication of disputes over indigenous peoples lands, territories and resources should be agreed between States and indigenous peoples.

Economic and social development

28. Recalling article 32 of the Declaration, which recognizes that indigenous peoples have the right to “determine and develop priorities and strategies for the development or use of their lands or territories and other resources”, the Permanent Forum urges the African Development Bank, the European Investment Bank and the Nordic Investment Bank to develop and adopt policies on indigenous peoples based on the Declaration, to ensure that the programs and projects that they support respect, promote and protect the rights of indigenous peoples.

29. The Permanent Forum welcomes the progress made in the development of community-based tools to monitor the implementation of the Declaration, the outcome document of the World Conference on Indigenous Peoples and the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and encourages collaboration and contributions from Governments, United Nations agencies, indigenous peoples and civil society organizations to the Indigenous Navigator framework and other tools in order to strengthen community-based monitoring of global commitments made under the Declaration, the World Conference and the Sustainable Development Goals.

30. The Permanent Forum is concerned at the World Bank's recent grant of a waiver to its indigenous peoples' policy (operational policy 4.10) and requests the World Bank to ensure that waivers will not be used in the future. Furthermore, the Forum requests the Bank to conduct a review on the impact on indigenous peoples of the waiver issued to the Southern Agricultural Growth Corridor of Tanzania project and present its findings to the Forum.

31. The Permanent Forum recommends that the World Bank engage the Special Rapporteur on the rights of indigenous peoples, the Expert Mechanism on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples and the Permanent Forum in the development of guidance for the implementation of the new Environmental and Social Standard 7: Indigenous Peoples.

32. The Permanent Forum takes note of the work of The Indigenous Peoples Development Fund of Latin America and the Caribbean (FILAC) as a regional mechanism to support indigenous peoples. The Permanent Forum encourages Member States to strengthen FILAC's institutional framework and to create similar bodies in other regions of the world.

Environment

33. The Permanent Forum has made a number of recommendations, in particular at its seventh and ninth sessions, on conservation and human rights, which to date remain largely unimplemented. Particular attention has been given by the Forum to the critical issue of free, prior and informed consent of indigenous peoples in establishing and managing any protected area that affects their territories, livelihoods and resources. Those recommendations should be implemented urgently, considering the continued infliction of human rights violations on indigenous peoples in relation to conservation measures.

34. The Permanent Forum urges the Government of Kenya to recognize and formally protect the land and resource rights of the Ogiek and Sengwer peoples in line with the Constitution of Kenya, the Community Land Act of 2016 and other relevant laws before moving ahead with planned conservation efforts in the Cherangany Hills.

35. The Permanent Forum urges the International Union for Conservation of Nature to establish a task force on conservation and human rights to work with indigenous peoples' communities and organizations to clearly articulate the rights of indigenous peoples in the context of conservation initiatives and to continue to promote grievance mechanisms and avenues for redress in the context of conservation action, including the Whakatane Mechanism. The Forum invites the Union to report on progress made in the implementation of these recommendations in future sessions.

36. The Permanent Forum recommends that States develop laws and policies to ensure the recognition, continued vitality and protection from misappropriation of indigenous traditional knowledge.

37. The Permanent Forum calls upon Member States to start the work, in the context of the UN Convention on the Law of the Sea (UNCLOS), of creating a place and a voice for Indigenous peoples in the governance of the world's oceans. This includes the participation of Indigenous peoples in all aspects of the UNCLOS work and decision-making, including the environmental provisions and the delimitation of the continental shelf. It may also include establishing advisory committees of Indigenous peoples to guide the work under UNCLOS, as has been done under the Convention on Biological Diversity.

38. The Permanent Forum calls upon the UN bodies and States to ensure that indigenous peoples have a voice equal to states in the development and negotiations of the international agreement to address marine biodiversity in areas beyond national jurisdiction (the BBNJ agreement). States and the UN should guarantee that BBNJ agreement upholds and respect indigenous peoples' role in governing the oceans and the rights set out in the UN Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous peoples.

Culture

39. The Permanent Forum encourages States to continue cooperating with indigenous peoples to develop fair, transparent and effective mechanisms for the repatriation of ceremonial objects and human remains, at the national and international levels.

Education

40. Recalling article 14, of the Declaration, and the Permanent Forum recommendation at its third session, the Permanent Forum urges indigenous peoples, with the support of Member States, to adopt and fully implement comprehensive national indigenous education policies and bring into practice the education of indigenous languages teachers in accordance with indigenous peoples' initiatives.

41. Recalling paragraph 86 of its report on its eighth session (E/2009/43-E/C.19/2009/14), the Permanent Forum urges public and private education institutions to provide permanent positions to indigenous teachers and to establish scholarships exclusively designated for indigenous students.

Health

42. The Permanent Forum recommends that the Joint United Nations Programme on HIV/AIDS, in collaboration with the United Nations Population Fund and the Inter-Agency Support Group on Indigenous Peoples' Issues, sponsor an expert group meeting on HIV/AIDS by 2019, which would include the full and effective participation of indigenous peoples living with and affected by HIV/AIDS, to analyse the sociocultural and economic determinants of health for HIV/AIDS prevention, care and treatment in indigenous communities, with the Forum's collaboration, in order to ensure the realization of target 3.3 of the Sustainable Development Goals.

43. The Permanent Forum recommends that States collaborate with indigenous peoples to ensure adequate resources to design and fully implement HIV/AIDS and hepatitis B and C programmes that address the social, economic and cultural determinants of health for HIV prevention, care and treatment in indigenous populations in particular indigenous women and youth.

44. The Permanent Forum invites the United Nations Population Fund, in collaboration with the Permanent Forum, to identify good practices of culturally appropriate intervention models from its work in developing countries that support indigenous peoples, in particular women and girls, in exercising their health and reproductive rights and to report to the Forum on those models by 2018.

45. The Permanent Forum recognizes the efforts made by the United Nations Population Fund, the United Nations Children's Fund and the United Nations Entity for Gender Equality and the Empowerment of Women and recommends that they continue efforts to implement the recommendation made by the Forum at its fifteenth session (E/2016/43-E/C.19/2016/11, para. 38) to develop a fact sheet on maternal and child health in indigenous communities and present the fact sheet to the Forum by 2018, to support target 3.7 of the Sustainable Development Goals.

46. Based on the Forum's continued concern for the impacts of environmental toxins and the export and import of banned pesticides on the reproductive health of indigenous women and girls, the Forum reaffirms the recommendation in the report of the 13th session for a legal review of the United Nations chemical conventions, in particular the Rotterdam Convention, to ensure that they are in conformity with international human rights standards, including the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples and the UN Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities. The Forum recommends that the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child, in particular Article 24, and its recognition of environmental health as a right protected under the convention also be considered in this legal review. The Forum invites the UN Special Rapporteur on the implications for human rights of the environmentally sound management and disposal of hazardous substances and wastes, to carry out a review within his mandated area of expertise and to present his conclusions at the Permanent Forum's 17th session.

Follow-up on the recommendations of the Permanent Forum

Empowerment of indigenous women

47. The Permanent Forum will continue to play a key role in the empowerment of indigenous women and to provide a platform in which States, the United Nations system and indigenous women evaluate the progress made and the challenges that remain to overcome the marginalization and exclusion of indigenous women.

48. The Permanent Forum urges States to cooperate with indigenous peoples to prevent and eliminate all forms of violence and discrimination against indigenous women, children, youth, older persons and persons with disabilities and to support measures aimed at ensuring their full and effective participation in decision-making processes at all levels and at eliminating structural and legal barriers to their full, equal and effective participation in political, economic, social and cultural life.

49. The Permanent Forum urges States to expand opportunities to enable indigenous women to participate actively in the political life of the country in which they live. The Forum also urges States to ensure the safety of indigenous women who are defending the rights of their peoples and territories and to prosecute those involved in incidents of violence against them.

50. The Permanent Forum welcomes the consideration of the empowerment of indigenous women as the focus area of the sixty-first session of the Commission on the Status of Women and urges Governments to report on efforts to fully implement Commission resolutions 49/7, entitled “Indigenous women: beyond the ten-year review of the Beijing Declaration and Platform for Action”, and 56/4, entitled “Indigenous women: key actors in poverty and hunger eradication”.

51. The Permanent Forum reiterates the need for the implementation of recommendation 12 of its third session, relating to the situation of indigenous women migrants. The Forum invites the International Labour Organization to coordinate with other appropriate agencies, in cooperation with indigenous women’s organizations, to prepare a report on the situation of indigenous women with regard to informal work, migration and working conditions, for submission at its eighteenth session.

52. The Permanent Forum recommends that the International Labour Organization, in collaboration with the United Nations Population Fund and other relevant United Nations agencies, prepare a study on access to the labour market, labour conditions of indigenous women and youth and the challenges, barriers and stereotypes that may affect their professional development, for submission at the eighteenth session.

53. The Permanent Forum reiterates the need to implement recommendation 30 of its tenth session and invites the secretariat of the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change to prepare a study on the impacts of climate change on indigenous women, for submission at the eighteenth session.

54. The Permanent Forum welcomes efforts made by UN Women, in the preparation of the first global report on indigenous women and girls, to highlight progress in the implementation of the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples and prospects for the implementation of the Sustainable Development Goals as they relate to indigenous women and girls including in matters related to informal work, migration and working conditions. The Permanent Forum recommends that UN Women continue this work in close cooperation with indigenous women’s organizations.

Indigenous youth

55. The Permanent Forum has, in recent years, expressed considerable concern regarding the situation of indigenous youth and the lack of disaggregated data thereon. In 2016, the Forum decided to include a recurring item on indigenous youth in the agenda of its annual sessions and has issued several youth-specific recommendations. The Forum welcomes the progress made and encourages further action by indigenous organizations and youth, as well as by members of the United Nations Inter-Agency Network on Youth Development and the Inter-Agency Support Group on Indigenous Peoples' Issues, in implementing those recommendations.

56. The Permanent Forum recommends that indigenous peoples' organizations, as well as the United Nations entities in the Inter-Agency Network on Youth Development and the Inter-Agency Support Group on Indigenous Peoples' Issues, consult indigenous youth-led organizations to include issues pertaining to indigenous youth in their work at the local, national, regional and global levels.

57. The Permanent Forum calls upon the Economic and Social Council, including its youth forum, the high-level political forum on sustainable development, the Commission on the Status of Women and the Commission for Social Development, as well as other relevant United Nations forums, to include representatives of indigenous youth-led organizations in their meetings.

58. The Permanent Forum recommends that States provide financial support to the United Nations Voluntary Fund for Indigenous Peoples to facilitate the participation of indigenous youth in key –United Nations meetings and processes most relevant to indigenous issues.

59. The Permanent Forum takes note of the organization of preparatory meetings for indigenous youth for its sixteenth session, including the Global Indigenous Youth Caucus meeting hosted by the Food and Agricultural Organization of the United Nations. The Forum recommends that this practice be scaled up in 2018, with representative participation of indigenous youth through indigenous peoples' organizations from all regions, and invites the Food and Agricultural Organization to report back on progress at its seventeenth session, in 2018.

60. The Permanent Forum on Indigenous Issues takes note of the PAHO/WHO initiative to develop a new health plan for indigenous youth in Latin America, and invites PAHO/WHO to report on progress made in implementing this plan at its 17th session.

Dialogues with indigenous peoples, Member States and the funds, programmes and specialized agencies of the United Nations system

61. The Permanent Forum conducted three focused, interactive dialogue sessions with indigenous peoples, Member States and the funds, programmes and specialized agencies of the United Nations system. The Forum welcomes these dialogues as an opportunity to better understand the concerns of, indigenous peoples, Member States and the funds, programmes and specialized agencies of the United Nations, to focus on specific issues and identify ways to increase the effectiveness of the work of the Permanent Forum.

Dialogue with Indigenous Peoples

62. The dialogue with indigenous peoples included discussions on a number of topics, including the assessment of the implementation of the UN Declaration on its tenth anniversary; the follow-up to the World Conference on Indigenous Peoples, in particular the development and implementation of national action plans and establishing guidelines for Free, Prior and Informed Consent, and; the need for effective engagement of indigenous peoples in the 2030 Agenda.

Dialogue with Member States

63. The expert members of the Permanent Forum on Indigenous Issues continued the practice to have an interactive dialogue with Member States in a closed meeting.

64. There were nine items listed for discussion, grouped under two headings. The first heading was Follow Up To the Outcome Document from the World Conference on Indigenous Peoples, and this listed in order five items being a) Forms of Cooperation and Partnership at State Level, b) Status of Indigenous Peoples, c) National Action Plans, d) Mechanisms addressing lands, territories and resources, and e) Indigenous Peoples Development and Self Determination.

65. The items here were linked to specific actions identified in the World Conference on Indigenous Peoples Outcome Document and allowed the expert members to gauge to what stage actions had been fulfilled as well as to encouraging sharing of experiences and ideas. A number of Member States spoke of their arrangements and achievements and the time available was used fully and constructively by Member States and allowed also for expert members to ask questions and consider the responses. The expert members consider that these and other items should be discussed at the next session and we encourage Member States to prepare for the dialogue.

66. The second heading for the dialogue was Indigenous Peoples' Issues at the United Nations. The items under discussion were a) Free, Prior and Informed Consent, b) The Role of the Permanent Forum on Indigenous Issues, c) Remedy and Reconciliation, and d) Indigenous Peoples in the UN System. The time available lead to pertinent feedback to assist the expert members with matters regarding organization and procedures of the Permanent Forum and the important topic of accreditation of indigenous peoples to the United Nations being considered.

Dialogue with the funds, programmes and specialized agencies of the United Nations system

67. The Permanent Forum welcomes the constructive dialogue with the United Nations funds, programmes and specialized agencies, in addition to the information provided about the initial results obtained in terms of the implementation of the system-wide action plan on the rights of indigenous peoples since its launch at the fifteenth session of the Forum, in 2016. In particular, the Forum welcomes the development of joint programming and activities by United Nations entities and activities conducted at the country level under the six action areas of the action plan.

68. The Permanent Forum urges funds, programmes and specialized agencies to have a special focus on the implementation of the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples and the system-wide action plan in a few designated countries in 2017 and 2018 and led by the UN resident coordinators. In selecting these countries for joint action, special attention should be given to countries that already are under focus, such as those that are presenting national voluntary review for the high-level political forum on sustainable development, those that are under review by the Working Group on the Universal Periodic Review, those that are in the preparatory phases for a new United Nations Development Assistance Framework or those in which a dialogue process between the State and the indigenous peoples is taking place.

69. The Permanent Forum recalls recommendation 7 of its tenth session, regarding the establishment of the Indigenous Peoples' Forum at the International Fund for Agricultural Development, as an example of good practice that should be followed by other United Nations entities. The Forum urges other United Nations entities to report on their progress in this regard at the seventeenth session of the Forum.

70. In accordance with the outcome document of the high-level plenary meeting of the General Assembly known as the World Conference on Indigenous Peoples and the system-wide action plan, all funds, programmes and specialized agencies are urged to adopt policies to inform their work with indigenous peoples that include indigenous peoples' right to self-determination and free, prior and informed consent. Progress will be discussed at future sessions of the Permanent Forum.

71. The Permanent Forum requests the Inter-Agency Support Group on Indigenous Peoples' Issues, and specifically those agencies working on land tenure and changes in land use, to step up cooperation in order to operationalize indicators on land tenure and changes in land use pertaining to the traditional territories (lands and waters) of indigenous peoples, as a global multipurpose indicator in order to report on status and trends, in line with the Convention on Biological Diversity, the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples. All relevant funds, programmes and specialized agencies should update the Forum every year on the results of this work.

72. The Permanent Forum welcomes the first indigenous media zone, established at the sixteenth session of the Forum, and encourages the continuation of this initiative at future sessions, in cooperation with indigenous community media, and, where possible, encourages UN entities to continue collaboration with indigenous community media at the regional and national levels.

Dialogue with the Special Rapporteur on the rights of indigenous peoples with regard to indigenous human rights defenders

73. Many indigenous peoples described situations where their human rights are being impacted by a large-scale infrastructure projects, natural resource extraction and industrial agriculture activities in their territories without their free, prior and informed consent. The Permanent Forum received information to this effect from the Shuar, Sapara, Maasai and Ogaden peoples, among others. The Permanent Forum is particularly concerned by cases where it appears that the interests of investors are better protected than the rights of indigenous peoples. The Permanent Forum reiterates that States and the private sector must respect the human rights of indigenous peoples by ensuring the effective implementation of the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples and the Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights.

74. Many States have established mechanisms to protect human rights. However, The Permanent Forum is concerned that these mechanisms may prioritise individual rights over collective rights. The Permanent Forum calls upon States in cooperation with National Human Rights Institutions to comply with their commitments made in the Outcome Document of the 2014 World Conference on Indigenous Peoples, with the aim of achieving the full enforcement of the collective rights of indigenous peoples.

75. The Permanent Forum is particularly concerned about information received on the situation of indigenous human rights defenders. Globally, there is an alarming rise in the killings of human rights defenders. In 2016, 281 were reported killed, compared to 185 in 2015 and 130 in 2014.<sup>2</sup> Most of the cases were related to land, indigenous and environmental rights, and a majority occurred in only six countries of Latin America and Asia. It is estimated that 40-50 percent of those killed are indigenous persons. Many other indigenous human rights defenders are subjected to violent attacks and threats, enforced disappearances, illegal surveillance, travel bans, blackmail, sexual harassment and other forms of violence and discrimination. It is also of concern to the Forum that human rights defenders are frequently subjected to false claims of criminal activities or terrorism.

76. The Permanent Forum recalls the recommendation 41 of the Permanent Forums 12th session, and reaffirms that States should establish a monitoring mechanism to address violence against indigenous peoples including assassinations, assassination attempts, rapes, and other intimidation and persecution against indigenous human rights defenders. that such monitoring mechanisms address the issue of missing and murdered indigenous Women, and to take measures to ensure the full protection of Indigenous Women against all forms of violence.

77. The Permanent Forum recommends that national and transnational corporations adhere to the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights to ensure protection of the rights of indigenous human rights defenders.

78. The Permanent Forum recommends that donors, including the European Union; European Commission; United States of America, Department of State, human rights support organizations and others; provide long-term, funding, legal aid and other resources to assist indigenous human rights defenders, their families, networks and communities.

79. The Permanent Forum welcomes the decision of the Special Rapporteur on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples to prepare a study on intimidation, criminalization and violence of any form directed against indigenous peoples, communities or individuals, particularly those who defend their rights under the UN Declaration. The Forum invites the Special Rapporteur to share her preliminary findings and recommendations at its seventeenth session.

80. The Permanent Forum urges States, in cooperation with indigenous peoples, to develop and implement specific laws and mechanisms to protect indigenous human rights defenders, to ensure that attacks against them are investigated, and those responsible are held accountable.

81. National human rights institutions are encouraged to work with indigenous peoples to develop strategies to support and protect indigenous human rights defenders.

Follow-up to the outcome document of the World Conference on Indigenous Peoples

82. Follow up to the Outcome Document of the World Conference on Indigenous Peoples on three areas of focus.

- a) Implementation of national action plans, strategies or other measures;
- b) Ways to enhance the participation of indigenous peoples at the United Nations;
- c) Implementation of the United Nations system-wide action plan on Indigenous Peoples.

83. The Permanent Forum calls upon States who have not already done so to engage in constructive partnerships with indigenous peoples to achieve the ends of the UN Declaration, adopting specific action plans, strategies or other measures that will deliver required financial and technical assistance to the indigenous peoples to achieve and exercise self-determination.

84. The Permanent Forum has considered options for Indigenous peoples' representation at all levels of the United Nations, taking particular note of the requests by indigenous peoples representative institutions, including traditional councils and authorities, to be accredited in the United Nations system.

85. The Permanent Forum strongly supports provision of indigenous peoples' representative institutions with observer status at General Assembly meetings.

86. The Permanent Forum notes the challenges of accreditation of indigenous peoples' representative institutions. The Forum recommends that criteria be developed by indigenous peoples and assessment be undertaken by a committee comprising representation from States and indigenous peoples.

87. Subsequent appeals by States might be allowed but limited situations where predetermined grounds for appeal are to be met.

88. The Permanent Forum also recommends that the Economic and Social Council and the Human Rights Council note the proposal to accredit Indigenous Peoples representative institutions as observers to the General Assembly and to consider accreditation for indigenous peoples' representative institutions to participate in their meetings, and meetings of their subsidiary bodies, on issues affecting them.

2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development

89. The Permanent Forum as an expert body of the Economic and Social Council regards the 2030 Agenda as a priority area and commits to providing advice and assistance to ECOSOC and the UN System on the implementation of the 2030 Agenda, including through active contributions and participation at the high-level political forum on sustainable development.

90. The Permanent Forum recommends the Inter Agency Expert Group on the SDGs (IAEG-SDGs) to support the inclusion and methodological development of core indicators for indigenous peoples in the global indicator framework<sup>3</sup>, in particular the inclusion of the indicator on the legal recognition of the land rights of indigenous peoples for the targets under Goal 1 and 2.

91. The Permanent Forum recognizes the importance of data-disaggregation as noted in target 17.18 of the 2030 Agenda and in this regard, c.19 is aware of the good practices promoted by the Economic and Social Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean (ECLAC). The Permanent Forum recommends ECLAC in cooperation with UNFPA and others to redouble efforts to ensure data disaggregation for indigenous peoples and promote the inclusion of complementary indicators on indigenous peoples' rights in governments' national reports for the SDGs and the Montevideo Consensus of the Regional Conference on Population and Development in Latin America and the Caribbean. The Permanent Forum further recommends ECLAC to provide a guidance note and to organize a mutual learning event, jointly with other regional commissions, in order to share best practices of data disaggregation based on indigenous identifiers and self-identification as used in the 2010 round of census in several countries in Latin America.

92. The Permanent Forum emphasizes that the recognition, protection and promotion of indigenous peoples' rights to lands, territories and resources will have significant contributions to achieving not only Goal 1 and 2, but all SDGs. In this regards, the Permanent Forum urges governments to take all necessary measures to protect indigenous peoples' rights to their territories and resources-in the framework of the 2030 Agenda.

93. The Permanent Forum further calls upon governments to establish permanent, open and inclusive mechanisms for consultation, participation and representation of indigenous peoples in local, regional, national and international processes and bodies relating to the SDGs. It further calls upon governments to allocate adequate resources towards implementation of plans that include indigenous peoples, as well as to ensure data-disaggregation based on indigenous identifiers.

94. The Permanent Forum recommends that relevant countries among the 44 countries undergoing voluntary national reviews at the high level political forum in 2017<sup>4</sup> include indigenous peoples in their reviews, reports and
