

Dr. Zeev Degani

Received his doctorate in philosophy from the Hebrew University in 1985. Established and served for six years as the head of the training program for social leadership in the periphery in Mandel institute in Jerusalem (2000-2006). Established and served as head of the education division at Tel-Hai Academic College, focused on democracy and peace studies, alternative learning frameworks, and teacher-training (1996-2000). From 1998 he is also a member of the research faculty for genetic diseases and health education. Currently, he is the co-director of New Horizon – An Arab-Jewish Institute for Shared Society in Israel.