Introductory note

This chapter deals with the Security Council's practice in extending invitations to participate in its proceedings. Articles 31 and 32 of the Charter and rules 37 and 39 of the provisional rules of procedure of the Security Council provide for invitations to be extended to non-members of the Security Council in the following circumstances: (a) when a Member of the United Nations brings a dispute or situation to the attention of the Council in accordance with Article 35 (1) of the Charter (rule 37); (b) when a Member of the United Nations or a State that is not a member of the United Nations is "a party to a dispute" (Article 32); (c) when the interests of a Member of the United Nations are "specially affected" (Article 31 and rule 37); and (d) when "members of the Secretariat or other persons" are invited to supply information or give other assistance (rule 39). Only in relation to Article 32 (instance (b) above) does the Security Council have an obligation to extend an invitation.

During the period under review, the Council continued to make no distinction between a complaint involving a "dispute" within the meaning of Article 32, a "situation", or a matter of another nature. Invitations to participate in meetings of the Council were usually extended "under the relevant provisions of the Charter" and explicitly under rule 37 or rule 39 of the Council's provisional rules of procedure. The classification of invitations in part I and the annexes to this chapter reflects this practice.

There was no debate or vote taken at a formal meeting on whether an invitation should be extended but complaints at lack of invitations were made both in discussion at formal meetings and in letters addressed to the President of the Security Council or the Secretary-General. This is covered in part I, section D, "Requests for invitations denied or not acted upon" (cases 1-6).

Part II, on procedures relating to the participation of invited representatives, includes a case (case 7) concerning the stage at which invited representatives were allowed to speak and two cases (cases 8 and 9) concerning the limitations imposed on participation.

The Council elucidated some of its practices regarding invitations in a note by the President of 19 July 2006.<sup>1</sup> These included the order in which non-members may speak, agreement on expansion of consultation with regional and subregional organizations, including through invitations to participate in public and private meetings, and encouragement of appropriate attendance at meetings with troop-contributing countries in accordance with Security Council resolution 1353 (2001).

Part I

Basis of invitations to participate

Note

The practice of the Security Council in connection with the extension of invitations is dealt with in this part in four sections. Section A deals with invitations extended under rule 37 of the Council's provisional rules of procedure, which was the basis on which Member States which were not members of the Council were invited to participate in the Council's proceedings. The section describes the Council's general practice in this regard, supplemented by annex I, which lists invitations extended under rule 37.

Section B deals with the Council's practice in extending invitations under rule 39, the basis on which members of the Secretariat or other persons were invited to supply the Council with information or other assistance. This brief overview is supplemented by annex II, which lists invitations extended under rule 39.

Section C concerns those invitations that were not expressly extended under either rule 37 or rule 39, and section D concerns requests for invitations denied or not acted upon.

A. Invitations extended under rule 37 (States Members of the United Nations)

During the period under consideration, States Members of the United Nations invited to participate in the Council's proceedings were usually invited under "the relevant provisions of the Charter and rule 37 of the Council's provisional rules of procedure", without citation of specific Articles of the Charter. Rule 37 provides:

"Any Member of the United Nations which is not a member of the Security Council may be invited, as the result of a decision of the Security Council, to participate, without vote, in the discussion of any question brought before the Security Council when the Security Council considers that the interests of that Member are specially affected, or when a Member brings a matter to the attention of the Security Council in accordance with Article 35 (1) of the Charter."

In practice, such invitations were usually extended as a matter of course and without discussion. They were requested in letters from the States concerned addressed to the President of the Council. The President informed the Council at the beginning or during the course of its meetings of the receipt of such letters and proposed that, with the consent of the Council, the invitations be extended. Usually, there being no objection, it was so decided.

Renewals of invitations were not usually mentioned if the meeting was resumed. Moreover, unless otherwise mentioned, invitations extended at the first meeting of consecutive meetings held concerning a specific agenda item were automatically renewed at each of the meetings.

As in previous years, Member States invited under rule 37 sometimes spoke in other capacities, such as representatives of regional organizations.<sup>2</sup> A list of invitations issued under rule 37 is contained in annex I to this chapter. For ease of reference, invitations have been grouped according to agenda items.

<sup>2</sup> A representative of a Member State, invited under rule 37, spoke on behalf of another entity at the following meetings: for the Caribbean Community, 4917th and 5178th; for the Central American Integration System, 4921st and 4962nd; for the Collective Security Treaty Organization, 5006th; for the Economic Community of West African States, S/PV.5005; for the European Union: 4892nd, 4896th, 4898th (resumption 1), 4899th, 4903rd (resumption 1), 4910th, 4911th, 4913th, 4917th, 4920th, 4921st, 4928th, 4929th, 4933rd, 4941st, 4942nd, 4945th, 4950th, 4965th, 4967th, 4970th (resumption 1), 4976th, 4990th, 4993rd (resumption 1), 5006th, 5017th, 5024th, 5025th, 5031st, 5049th, 5052nd (resumption 1), 5059th, 5066th, 5075th, 5076th, 5082nd, 5089th, 5096th, 5100th (resumption 1), 5113th, 5127th, 5129th (resumption 1), 5130th, 5131st, 5132nd, 5147th, 5156th, 5168th, 5178th, 5180th, 5187th, 5188th, 5209th, 5351st, 5373rd, 5390th, 5397th (resumption 1), 5404th, 5411th, 5412th, 5432nd, 5434th, 5446th, 5457th, 5470th, 5474th, 5476th, 5478th, 5481st, 5482nd, 5493rd (resumption 1), 5494th, 5509th (resumption 1), 5512th, 5515th, 5522nd, 5529th, 5530th, 5538th, 5552nd, 5556th, 5563rd, 5564th, 5568th, 5573rd, 5577th (resumption 1), 5581st, 5588th, 5603rd, 5627th, 5628th, 5629th, 5632nd (resumption 1), 5635th, 5649th (resumption 1), 5663rd, 5675th, 5679th, 5690th, 5703rd, 5705th, 5736th, 5760th, 5766th, 5799th, 5781st (resumption 1), 5801st and 5805th; for the Pacific Islands Forum Group, 4921st and 4962nd; and for the Rio Group, 4921st (resumption 1) and 5390th.

B. Invitations extended under rule 39 (members of the Secretariat or other persons)

The Security Council continued its relatively recent practice of inviting individuals under rule 39 to participate in its proceedings and to brief it on issues under consideration. During the period from 2004 to 2007, the Council issued approximately 620 invitations under rule 39, compared to approximately 450 during the period from 2000 to 2003. During the immediately preceding four-year period, 1996 to 1999, the Council issued 50 invitations under rule 39.

Rule 39 provides:

“The Security Council may invite members of the Secretariat or other persons, whom it considers competent for the purpose, to supply it with information or to give other assistance in examining matters within its competence”.

A list of invitations issued under rule 39 is contained in annex II to this chapter. For ease of reference only, invitations have been grouped into the following four categories:

- A. United Nations (representatives of the United Nations Secretariat, Security Council missions and Security Council subsidiary bodies);
- B. United Nations (other organs, funds, programmes and agencies);
- C. Regional and other intergovernmental organizations;
- D. Other invitees.

Some general aspects of the Council’s practice under rule 39 may be noted. Invitations to representatives of United Nations organs and subsidiary bodies were extended as a matter of course and without any formal discussion. Letters of request from the body concerned were read into the record of the meeting by the President of the Council and were not issued as documents of the Security Council. Invitations to representatives of United Nations agencies were extended on the same basis. In the case of invitations to representatives of regional or other international organizations, the requests were made by a Member State on behalf of the organization concerned, and invariably granted without any formal discussion. As for other individuals, they, too, were invited at the request of a Member State. In some instances, the President made it clear at the start of the formal meeting of the Council that members of the Council had agreed in prior consultations to extend an invitation to a particular individual.

In the note by the President of 19 July 2006, the members of the Council agreed on continued expansion of consultation with regional and subregional organizations, including by inviting relevant organizations to participate in the Council’s public and private meetings, when appropriate.<sup>3</sup>

Following past practice, invitations were sometimes extended to representatives of Member States under rule 39, but only if their participation was in a role other than that of representative of their State. These included invitations to members of the Council in their capacity as heads of Security Council missions and Chairpersons of Security Council subsidiary bodies.

During the period 2004 to 2007, roughly three quarters of invitations under rule 39 were issued to persons connected with the United Nations (sections A and B of annex II), and one quarter to other invitees (sections C and D).

During the period under review, the following organizations received invitations to attend formal meetings of the Council for the first time.

(a) United Nations-related bodies:<sup>4</sup> International Criminal Court, United Nations Population Fund;

(b) Regional and other intergovernmental organizations: Collective Security Treaty Organization, Commonwealth of Independent States, Council of Europe, World Customs Organization;

(c) Other invitees: African Centre for the Constructive Resolution of Disputes, CARE International, Columbia University, the Commonwealth Secretariat, Dusirehamwe Association, European Centre for Conflict Prevention, the President-elect of Haiti, International Center for Transitional Justice,

<sup>4</sup> This category does not include the United Nations Secretariat, Security Council missions and Security Council subsidiary bodies, which are covered in section A of annex II.

C. Invitations not expressly extended under rule 37 or rule 39

During the period under review, the Council extended invitations not expressly under rule 37 or rule 39. Following past practice, the observer of Palestine was invited by the President to participate in meetings, with the consent of the Council, in accordance with the provisional rules of procedure and "the previous practice in this regard".<sup>5</sup>

When the Council held meetings with countries contributing troops to various missions in accordance with resolution 1353 (2001), invitations were extended by a prior letter from the President.<sup>6</sup> In a note by the President of 19 July 2006, it was emphasized that, "In order to further encourage substantive discussions with troop-contributing countries, in accordance with Security Council resolution 1353 (2001), the members of the Security Council encourage the attendance of appropriate military and political officers from each participating mission."<sup>7</sup>

<sup>5</sup> The observer of Palestine was invited 25 times to participate in meetings held under the item "The situation in the Middle East, including the Palestinian question" (4929th, 4934th, 4945th, 4972nd, 5049th, 5051st, 5052nd, 5230th, 5404th, 5411th, 5474th, 5481st, 5488th, 5493rd, 5494th, 5515th, 5530th, 5552nd, 5564th and resumption 1, 5565th, 5568th, 5584th, 5629th, 5667th and 5736th meetings). It was also invited to participate when the Council met under the items "The situation in the Middle East" (5583rd meeting); "Justice and the rule of law: the United Nations role" (5052nd meeting); "Strengthening international law: rule of law and maintenance of international peace and security" (5474th meeting); and "Children and armed conflict" (5494th meeting).

<sup>6</sup> See chapter I for more information on meetings with troop-contributing countries and Repertoire, Supplement 2000-2003, chaps. I and III, for information on the genesis of this type of meeting.

Further to the practice of allowing newly elected members of the Council to attend informal consultations of the Council for the period of one month immediately preceding their term of membership and formal meetings of its subsidiary bodies,<sup>8</sup> the Council, in a note by the President of 2 December 2004, decided that newly elected members of the Council would also be invited to attend informal meetings of the subsidiary bodies of the Council.<sup>9</sup>

D. Requests for invitations denied or not acted upon

During the period under review, there was no instance in which a request for an invitation to participate in a meeting of the Security Council was denied at a formal meeting. However, as indicated in letters from Member States regretting the lack of invitations to participate, requests may have been denied during informal consultations of the whole or otherwise outside of formal meetings.<sup>10</sup> These complaints are covered in cases 1 to 6 below.

Case 1

In a letter dated 28 July 2005 addressed to the Secretary-General and the President of the General Assembly,<sup>11</sup> the representative of Azerbaijan regretted that at the 5238th (closed) meeting of the Council, held on 27 July 2005 to consider "The situation in Georgia", the delegation of Azerbaijan had not been invited to participate in the consideration of the item, in accordance with its request, the relevant provisions of the Charter and rule 37 of the provisional rules of procedure. Two invitations under rule 37, and a third

<sup>10</sup> Following past practice, initial requests by Member States to participate in meetings of the Council were not usually circulated as documents of the Security Council, since these requests may be made in a variety of ways, including orally. However, the Council continued its practice of issuing requests to participate by the observer of Palestine.

under rule 39 to the briefer, had been extended at that meeting.<sup>12</sup>

Case 2

By a letter dated 4 April 2006 addressed to the Secretary-General, the representative of Cuba transmitted his country's views on the current situation in the Middle East, including the Palestinian question, because "at the public meeting of the Security Council held on 30 March, the right to speak of States which are not members of the Security Council was restricted arbitrarily".<sup>13</sup>

At the 5404th meeting, held on 30 March 2006, several invitations were issued under rules 37 and 39, and those invited to participate were called upon to make statements.<sup>14</sup> There was no discussion during the meeting of a request by the representative of Cuba to participate.

Case 3

In a letter dated 14 July 2006,<sup>15</sup> the representative of the Syrian Arab Republic deeply regretted that at the 5489th meeting, held to consider "The situation in the Middle East", the President of the Security Council had not observed rule 37 of the provisional rules of procedure and had denied the right of the Syrian Arab Republic delegation to speak as a concerned party. The representative also referred to his letter of 13 July 2006 in which he had requested to participate and speak at that meeting.<sup>16</sup>

In a letter dated 14 July 2006 responding to the representative of the Syrian Arab Republic,<sup>17</sup> the President of the Security Council noted that the modalities of the public meeting on the Middle East had been decided by the Council at its consultations held on 13 July. The President had brought to the attention of the members of the Council the requests made by three delegations, including the Syrian Arab Republic, to participate in that meeting. No member of the Council had wished the modalities of the meeting to be modified and the meeting was therefore held in accordance with the modalities initially decided upon, and no invitation to participate was issued to the Syrian Arab Republic.

At the 5489th meeting, held in relation to a request by the representative of Lebanon, several invitations under rules 37 and 39 were issued; there was no mention of a request to participate by the Syrian Arab Republic.

Case 4

In a letter dated 31 July 2006 addressed to the President of the Security Council, the representative of the Islamic Republic of Iran, among other matters, recalled his previous request to speak before the Council when it adopted its statement by the President on the item "Non-proliferation" at the 5403rd meeting<sup>18</sup> held on 29 March 2006. The representative regretted that the Council had adopted a presidential statement without allowing the views of the concerned party to be heard. No invitations had been issued at the 5403rd meeting.

Case 5

In a letter dated 25 January 2007 addressed to the President of the Security Council,<sup>19</sup> the representative of Cuba, in his capacity as Chair of the Coordinating Bureau of the Non-Aligned Movement, recalled the formal request of the Non-Aligned Movement to participate in the briefing on the situation in the Middle East held on that day.<sup>20</sup> He stated that the Non-Aligned Movement would highly appreciate it if in the future such meetings were open to the participation of all Member States in a manner that could further enrich the debate. The representative requested the distribution of his letter, and the annex which contained the position of the Non-Aligned Movement on the Middle East, including the question of Palestine, as a document of the Security Council.

In a letter dated 25 April 2007 addressed to the President of the Security Council,<sup>21</sup> the representative of Cuba, on behalf of the Non-Aligned Movement, protested against the denial of a request to participate in the 5667th meeting, held on 25 April 2007.<sup>22</sup> The agenda item for the meeting was “The situation in the Middle East, including the Palestinian question”, and the representative of Cuba pointed out that the Non-Aligned Movement consisted of 118 States Members of the United Nations, including the overwhelming majority of the States in the Middle East. The representative requested that his letter and its annex, which contained the statement Cuba had planned to deliver on behalf of the Non-Aligned Movement, be distributed as a document of the Security Council.

At the 5667th meeting, the representatives of Israel, Lebanon and the Syrian Arab Republic, and the observer of Palestine, had been invited to participate.

Case 6

At the 5761st meeting, held on 17 October 2007 to consider “Post-conflict peacebuilding”, several members of the Council regretted the non-issuance of invitations. The representative of Italy expressed his “strong disappointment at not being able to listen to the voice of the European Union — that is to say, the voice of the most important donor in the field — and the voice of Jamaica as the Non-Aligned Movement coordinator, because the Non-Aligned Movement has a very special take and specific interest” on the issue under discussion.<sup>23</sup> The representative of France agreed: “Like our Italian colleague, we regret that it has not been possible for the European Union and other important speakers to participate in this debate.”<sup>24</sup>

The representative of Slovakia shared the disappointment expressed by the representative of Italy that agreement was not reached on allowing other important Member States to speak in the debate — in particular, Portugal, on behalf of the presidency of the European Union; El Salvador, as Vice-Chair of the Peacebuilding Commission and Chair of the Working Group on Lessons Learned; and Jamaica, as coordinator of the Non-Aligned Movement.<sup>25</sup>

The representative of Panama shared the opinion that it would have been preferable to allow all persons directly linked or interested in the work of the Peacebuilding Commission to speak.<sup>26</sup>

In a letter dated 17 October 2007 addressed to the President of the Security Council,<sup>27</sup> the representative of Portugal regretted that the presidency of the European Union had not been allowed to participate in the debate on the report of the Peacebuilding Commission in accordance with the request previously submitted.<sup>28</sup> He also requested that the letter and its annex, which contained the position of the European Union on the report of the Peacebuilding Commission, be circulated as a document of the Security Council.

<sup>28</sup> The Council considered the report of the Peacebuilding Commission on its first session at its 5761st meeting, under the item “Post-conflict peacebuilding”. The representatives of Burundi, El Salvador, the Netherlands, Norway and Sierra Leone were cited as having requested an invitation to participate, and were issued invitations under rule 37. An invitation under rule 39 was issued to Mr. Yukio Takasu, Chairman of the Peacebuilding Commission.

Part II

Procedures relating to participation

Note

Part II is concerned with procedures relating to the participation of invited States or individuals after an invitation has been extended. Section A concerns the stage at which invited States are heard. It includes clarification contained in a note by the President<sup>29</sup> on the stage at which non-members may speak, as well as one case (case 7) in which several representatives regretted that they had not been allowed to speak before the adoption of a resolution.

Section B concerns limitations on participation. It includes two cases (cases 8 and 9) in which representatives who had been invited to participate under rule 37 regretted that they had not been given the opportunity to make a statement.

A. Stage at which those invited to participate are heard

Although the provisional rules of procedure do not specify that members of the Security Council should speak before non-members, the practice has been that they most often do so.<sup>30</sup> In a note by the President of 19 July 2006, the Council clarified that “when non-members are invited to speak to the Council, those who have a direct interest in the outcome of the matter under consideration may speak prior to Council members, if appropriate”.<sup>31</sup>

The case below concerns non-members who wished to speak prior to the adoption of a resolution and were unable to do so.

Case 7

At the 5059th meeting, held on 19 October 2004 to consider “Threats to international peace and security caused by terrorist acts”, two representatives invited under rule 37 expressed regret at not having been able to address the Council before the adoption of resolution 1566 (2004). The representative of Liechtenstein stated, “We regret that the wider United Nations membership was not given an opportunity to express its views on the draft of that resolution given its important implications for our common fight against terrorism worldwide. We therefore take this opportunity to express our views after that draft resolution’s adoption.”<sup>32</sup> The representative of Switzerland reiterated these remarks, stating, “Switzerland regrets that the adoption of resolution 1566 (2004) was not preceded by an open debate enabling all United Nations Members to express their points of view.”<sup>33</sup>

<sup>30</sup> Rule 27 states: “The President shall call upon representatives in the order in which they signify their desire to speak.” It does not explicitly make a distinction between members and non-members.

B. Limitations on participation

Case 8

In a letter dated 11 June 2004 to the President of the Security Council,<sup>34</sup> the representative of the Sudan referred to his invitation under rule 37 to participate in the 4988th meeting, on 11 June 2004, held to consider the report of the Secretary-General on the Sudan, and the fact that he had not been called upon to deliver a statement. At the meeting the Council had adopted resolution 1547 (2004). He stated:

We were somewhat taken aback ... by your decision that permission for us to participate in the session did not entitle us to deliver a statement, on the grounds that there was no precedent for it. We are aware, however, that numerous precedents exist and that this would be in no way contrary to the regulations. I met with you in person shortly before the start of the session in order to re-examine your decision and you promised to consult the members of the Council with a view to a decision on the matter. We were surprised to find that the session was held, as you know, without our being given an opportunity to deliver our statement.

We believe we have the right to give a statement during the session, considering that the members agreed to our participation in it. Regarding your address to the members in that regard at the start of the session, when you mentioned permission for the delegation of the Sudan to participate in the discussion, what does “participate in the discussion” mean?

Does it simply mean sitting and listening without proffering a word by way of participation in the discussion? I am sorry to have to express to you feelings of profound distress and disappointment over your decision to deprive a Member State of participation in the debate on a vital issue concerning its fate, for this is totally at odds with the most fundamental rules of justice and transparency. I wish to transmit to you herewith the statement of the Sudan on the topic of today's session.

The representative of the Philippines replied in a letter dated 17 June 2004 addressed to the President of the Security Council,<sup>35</sup> stating, "as some of the points contained in your letter alluded to the discussion I personally held with you, please allow me to respond to them in my national capacity". The representative noted that:

Your letter, however, has raised a question of interpretation of the Council's decision to allow the Sudan to "participate in the discussion". This issue is for the Council, and not for the President alone, to decide. I will leave it to your delegation on when and how you would further pursue this matter with the Council. ... it was not by my decision, but rather the lack of consensus by the Council to allow a statement other than explanation of vote that militated against your desire to speak before the Council."<sup>36</sup>

The representative of the Philippines further recalled that:

... in order for the Sudan to have the opportunity to make its views known, I suggested to you to send a letter to the President of the Council requesting that your statement be issued as a document of the Security Council. Indeed, you have followed my humble advice and your statement is now part of the public record as a Council document. Thus, your right to be heard has been fully preserved by the publication of your statement.

The Philippine delegation fully supports the right of every delegation to be heard on matters of concern to them with which the Security Council is seized. We support transparency in the work of the Council and the full ventilation of views on issues of general interest to the international community.

In this regard, if your delegation so wishes, I would propose to convene a meeting of the Security Council to allow your delegation a full expression of your views on matters of common interest between the Security Council and your country. I am certain that Council members would welcome this opportunity to exchange views with your delegation on these shared concerns. I would be grateful to receive your concurrence on this proposal.<sup>36</sup>

In a letter dated 31 July 2006 addressed to the President of the Security Council, the representative of the Islamic Republic of Iran regretted that, at the 5500th meeting held on 31 July 2006 to consider the item "Non-proliferation", the Council had adopted a resolution "without even allowing the views of the concerned party to be heard."<sup>37</sup> The representative had been invited to participate in the 5500th meeting under rule 37, but was not called upon to make a statement.
