EXPERT PANEL ON POPULATION AND SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT, IN PARTICULAR SUSTAINED AND INCLUSIVE ECONOMIC GROWTH

Biographies of experts

Agnieszka Chlon-Dominczak is Vice-Rector for Science and Director of the Institute of Statistics and Demography at SGH Warsaw School of Economics. She is member of the Committee on Demographic Studies of the Polish Academy of Sciences, and leader of the Polish research group at SHARE 50+ (Survey of Health, Ageing and Retirement in Europe). Her research interests include demography, pension systems, the labour market, social policy, health and education.

She has previously served in various capacities, including leadership positions, in the Polish Ministry of Labour and Social Policy, the Educational Research Institute (IBE), the Supervisory Board of the Polish Social Insurance Institution (ZUS), the Polish Financial Supervision Authority, the Social Protection Committee (SPC) of the Council of the EU.

Lucie Cluver is Professor at Oxford University and at the University of Cape Town. She is the Principal Investigator for UKRI GCRF Accelerating Achievement for Africa’s Adolescents Hub.

She works with other researchers to provide evidence that can improve the lives of children and adolescents in Sub-Saharan Africa across the SDGs, in collaboration with non-governmental organizations, the South African government, UNICEF, World Food Programme, UNAIDS, USAID-PEPFAR and CDC, UNDP, IAS, the World Health Organisation and Global Fund and the Global Partnership to End Violence Against Children.
Mercedes D’Alessandro is an economist, researcher and President of Economía Feminista USA. She previously taught the National University of General Sarmiento Buenos Aires) where she also served as Director of the Political Economy program. She served as National Director of Economy, Equality and Gender in the Ministry of Economy of Argentina. She is author of a book, Feminist economics: Feminist Economics: How to Build an Egalitarian Society (Without Losing Glamour), now in its fifth edition. She has received recognition as one of the most relevant intellectuals in Iberoamérica by Avina Foundation, one of the most inspiring Argentine women by L’Oréal Paris, one of the emerging leaders of the future by Time Magazine and a Social Entrepreneur by Ashoka Argentina.

Roman Hoffmann is a research scholar at the International Institute for Applied Systems Analysis with affiliations at the Vienna Institute of Demography of the Austrian Academy of Sciences and the Potsdam Institute for Climate Impact Research. His research focuses on the relationship between the environment and population, including impacts of climate change on human mobility, climate vulnerability and resilience, and adaptation. His research interests include climate change mitigation and pro-environmental behaviour and support for climate action. He has previously worked on projects in collaboration with UNFPA, UNIDO, IOM, the World Bank, the Asian Development Bank, the German Development Cooperation (GIZ), and several non-governmental organizations.

Mansour Ndiaye is Director of Inclusive Growth at the United Nations Development Fund. His responsibilities focus on integrated approaches to promote prosperity for all by addressing inequality of opportunities and expanding human capabilities. He previously held various positions in UNDP as an Economic Advisor in Niger and Team Leader of Inclusive Growth and Sustainable Development for the Africa region. Prior to joining UNDP, he served as an economist at the International Monetary Fund and has held several management positions with the Central Bank of West African States.