1. Background

Generously funded by The Nippon Foundation, the Alumni Programme provides a unique platform for the Alumni of the United Nations-Nippon Foundation Fellowship Programmes to come together and actively engage in thought-provoking discussions and multi-stakeholder processes concerning the ocean. By doing so, they have the opportunity to further build their profiles as ocean professionals and expand their network by interacting with globally recognized experts and like-minded colleagues.

Since 2009, 11 meetings have been held, fostering a community of knowledgeable and passionate ocean professionals eager to make significant contributions to the implementation of the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea (UNCLOS) and sustainable development of the ocean. In 2023, the Meeting was aimed at our Lusophone Alumni, from Brazil, Mozambique, Sao Tome and Principe, and Timor-Leste.

2. The 2023 Alumni Meeting

The 2023 Alumni Meeting took place from 28 to 30 June 2023, and was held to coincide with the Second Annual Conference of The Portuguese Institute for the Law of the Sea (IPDM), on 28 June 2023.

The Conference featured a series of panels and presentations centered around the theme “Maritime Security in a Changing World”, providing our Alumni with valuable opportunities to learn from experts and practitioners in the field. The final panel of the Conference was dedicated to our UNNF Alumni, who delivered engaging presentations on “Maritime safety & security: capacity-needs in Portuguese speaking countries”. During this panel, our Alumni shared practical examples of their national and/or regional experiences, highlighting key challenges and potential solutions. The participants to the Conference actively engaged with the Alumni, resulting in a fruitful and enriching exchange of ideas.

Other activities were organized during the two days following the Conference (29-30 June 2023) in Casa de Santa Maria, including presentations, panel discussions, and interactive sessions on topics related to the “Protection and preservation of the marine environment: challenges and opportunities in national implementation of UNCLOS and related instruments in the context of blue economies” and “Science as a cross-cutting aspect in ocean law and policy”. Notably, these activities featured supervisors from our esteemed Host Institutions: Prof. Dr. Alexander Proelss, from the University of Hamburg; and Dr. Arron Honniball, from the Max Planck Foundation for International Peace and the Rule of Law.

A field visit to the local marine protected area was also kindly organized for our group by the Municipality of Cascais.

2.1. Objectives

The Meeting was an overall success, not only in accomplishing its substantive goals, but also in facilitating in-person networking, an important element of our Alumni activities which had been absent for the past three years, due to the pandemic.

During the Meeting, the Alumni was able to:

- Share their national/regional experiences and bring fresh perspectives to the table.
- Identify key challenges in ocean affairs and the law of the sea in developing countries.
- Provide potential solutions.
- Gain valuable insights from other panelists and participants.
- Receive important feedback from peers, allowing them to refine their research work and ideas.
- Enhance professional growth.
- Build knowledge on issues relating to ocean affairs and the law of the sea, including the implementation of SDG 14.
- Network with Government officials and ocean professionals from other Lusophone countries.
- Build their profiles as experts and ocean professionals.
- Engage with newer Alumni and establish a mentoring role.
