INTRODUCTORY NOTE

This chapter contains material from the Official Records relating to the practice of the Council under Article 27 of the Charter. The arrangement of the material in this chapter follows the pattern of the corresponding chapter in the earlier volumes of the Repertoire.

Part I deals with evidence relating to the distinction between procedural and non-procedural matters. No material requiring treatment in part II relating to the practice of the Council in voting upon the question whether a matter is procedural within the meaning of Article 27, paragraph 2, has been found for the period under review. Part III is concerned with the abstention or absence of a Council member in relation to the requirements of Article 27, paragraph 3.

Material relating to voting in connection with the election of Judges under Article 10 of the Statute of the International Court of Justice is included in chapter VI, part I, section D, whereas material concerning the voting procedure employed by the Council in connexion with application for admission to membership in the United Nations may be found in chapter VII, parts I and V.

As noted in preceding volumes of the Repertoire, most of the occasions on which the Council has voted, afford no indication of the attitude of the Council regarding the procedural or non-procedural character of the matter voted upon. Where a decision has been arrived at by a unanimous vote, or with all permanent members voting in favour of the proposal, no indication of the view of the Council as to the procedural or non-procedural nature of the matter can be obtained from the vote. Nor can any indication be obtained from proceedings in which a proposal, having been put to the vote, has failed to obtain nine votes in its favour.

Part I, section A, comprises those instances (Cases 1-4) wherein the adoption of a proposal, obtained through nine or more votes, with one or more permanent members casting a negative vote, indicated the procedural character of the decision. Cases in this section have been grouped under headings derived from the subject matter dealt with in the decisions; the headings do not constitute general propositions as to the procedural character of future proposals which might be deemed to fall under them.

Part I, section B, includes only two instances where the rejection of a proposal, having obtained nine or more votes with one or more permanent members casting a negative vote, indicated the non-procedural character of the decision. During the period under review, there has been no discussion in the Security Council of the procedural or non-procedural character of the decisions to be taken. The entries (Cases 5 and 6) in this section are therefore restricted to a reference whereby the draft resolution or proposal and the vote thereon may be identified in the record of decisions in other parts of this Supplement.

Part III, section B, lists those occasions (Cases 7-13) on which permanent members have abstained voluntarily considering that no affirmative decision could have been taken had they voted against the proposal.
