

Overview of major population trends and some linkages to post-2015 development

John Wilmoth, DESA, Population Division

Briefing for the Bureau Members of the CPD
Expert panel on “Integrating population issues into sustainable development”
New York, 22 January 2015

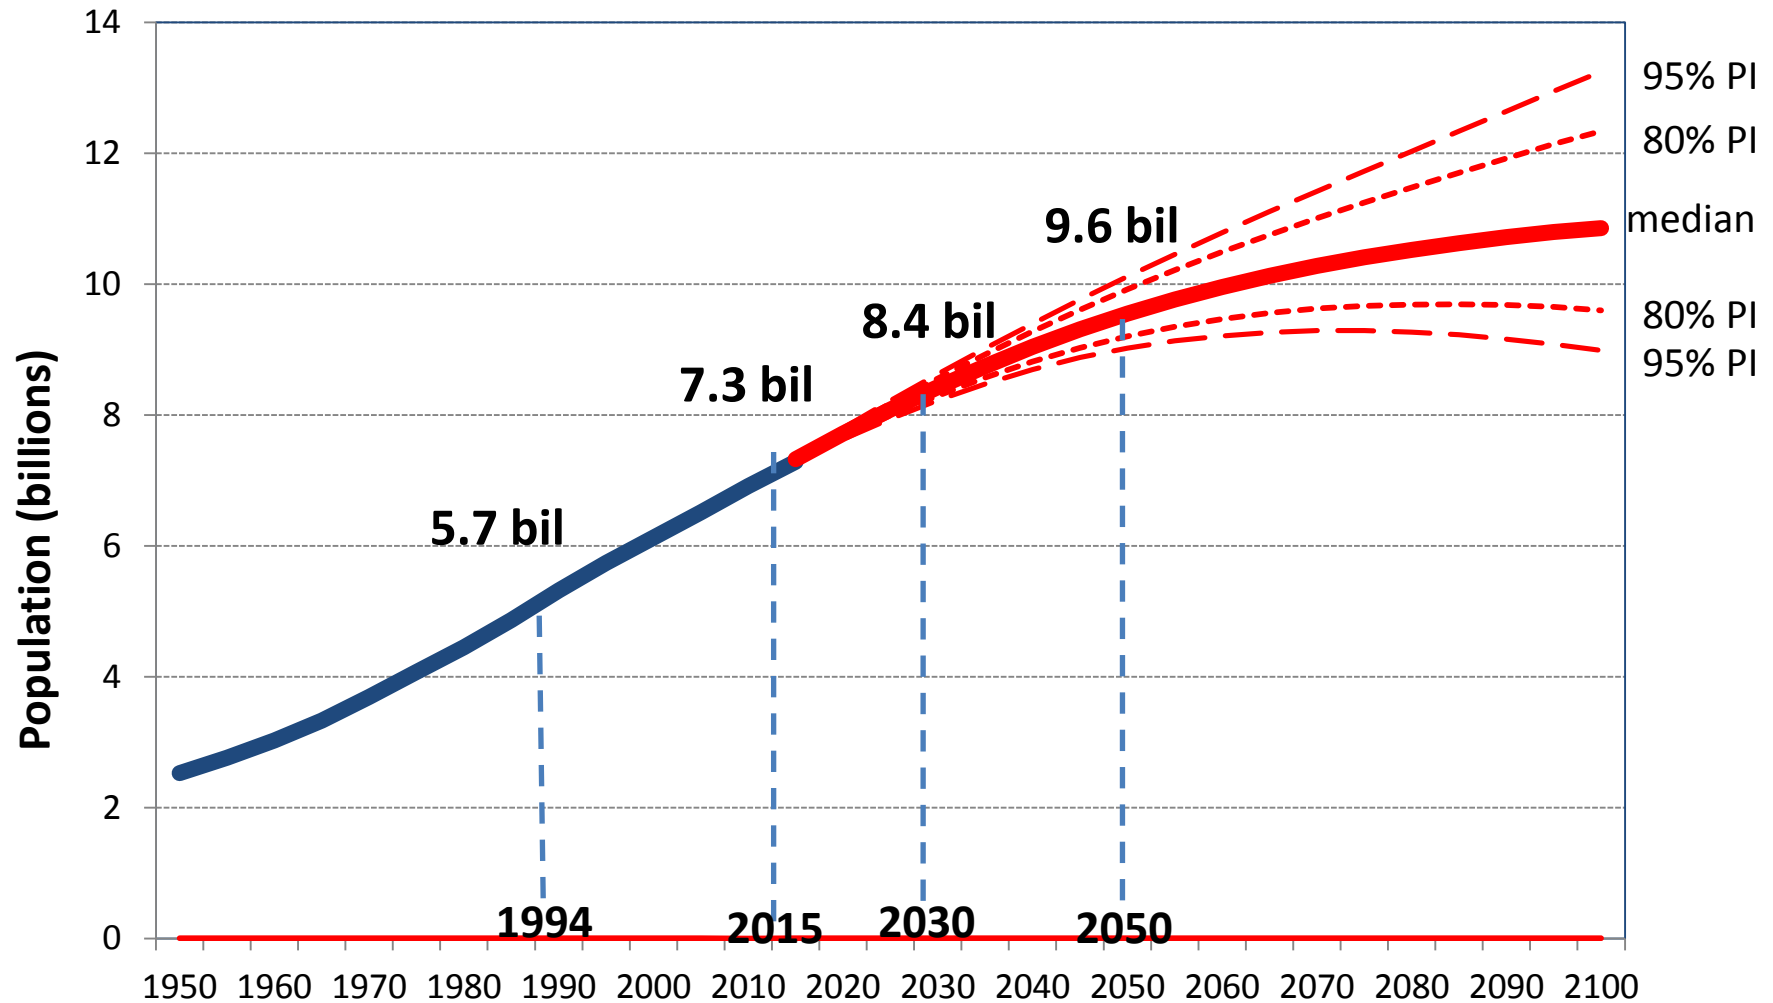

Population Division

United Nations, Department of Economic and Social Affairs

World population, 1950-2100

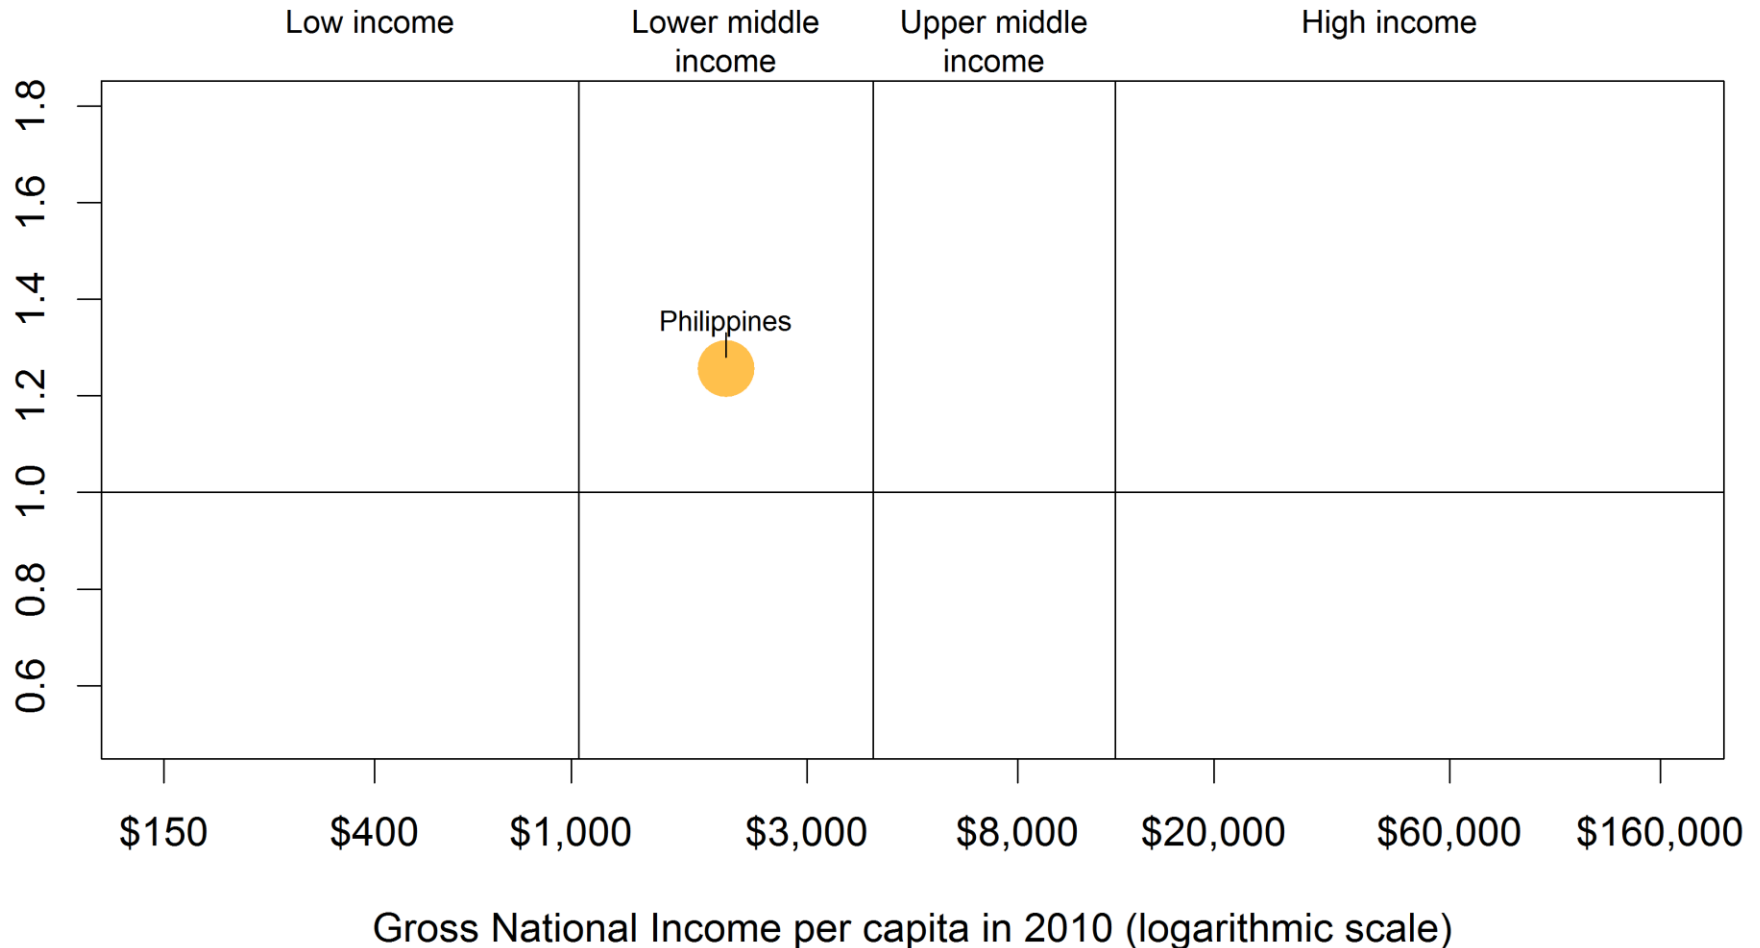

Population Division

United Nations, Department of Economic and Social Affairs

Population growth and national income

Ratio of total population in 2030 compared to 2015

Population Division

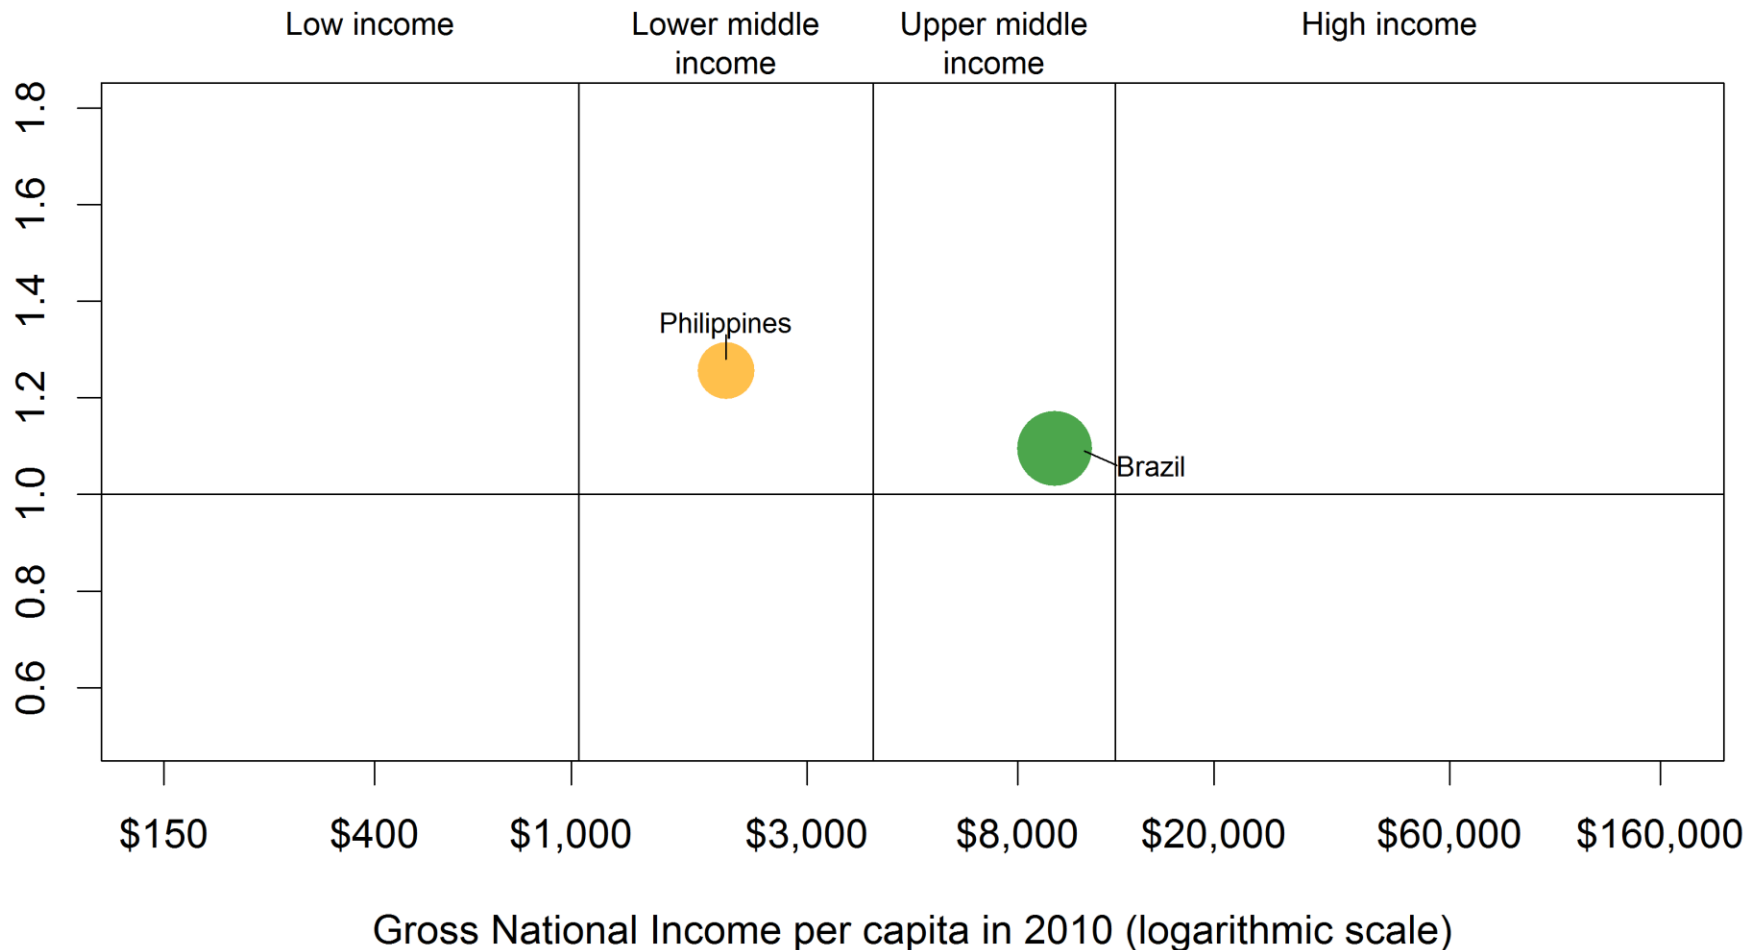

United Nations, Department of Economic and Social Affairs

Population growth and national income

Ratio of total population in 2030 compared to 2015

Population Division

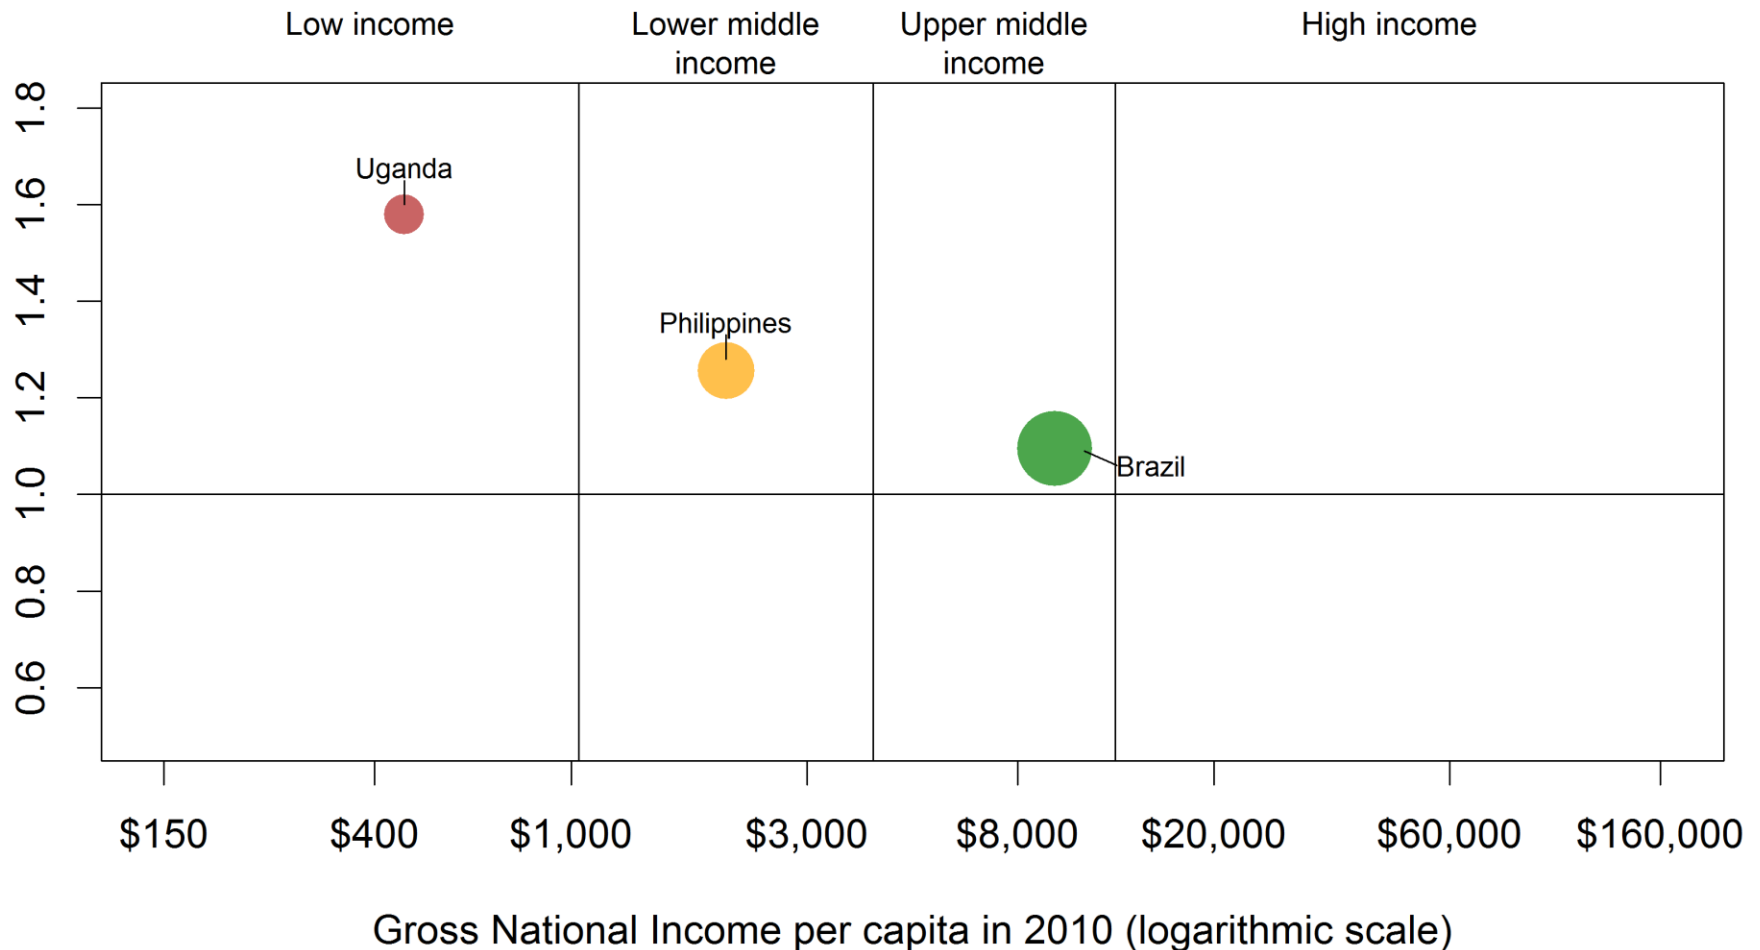

United Nations, Department of Economic and Social Affairs

Population growth and national income

Ratio of total population in 2030 compared to 2015

Population Division

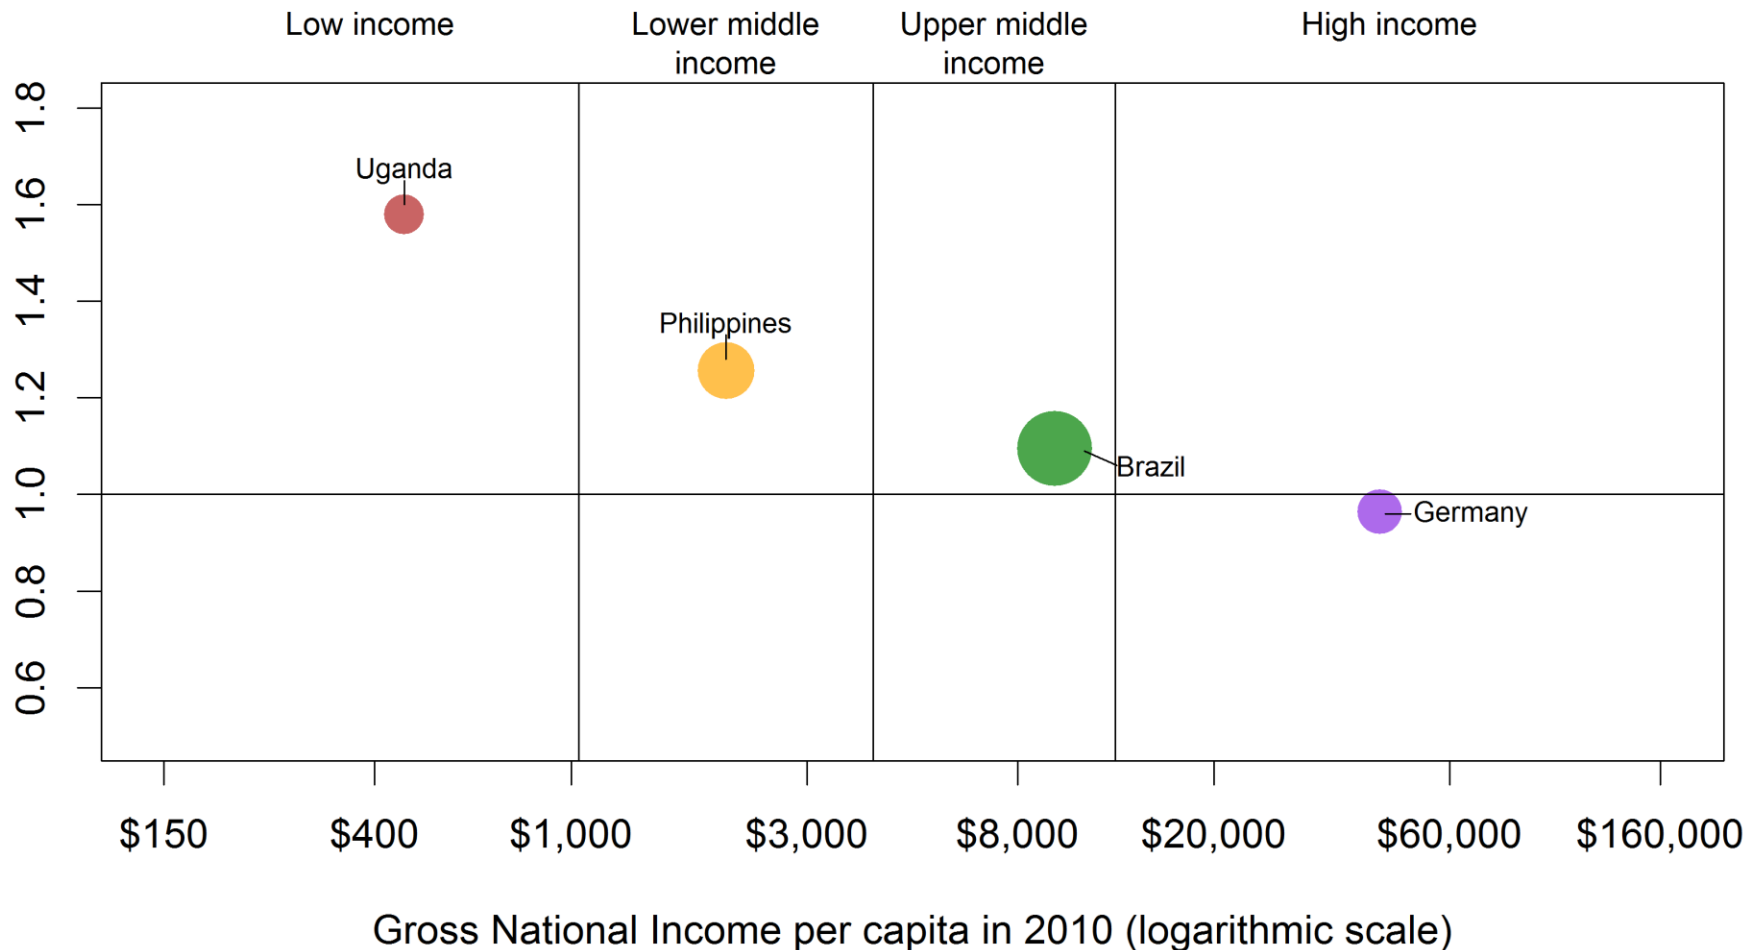

United Nations, Department of Economic and Social Affairs

Population growth and national income

Ratio of total population in 2030 compared to 2015

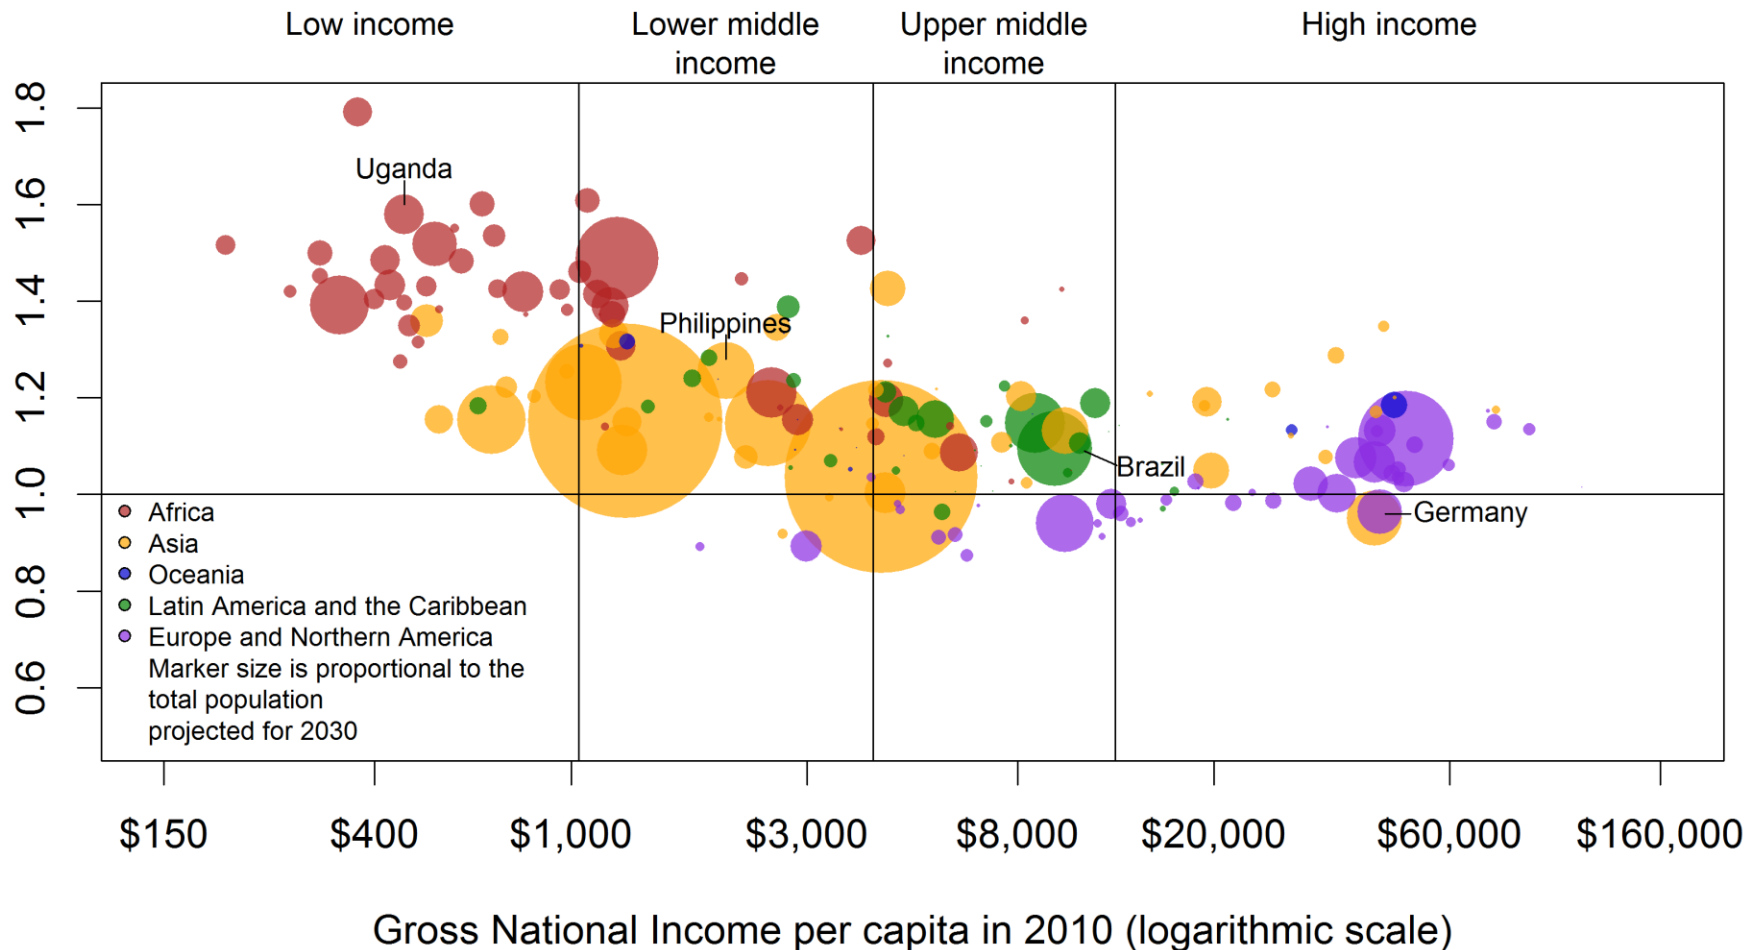

Population Division

United Nations, Department of Economic and Social Affairs

Population growth and national income

Ratio of total population in 2030 compared to 2015

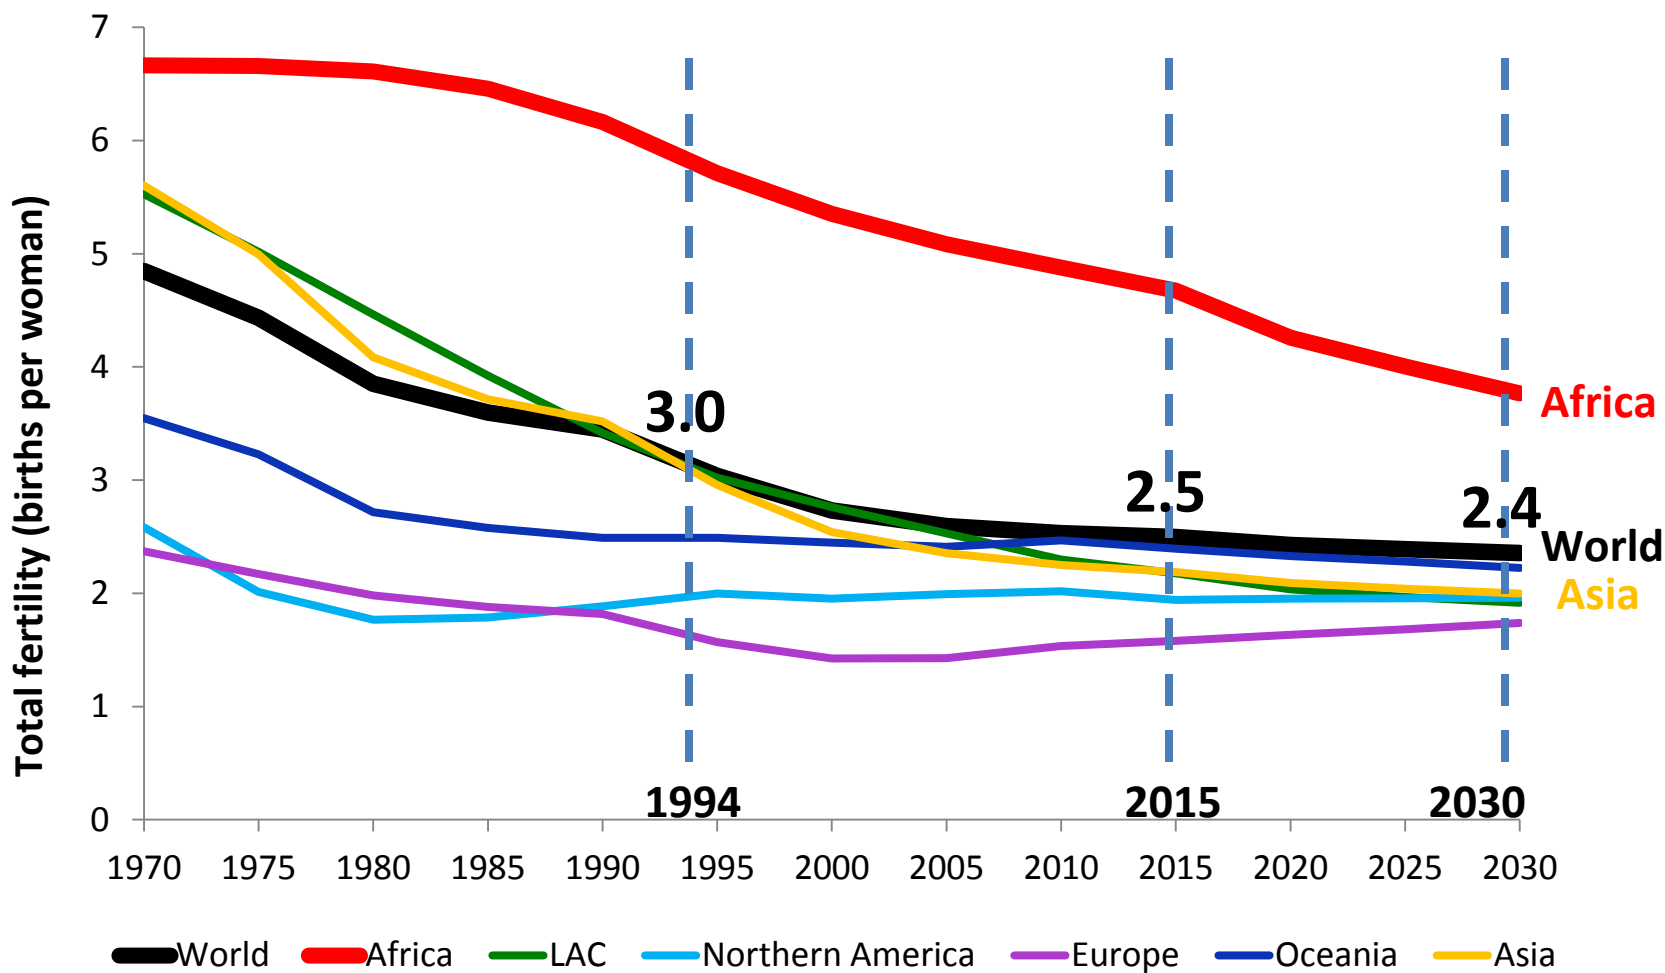

Population Division

United Nations, Department of Economic and Social Affairs

Births per woman, 1970-2030

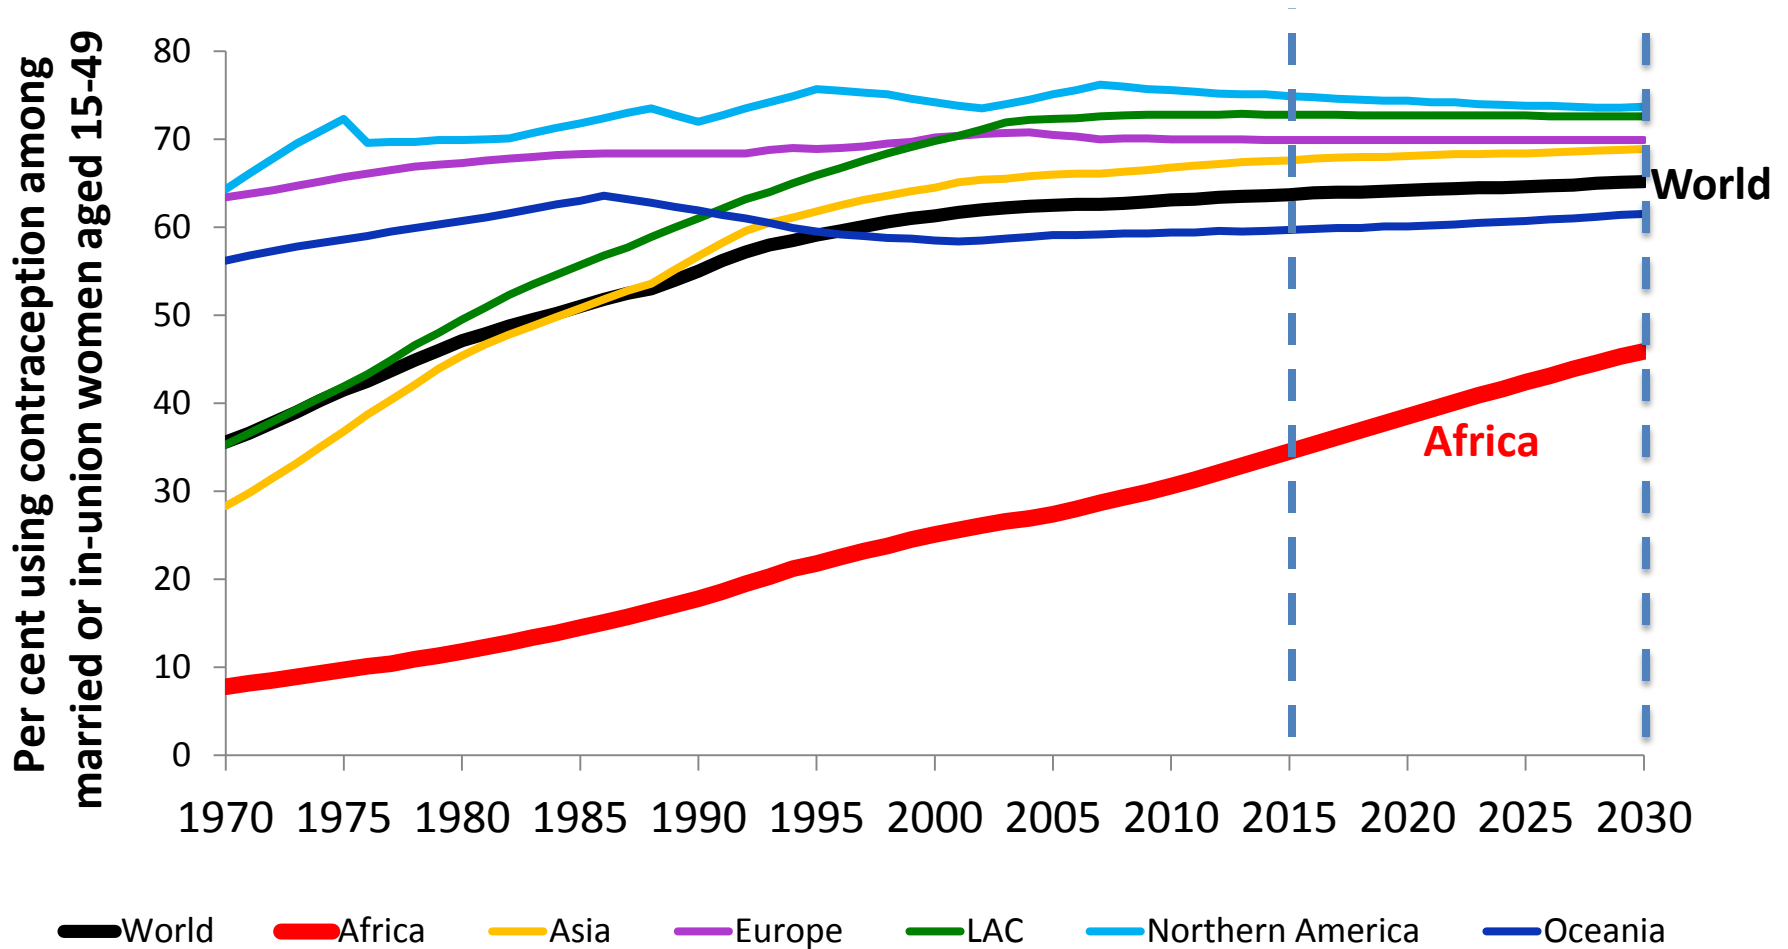

Population Division

United Nations, Department of Economic and Social Affairs

Contraceptive use, 1970-2030

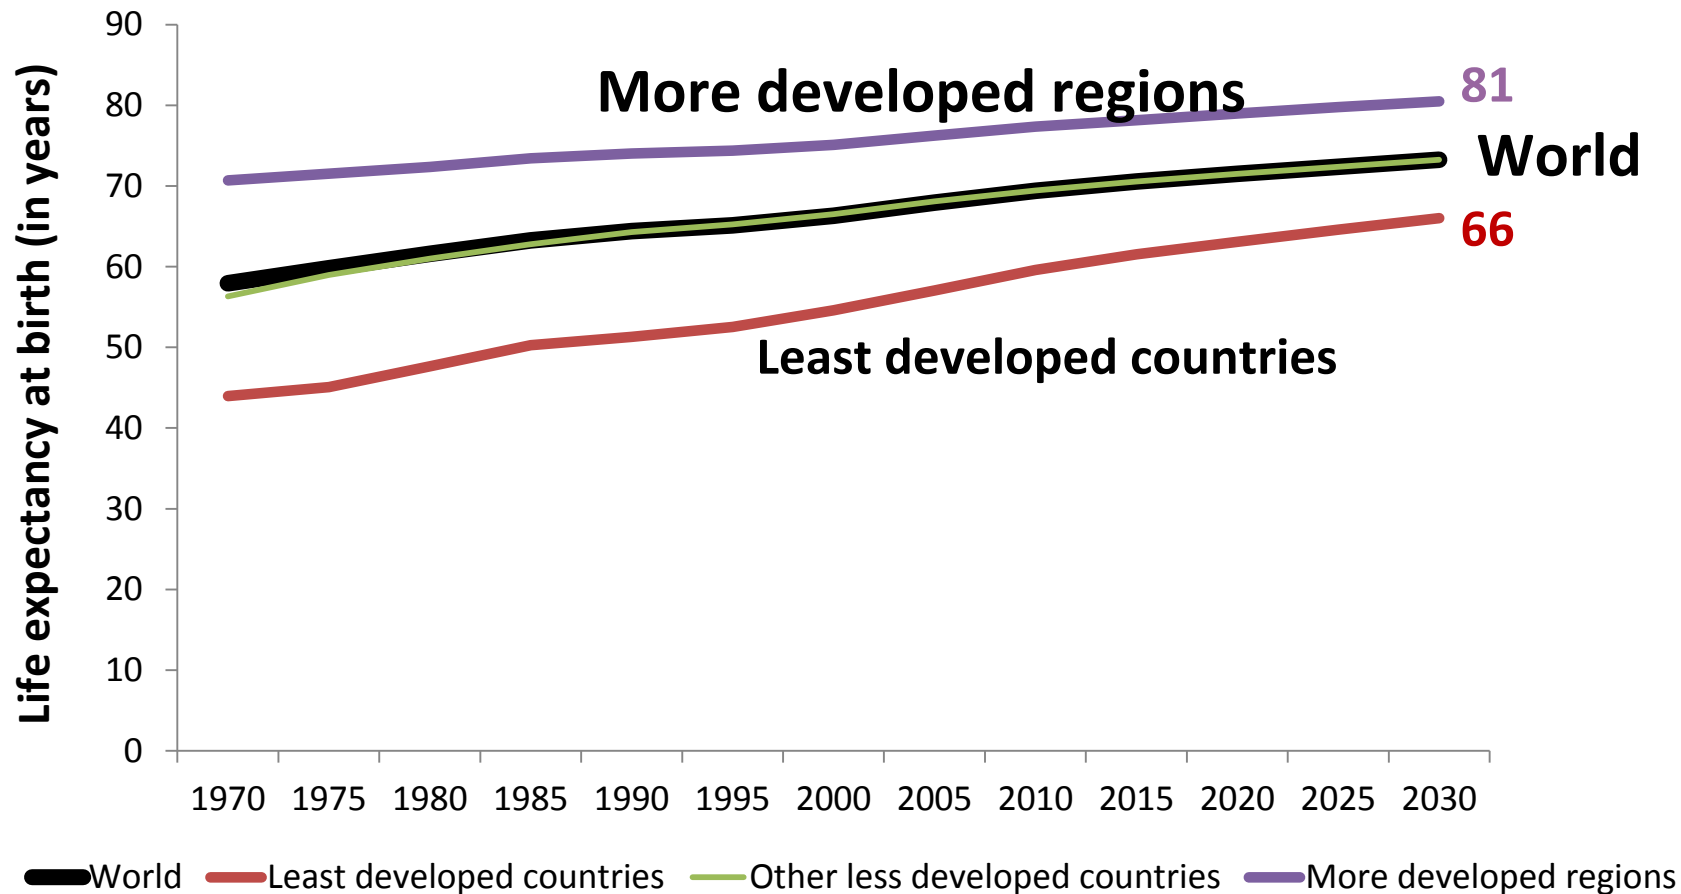

Population Division

United Nations, Department of Economic and Social Affairs

Life expectancy at birth, 1950-2030

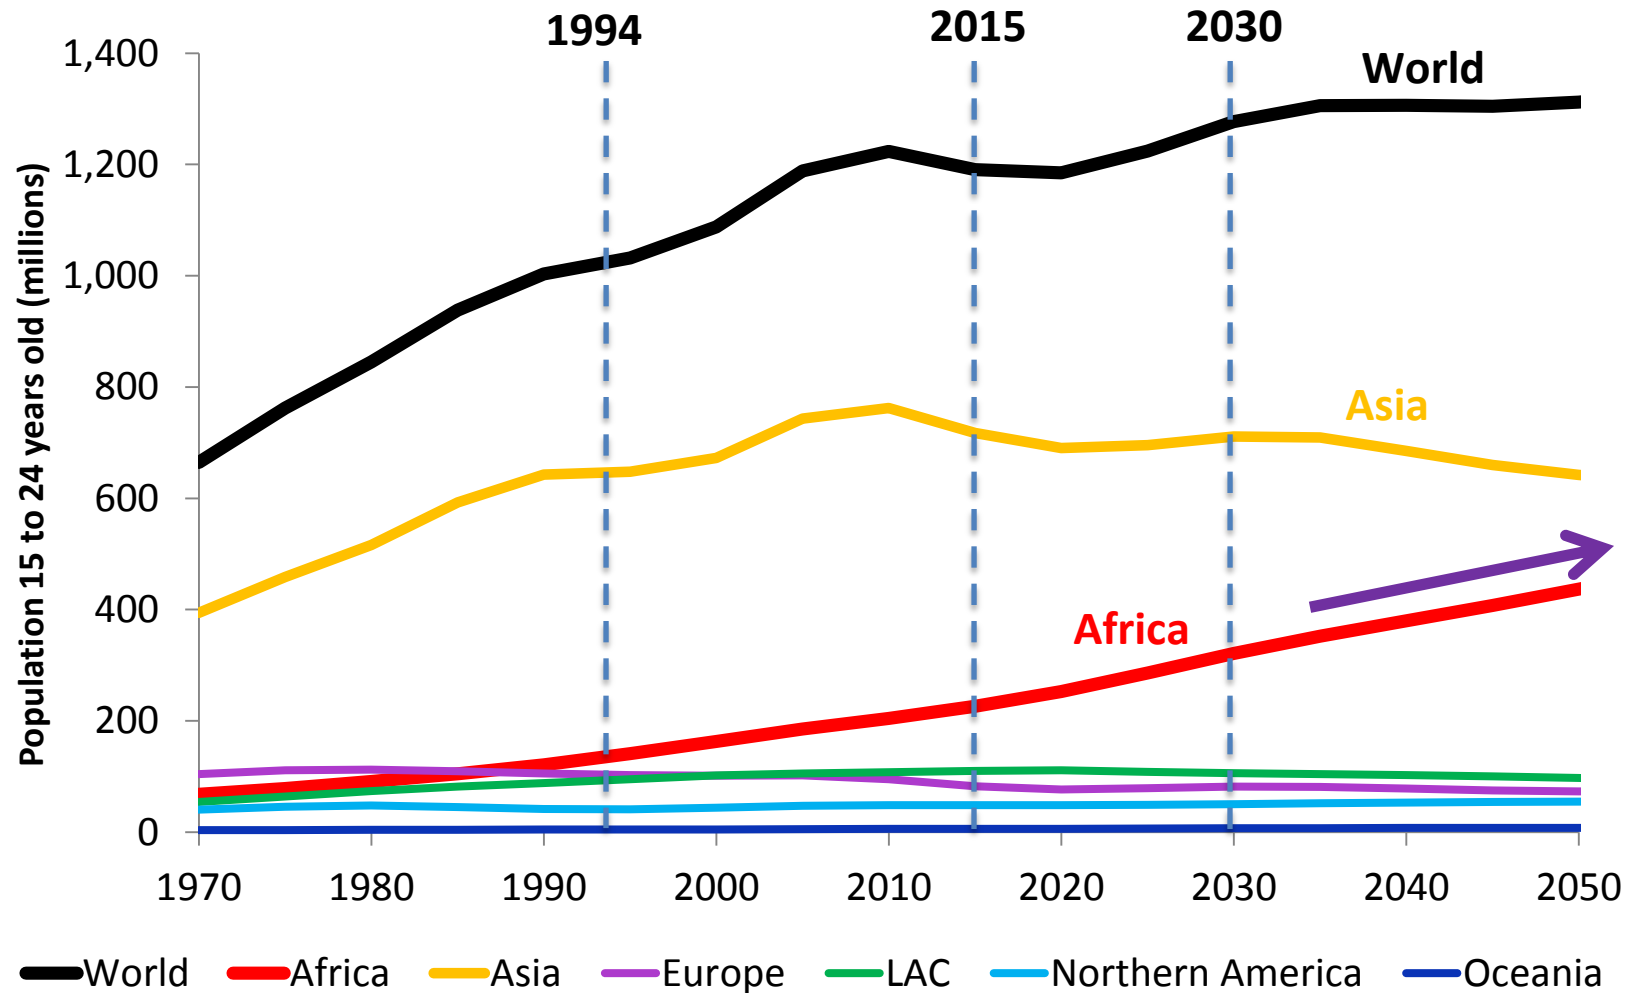

Population Division

United Nations, Department of Economic and Social Affairs

Youth cohorts (aged 15-24), 1970-2050

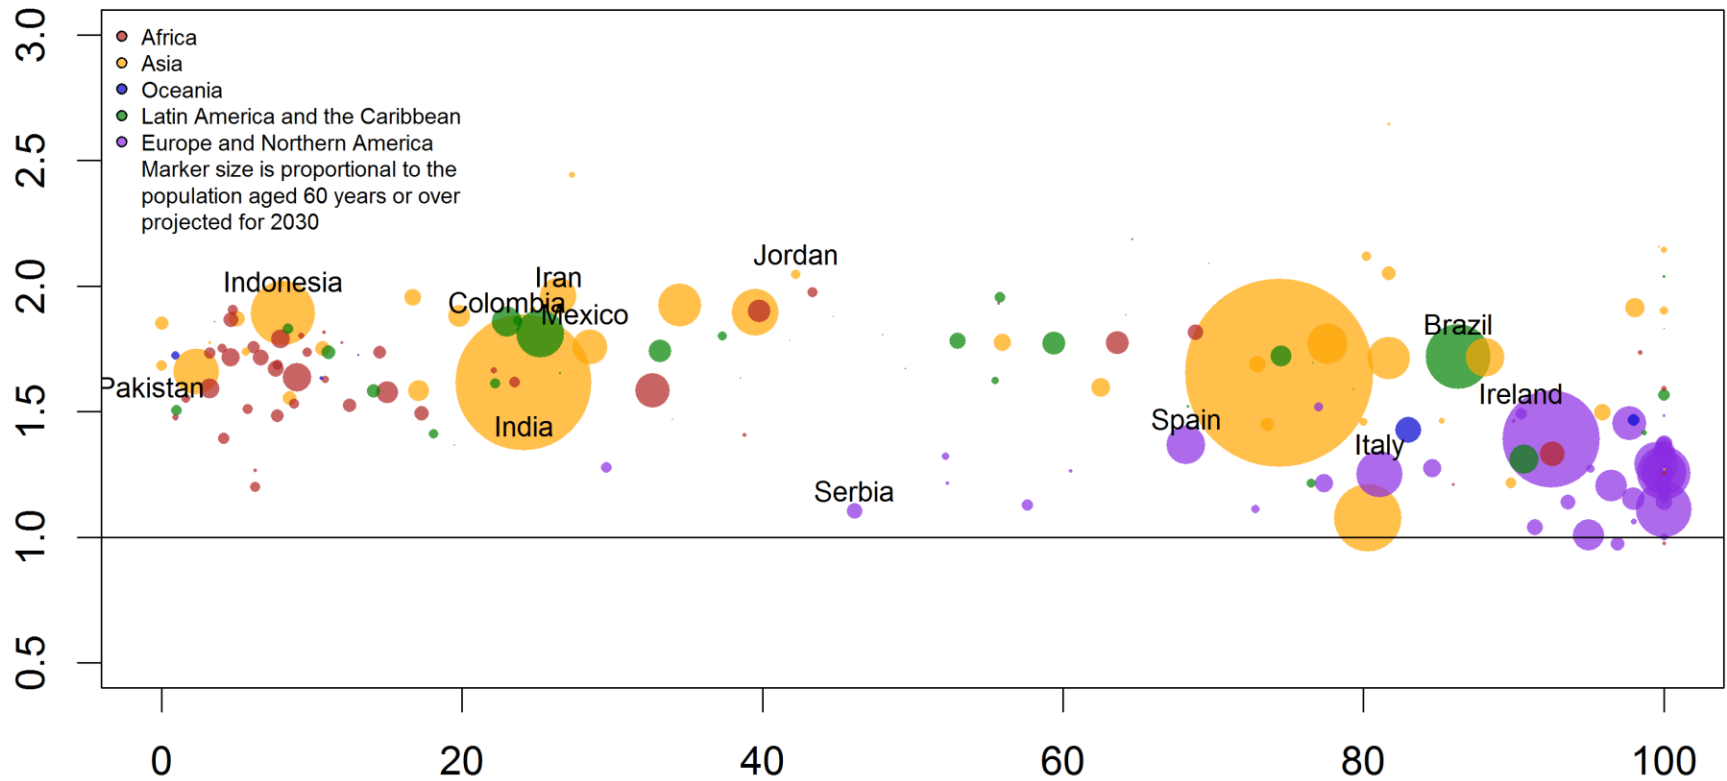

Population Division

United Nations, Department of Economic and Social Affairs

Growth of the numbers of older persons and pension coverage

Ratio of pop 60 years or over in 2030 compared to 2015

Proportion of men and women of statutory age receiving a pension in 2010

Population Division

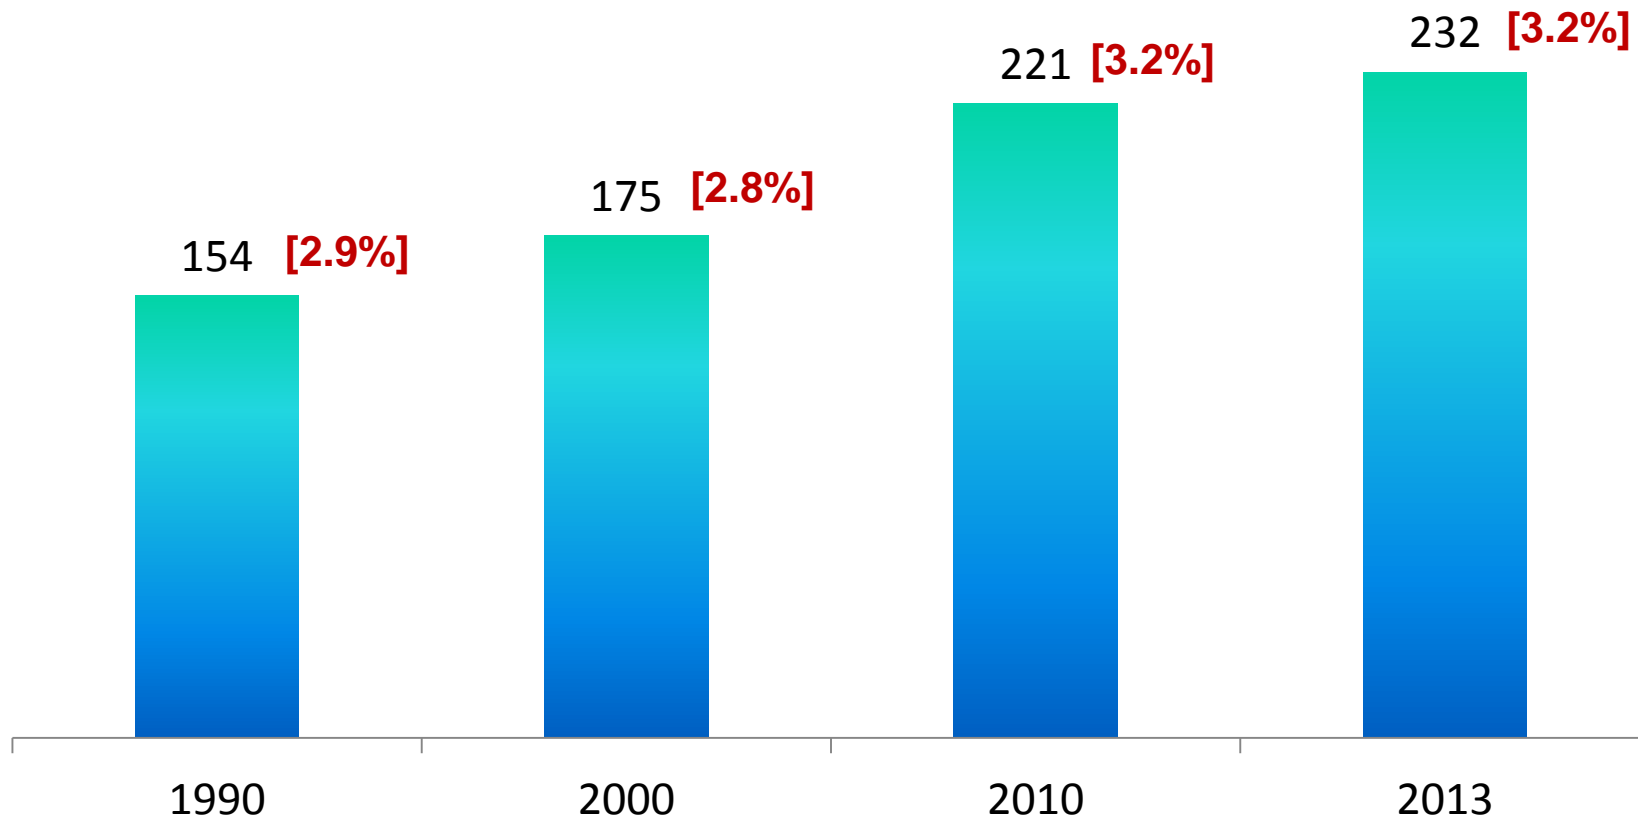

United Nations, Department of Economic and Social Affairs

International migrants, 1990-2013 (foreign-born population)

Number of international migrants (in millions)

[Proportion of international migrants in world population]

Population Division

United Nations, Department of Economic and Social Affairs

Growth in CO₂ emissions has far outpaced world population growth

Population Division

United Nations, Department of Economic and Social Affairs

