Review of alignment of the agendas of the General Assembly, ECOSOC, and their subsidiary bodies and the HLPF and other related forums in light of the adoption of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development

Report of the Co-facilitators

10 September 2019

Recalling of mandate

In her letter of 20 November 2018, Her Excellency Ms. María Fernanda Espinosa Garcés, President of the General Assembly, following consultations with Member States, appointed us as co-facilitators to lead intergovernmental consultations on the alignment process.

The President also referred in her letter to General Assembly resolution 72/313, “Revitalization of the work of the General Assembly”, and particularly to its paragraphs 29, 30 and 31 related to the “need to enhance synergies and coherence and reduce overlap where it is found to exist in the agendas of the General Assembly, the Economic and Social Council and their subsidiary bodies, as well as the high-level political forum and other related forums in light of the adoption of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development”. Agenda alignment was also welcomed by the General Assembly in its resolution 72/305 on the strengthening of ECOSOC.

The alignment of the agendas of the General Assembly, ECOSOC and other bodies has been addressed through informal consultations over several recent sessions of the General Assembly, beginning with the 70th session. There was thus already a rich history of consultations and analysis on which our consultations were able to build. These consultations have shown that Member States agree that the work of UN intergovernmental bodies needs to be aligned with the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development. There is also broad agreement on the need to address overlap in the work of intergovernmental bodies where it is found to exist.

The process during the 73rd session

During the General Assembly’s current (73rd) session, there has been continued general interest in advancing the alignment of agendas. We believe that the process we conducted has served to both advance the work on ensuring that the United Nations intergovernmental bodies adequately cover the 2030 Agenda and its 17 Sustainable Development Goals and targets, as well as advance the process on enhancing synergies and coherence by addressing gaps, overlaps and duplication where they are found to exist in the agendas of the General Assembly, ECOSOC and their subsidiary bodies.

We convened three informal consultations, as well as five expert-level “informal-informal” consultations. The timing of the deliberations, including the upcoming SDG Summit in September 2019 and the preparations for the summit on the UN 75th anniversary in September 2020, offered momentum to this alignment process which ultimately aims at improving the way intergovernmental bodies review the implementation of the 2030 Agenda. The joint briefing convened by the PGA and the President of ECOSOC in January 2019 also allowed Member States to share their views and concrete ideas on alignment.

During our informal consultations, delegations reiterated the importance they attach to the alignment process. The full and effective implementation of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development was seen to be of the utmost importance, with a special focus on ending poverty in all its forms everywhere as the greatest global challenge facing the world today and an indispensable requirement for sustainable development.

During the consultations, we heard many messages from Member States on key principles for conducting the alignment of agendas. Delegations see alignment as a Member State driven process, with the ownership and leadership of Member States. They also wish to preserve the sovereign right of Member States to present draft resolutions.

Member States decided to update the mapping of the SDGs and targets to the respective agendas of the General Assembly and ECOSOC, first carried out by Colombia during the General Assembly's 70th session. Delegations decided to simplify this mapping by looking at how the SDGs (rather than the SDGs and their targets) are addressed by the agendas of various bodies.

Member States also agreed that there is a need to continue to consider gaps, overlaps and duplication by the Main Committees of the General Assembly in their respective agendas as they relate to the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development. It was also stated that examining possible overlaps should be carried out on a case-by-case basis, looking not only at titles of agenda items but also at the content of resolutions and reports and bearing in mind the mandates of various bodies. Therefore, Member States started to reflect upon elements for possible criteria to facilitate future consideration of overlaps and duplications. However, there were differences in their approaches for defining possible criteria. Some delegations believed that it is imperative to deal with the criteria to identify overlaps and duplication and were ready to agree on such aspects during this session. Others believed that the criteria would need to be considered at a later stage as there is a need to have a detailed, thorough and comprehensive discussion on the SDGs and the agenda items before addressing criteria to identify overlaps and duplication.

Based on these consultations, we are pleased to convey the updated SDG mapping in Annex I to this Note, which enjoyed agreement among delegations. We also include, in Annex II, the possible criteria for considering overlaps and duplication, on which Member States expressed a variety of views and there was no shared agreement.

We are also pleased to include, in Annex III, the final compromise draft input to the draft GA resolution on the "Revitalization of the work of the General Assembly" from the intergovernmental consultations that we co-facilitated.

In a letter of the President of the General Assembly of 1 August 2019, the paragraphs for inclusion in the revitalization resolution were placed under a silence procedure that concluded successfully on 7 August 2019. The text was then sent to the Ad Hoc Working Group on the revitalization of the work of the General Assembly of the General Assembly for inclusion in the draft resolution.

In conclusion, we wish to highlight the shared significance attached by Member States to the alignment process. This process is seen as important for ensuring adequate strategic direction and guidance on sustainable development at the global level. It was heartening to hear from Member States that coherence and coordination between the General Assembly, ECOSOC and the HLPF are regarded as especially significant as the start of the second four-year cycle of the HLPF approaches. The 75th anniversary of the United Nations could also present further avenues for advancing alignment.

Through the valuable work and positive engagement of Member States, we feel that new seeds have been planted as a good basis for moving forward towards alignment during the 74th session of the General Assembly to further clarify the value-added of each intergovernmental platform, augment their impact toward the implementation of the 2030 Agenda and strengthen their response to emerging global trends and challenges on sustainable development.

We were honoured and grateful to have been appointed and to have engaged as Co-facilitators on alignment in the General Assembly during its 73rd session.

ANNEX I

SDG COVERAGE BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY, ECOSOC AND ECOSOC FUNCTIONAL COMMISSIONS

The table below represents a simplified version of the detailed mapping assessment of SDGs and targets prepared under the leadership of Colombia during the 70th session of the General Assembly.<sup>1</sup> It looks at how each SDG is addressed in the agendas of the General Assembly, ECOSOC and ECOSOC functional commissions. It takes the same approach as the mapping of Colombia by highlighting not only items directly related to a given SDG but also items addressing issues having an important impact on that SDG.

The HLPF, as central platform for follow up and review, has not been included in the table as, by its mandate, it covers all SDGs and “oversees a network of follow-up and review processes at the global level”. Also, not included are the High-level Segment and the Integration Segment of ECOSOC -- which address a main annual theme (identical to the HLPF’s) and may thus address issues related to any SDG depending on the year. [GA resolution 72/305]. The Management Segment has been tentatively included since it addresses issues within the mandate of ECOSOC subsidiary bodies<sup>2</sup> and a few other items.

Some Functional Commissions have been identified as relevant to a specific SDG based on their broad mandate.

Some items appear as cross-cutting (such as on financing for development, science and technology, poverty or items on the programmes of actions for countries in special situations) and thus appear in the section on “Overall implementation of the 2030 Agenda”.

<sup>2</sup> GA resolution 72/305 asked the Management Segment to focus on “the adoption of procedural decisions, consideration of recommendations of subsidiary bodies, as well as the introduction of reports and consideration of draft proposals submitted under relevant agenda items”. ECOSOC can decide to discuss/reopen the outcome of a subsidiary body

ANNEX II

Possible criteria for reducing overlaps and duplication where they are found to exist in light of the adoption of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development

Note of the co-facilitators

The 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development represents a paradigm shift in development, necessitating that the United Nations become better coordinated, integrated and coherent in its development efforts. The agendas of the UN intergovernmental bodies need to help them to deliver on the ambitious and comprehensive 2030 Agenda and its interlinked Sustainable Development Goals and to supporting national governments in unlocking their full development potential.

The ownership and leadership of the analysis of overlaps and duplication in the agendas of both the General Assembly and ECOSOC rests with Member States, with the understanding that any exercise regarding overlapping must safeguard and strengthen the United Nations' development work. At the same time, duplication should be avoided in the work of intergovernmental bodies so that Member States can spend adequate time to address the critical issues.

In addressing duplication where it is found to exist, it will be important to retain the substantive content of the UN intergovernmental agenda, keeping in mind that overlap does not necessarily mean repetition. Possible overlaps and duplication between the General Assembly and ECOSOC should be evaluated on a case-by-case basis, analysing items according to these bodies' respective mandates. The assessment should go beyond the titles of agenda items and examine sub-items and the content of resolutions and reports of the Secretary-General. The analysis should also bear in mind the different perspectives of the Second, Third and other Main Committees, ECOSOC and other bodies.

To carry out an objective analysis of possible overlaps and duplication, there is also a need to develop criteria to assess overlaps and duplication and to address them with a coherent and consistent approach. As Co-facilitators, we wish to offer a few thoughts on possible criteria for delegations to consider in the continuing analysis of the way the SDGs are addressed in the UN intergovernmental bodies.

In general, the criteria for analyzing overlaps and duplication need to ultimately aim at effectively supporting the 2030 Agenda. For this, the UN agendas need to offer a high degree of cohesion towards implementation. Reducing overlaps and duplication should not be seen as reduced delivery, but rather, delivering more within less time and more targeted background documentation. Such gains have multiplier effects across pillars and intergovernmental bodies.

Possible criteria for identifying overlaps and duplication are listed below.

Thus, it might be considered that there is a duplication if:

- The same issue is considered by two bodies (e.g., the title of the item is the same).
- There is overlap not only in the title of the item but also in the content of the SG reports and resolutions considered under the item.
- None of the bodies have an oversight function over the other (For example, ECOSOC adopts the reports of its subsidiary bodies so it needs to have an item for this purpose with the exact same title as the name of the subsidiary body).
- The two bodies consider the issue from a similar angle (as opposed to each body looking at the interlinkages of the issue with a specific area within their purview - for example poverty may be addressed in general in the Second Committee while the Commission on Population and Development might look only at poverty and migrants).

- The mandates and functions of the two bodies could not justify that both consider the same issue from a different perspective (for example if the GA adopts policy guidance and ECOSOC reviews its implementation by the UN system).

The overlap or duplication might be justified if:

- The item is an issue mandated to be mainstreamed in the work of all UN bodies (e.g. gender mainstreaming, countries in special situations).
- The item is a cross-cutting (e.g. financing).

Annex III

3 Input of the alignment process to the General Assembly draft resolution on the revitalization of the work of the General Assembly

Co-facilitators' compromise proposal for the silence procedure

Recalls the Guidelines on the Rationalization of the Agenda of the General Assembly, as adopted in its resolution 48/264 of 29 July 1994;

Also recalls the need to enhance synergies and coherence by addressing gaps, overlaps and duplication where they are found to exist in the agendas of the General Assembly, especially of its Second and Third Committees, and the Economic and Social Council and its subsidiary bodies, in accordance with relevant rules of procedure and in the light of the adoption of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development;

Requests the General Committee, while exercising its functions under rule 40 of the rules of procedure of the General Assembly, to pay special attention to reduction of such overlap; (agreed language, OP30, res. 72/313)

Reiterates its request to the President of the General Assembly at its 74th session to identify proposals, in a timely manner, through consultations with all Member States, the President of the Economic and Social Council, and the General Committee, within their respective mandates, aimed at addressing gaps, overlaps and duplication where they are found to exist in the agenda of the General Assembly as they relate to the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development as a whole, and reaffirms the respective mandates of the Main Committees of the General Assembly, and on that basis, calls on all of them to continue their consideration of addressing gaps, overlaps and duplication in their respective agendas as they relate to the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development as a whole, and, in this regard, requests them to make proposals available for discussion during the 74th session of the General Assembly;

Takes note with appreciation of the updated mapping assessment of the SDG coverage developed during the 73rd session of the General Assembly as an evolving reference document for the consideration of the Member States during the 74th session of the General Assembly, and also takes note of the initial efforts made during the 73rd session of the General Assembly to develop possible criteria to identify overlaps and duplication where they are found to exist, with a view to continuing the work on agenda alignment with the aim to focus the work of the General Assembly more effectively and efficiently on the timely implementation of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development;
