New York

A breakfast discussion on the power of data to save lives, improve policies and protect children on the move

 February 16, 2018, 8:00-9:30 am.

 Permanent Mission of Germany to the United Nations, 871 United Nations Plaza, New York, NY 10017

Data on migrant and refugee children are scarce and of poor quality. We do not know enough about children on the move: who they are, where they come from, what motivates their choices, what risks they face and what they need upon arrival. The Global Compacts on Migration and Refugees provide an unmissable opportunity for global action to improve data availability, accessibility and quality – to save lives, improve policies and protect migrant and refugee children.

The Permanent Mission of Germany to the United Nations and UNICEF kindly invite you to join us in a discussion among experts and representatives of Member States, UN agencies and civil society to share ideas and good practices.

On the occasion, UNICEF together with IOM, UNHCR, Eurostat, OECD will launch a joint Call to Action: Protecting children on the move starts with better data.

Breakfast will be served. Please RSVP here by Thursday, February 15th, 2018 (mandatory for participation).
