

THE PRESIDENT OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

In relation to the United Nations Summit on Biodiversity that the President of the General Assembly is convening on 30 September 2020 under the theme of “Urgent action on biodiversity for sustainable development” and the audio-visual content, including any statements or speeches, that you may wish to provide for broadcast at the Summit:

In order for such content to be broadcast and used during and in relation to the Summit, it is necessary that those submitting videos have all rights, including intellectual property rights, to the content. Such necessary rights include permissions and licenses from any third parties whose materials are included in the content as well as personal releases from third parties who are featured in the content, and such permissions, licenses and releases should also include submitters’ right to authorize the United Nations to use the content for the purposes of the Summit and for other official purposes of the United Nations, including the right for the UN to sublicense, as necessary.

In this respect, the use of the content by the United Nations may include broadcast of the content in the General Assembly Hall during the Summit, broadcast on UNTV and distribution to third party broadcasters of the UN for their use, live and on-demand streaming on UN Web TV (webtv.un.org), viewing on the UN’s websites and its social media, use of excerpts in news packages by UNifeed, uploading to the UN Audiovisual Library, including use of the content by third parties, and other official use by the United Nations. In this regard, we note that video submitters provide a license to the UN for such use, including the right for the UN to sublicense, as necessary.

The United Nations will use the content to be provided with the above understanding and that the United Nations will not be responsible for any claims which may be raised by third parties concerning the provided content, including any infringement claims. By submitting audio-visual content for the Summit, you confirm your agreement with the above.

We thank you in advance for your contribution to the United Nations Summit on Biodiversity and avail ourselves of the opportunity to renew the assurances of our highest consideration.