

Brad MEYER

Brad' s work keeps him involved with - and leading - some of the current developments in facilitative learning and organizational change. His work extends into private, academic, corporate, federal and NGO arenas. His services are on corporate preferred supplier lists for both behavioral change coaching and video-rich eLearning / knowledge asset development.

Brad is a principal in three small development companies - each of which uniquely supports his endeavours towards helping people work together more effectively. They are;
