

Seventy-fifth session
Item 129 of the agenda
Multilingualism

Report of the Secretary-General

Supplementary Information¹

I. List of responsibilities of the focal points for multilingualism in the UN Secretariat

- 1) providing support to their head of entity in implementing relevant mandates and ensuring that multilingualism is mainstreamed in their entity's work plans and their daily activities;
- 2) promoting greater awareness of all stakeholders in their entity about relevant mandates and the benefits generated by multilingualism at the organizational and work unit levels;
- 3) monitoring and reporting periodically on progress made in implementing mandates relating to multilingualism as well as on obstacles, challenges or opportunities identified in the promotion of multilingualism;
- 4) contributing to the development and realization of short and long-term multilingualism targets as set out in their head of entity's compacts with the Secretary-General, and other action plans / accountability documents as applicable;
- 5) seeking creative solutions and measures for implementation of the General Assembly's mandates including by establishing partnerships with external stakeholders, such as other international organizations, Member States and academic institutions;
- 6) engaging within other Secretariat entities through the network of focal points under the stewardship of the Coordinator, to help assess progress achieved, share best practices, identify obstacles and discuss, where appropriate, policies and approaches.
- 7) disseminating communications from the Coordinator for Multilingualism within their respective entities and coordinating their entity's response as needed, including in relation with language celebrations and the preparation of the biennial report of the Secretary-General on multilingualism.
