Introductory note

The present chapter concerns the interpretation and application of rules 6 to 12 of the provisional rules of procedure of the Security Council, relating to the agenda. The chapter is divided into three parts. The part dealing with “Consideration of the adoption or amendment of rules 6 to 12” has been omitted in the present Supplement since, during the period under review, the Council did not consider any change to rules 6 to 12.

Part I, “The provisional agenda (rules 6-8 and 12)”, provides information on the practice of the Security Council with regard to circulation of communications by the Secretary-General, and the preparation and communication of the provisional agenda.

Part II, “Adoption of the agenda (rule 9)”, contains material dealing with questions that were discussed in connection with the adoption of the agenda, such as consideration of requirements for the inclusion of an item in the agenda and effect of the inclusion of an item in the agenda. Other questions that were discussed in connection with the adoption of the agenda are reflected under the subheadings concerning the scope of items on the agenda in relation to the scope of the discussion and phrasing of agenda items. No material was found for treatment concerning the procedure of the Council in voting on the adoption of the agenda or order of discussion of the items on the agenda.

Part III, “The agenda: matters of which the Security Council is seized (rules 10 and 11)”, relates to the list of matters under the Council’s consideration. It includes an overview of the Council’s decisions with regard to the addition, retention and deletion of items of which the Council is seized. The tabulation in Section B supplements the tabulations in previous volumes of the Repertoire and indicates the changes that have since occurred in the list of matters of which the Security Council is seized.

Part I

The provisional agenda (rules 6-8 and 12)

Note

The provisional agenda, prepared by the Secretary-General and approved by the President of the Security Council in accordance with rule 7, includes those items that have been brought to the attention of the Council under rule 6. Under that rule, “the Secretary-General shall immediately bring to the attention of all representatives on the Security Council all communications from States, organs of the United Nations, or the Secretary-General concerning any matter for the consideration of the Security Council in accordance with the provisions of the Charter”. Effect is normally given to this rule by the distribution of communications as documents in the S/series. Communications from regional arrangements or agencies received pursuant to Article 54 of the Charter are also circulated in the S/series of documents.<sup>1</sup>

Rule 7 entrusts the drawing up of the provisional agenda for each meeting to the Secretary-General, subject to the approval of the President of the Security Council. The Secretary-General’s discretion with respect to the inclusion of new items is restricted to those items that have been brought to the attention of the Council under rule 6. In addition to the express provisions of rule 7, the Secretary-General also has to take into account whether a specific request to include the item has been made.

Rule 8 concerns communication of the provisional agenda to the representatives on the Security Council, and rule 12, paragraph 1, concerns such communication for periodic meetings. During the period under review, no material relating to these rules was found.

<sup>1</sup> While the application of rule 6 was not discussed, a complaint was made in a letter dated 18 February 2005 from the Permanent Representative of the Sudan to the United Nations addressed to the President of the Security Council (S/2005/100) that two documents from his Government had not been translated and circulated to Council members as requested.

A. Circulation of communication by the Secretary-General (rule 6)

In accordance with rule 6, the Secretary-General continued the practice of distributing communications as documents in the S/series. During the period under review, there were no instances in which the question of circulation of communications arose.

B. Preparation of the provisional agenda (rule 7)

In accordance with rule 7, the Secretary-General continued the practice of drawing up the provisional agenda for each meeting, subject to the approval of the President of the Security Council. During the period under review, there was no instance in which the subject of the preparation of the provisional agenda gave rise to a discussion in the Council.

C. Communication of the provisional agenda (rule 8)

In accordance with rule 8, the Secretary-General continued to communicate the provisional agenda for a meeting to the representatives on the Security Council. Pursuant to prior decisions of the Council,<sup>2</sup> the provisional agendas for formal meetings of the Council were also listed in the Journal of the United Nations, as were the topics to be discussed in informal consultations of the members of the Council.

Part II

Adoption of the agenda (rule 9)

Note

As in previous volumes of the Repertoire, this part is devoted to the proceedings of the Council on those occasions when objection was raised to the adoption of the agenda or other questions were discussed in connection with the adoption of the agenda.

Under rule 9, the first item on the provisional agenda for each meeting of the Security Council is the adoption of the agenda.<sup>3</sup> In practice, the Council has usually discussed and approved the provisional agenda in prior informal consultations and then adopted it at the formal meeting without a vote. Objections on the adoption of the agenda have also been precluded by the practice of the Council of inscribing a single substantive item on its provisional agenda for each meeting.

During the period under review, there was no occasion on which an objection was raised on grounds related to the procedure of the Council in voting on the adoption of the agenda. On several occasions, however, objections were raised or discussions took place on the substance of the item inscribed on the provisional agenda. Participation in discussions related to the adoption of the agenda was limited to members of the Council.

Between 2004 and 2007, the Council added 43 new items in its agenda, including two items that were adopted with a vote (cases 1 and 2).<sup>4</sup> Notably, of the new items, approximately half dealt with thematic issues.

With a view to enhancing the efficiency and transparency of the Council's work, in a Note by the President of the Council dated 19 July 2006,<sup>5</sup> the members of the Council recalled the desirability, whenever possible, of using descriptive formulations of agenda items at the time of their initial adoption to avoid having a number of separate agenda items on the same subject. It was further observed that when such a descriptive formulation existed, consideration should be given to subsuming earlier agenda items on the same subject under the descriptive formulation (case 5).

In section A below, two case histories have been included under the subheading "Consideration of requirements for the inclusion of an item in the agenda" (cases 1 and 2). In

<sup>3</sup> There were several instances in which, in accordance with past practice, the President of the Council made preliminary remarks before the adoption of the agenda. These included expressions of thanks, congratulations, tributes, expressions of sympathy and condolence. The latter category also included the observation of a minute of silence (see for example, S/PV.4892, S/PV.4910, S/PV.4920, S/PV.5159, S/PV.5315 and S/PV.5728).

<sup>4</sup> For a complete list of the new items, see the table in section B, part III. On many occasions, even before an item was officially included in the Council's agenda, it was discussed in informal consultations of the whole and a press statement was issued by the President, presenting the key elements or results of such consultations. For example, on 2 and 14 April 2004, following briefings by the Under-Secretary-General for Humanitarian Affairs and Emergency Relief Coordinator in informal consultations on the humanitarian situations in Darfur, Sudan and Northern Uganda, press statements were released on the issues (SC/8050 and SC/8057, respectively), even though the items were not yet on the agenda of the Council.

both instances, objections on the adoption of the agenda lead to a vote. Section B contains a case history, under the subheading “Consideration of effect of inclusion of an item in the agenda”, on a discussion related to the substance of the item inscribed on the agenda (case 3). Section C refers to instances when the Council discussed other questions arising in relation to the adoption of the agenda. Case histories are included under the subheadings: “Scope of items on the agenda in relation to the scope of the discussion” (case 4) and “Phrasing of agenda items” (case 5). No material was found for treatment under the other sub-headings included in previous volumes of the Repertoire, dealing with the order of discussion of items on the agenda and precedence of the decision on adoption of the agenda.

A. Consideration of requirements for the inclusion of an item in the agenda

Case 1

At its 5526th meeting on 15 September 2006, pursuant to a letter dated 15 September 2006 from the representative of the United States,<sup>6</sup> the Security Council included in its agenda, with objection, the item entitled “The situation in Myanmar”.

Speaking before the vote, the representative of China questioned the categorization of the situation in Myanmar as a threat to international peace and security. Referring to a letter dated 10 July 2006 addressed by the Non-Aligned Movement (NAM) to the President of the Security Council,<sup>7</sup> in which NAM stated its categorical opposition to the inclusion of Myanmar in the Council’s agenda, the representative of China further argued that to request that the Security Council discuss an issue that by nature pertained to the internal affairs of a country not only exceeded the mandate given by the Charter to the Council, but also undermined the Council’s authority and legality. He further expressed the view that so long as the situation in Myanmar did not pose a threat to international or regional peace and security, China would be unequivocally against including the question of Myanmar on the agenda of the Council.<sup>8</sup> The representative of Qatar also objected to the inclusion of the item, on the grounds that such inclusion could close the diplomatic channels opened by Myanmar with the relevant human rights mechanisms and with the Secretary-General.<sup>9</sup> The representative of the United States, citing his letter dated 1 September 2006 addressed to the President of the Council,<sup>10</sup> requested that the situation in Myanmar be included in the Council's agenda and urged Council members to vote in support of the item.<sup>11</sup>

The President put the provisional agenda to a vote.<sup>12</sup> The agenda was adopted by 10 votes to 4, with 1 abstention.<sup>13</sup>

Case 2

At its 5237th meeting held in private on 27 July 2005,<sup>14</sup> the Council included on its provisional agenda the item entitled, "Letters dated 26 July 2005 from the Permanent Representative of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland to the United Nations addressed to the President of the Security Council".<sup>15</sup> The letters contained a request for a meeting to discuss the report of the fact-finding mission of the Special Envoy of the Secretary-General on human settlements to Zimbabwe to assess the scope and impact of Operation Murambatsvina. Prior to the adoption of the agenda, the representative of the Russian Federation requested that the agenda be put to a vote, following which the representatives of China and the United Kingdom also made statements. The President then put the request of the Russian Federation to a vote. The request received 9 votes in favour, 5 against and 1 abstention. The agenda was adopted.

B. Consideration of effect of the inclusion of an item in the agenda

Case 3

At its 5663rd meeting on 17 April 2007, the Council held an open debate on the agenda item entitled, “Letter dated 5 April 2007 from the Permanent Representative of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland to the United Nations addressed to the President of the Security Council”.<sup>16</sup> During the Council’s deliberation on the agenda item, several speakers questioned whether climate change was a security issue or not and whether the Council was the right forum to address the issue of the relationship between energy, security and climate. They argued that the ever-increasing encroachment of the Security Council on the roles and responsibilities of the other main organs of the United Nations represented a “distortion” of the principles and purposes of the Charter, infringed on the authority of the other bodies and compromised the rights of the Organization’s wider membership.<sup>17</sup> The representative of South Africa observed that the issues could be best dealt with in the General Assembly, and hoped that the discussion would not elevate the issue of climate change or the environment to being a Security Council agenda item.<sup>18</sup>

C. Other discussions on the adoption of the agenda

1. Scope of items on the agenda in relation to the scope of the discussion

While on most occasions the Council strictly discussed only the items on the agenda, on certain occasions it has found itself addressing other issues. Case 4 demonstrates an instance where speakers addressed situations or issues that were not on the agenda or that did not strictly fall under the scope of the item under consideration.

Case 4

At the 5494th meeting on 24 July 2004, the Council considered the item entitled, “Children and armed conflict”. The representative of the Democratic Republic of the Congo, indicating support for the monitoring and reporting mechanism set up in the implementation of resolution 1312 (2005), held the belief that the mechanism of “naming and shaming” should also cover all parties to a conflict who recruit and use child soldiers, regardless of whether that situation was on the Council’s agenda or not.<sup>19</sup> At the same meeting, the representative of Canada noted that Northern Uganda was a good example of a situation not on the Council’s agenda, but where there were grave abuses against children and civilians. He further urged the Council to include the situation on its agenda.<sup>20</sup>

At the 5573rd meeting on 28 November 2006 on the same agenda item, however, the representative of China observed that in considering the issue of children and armed conflict, the Council needed to draw a distinction between situations that were on its agenda and those that were not.<sup>21</sup> The representative of Sri Lanka noted that several aspects of the report of the Secretary-General relating to issues such as development and humanitarian access could be considered by the relevant bodies mandated to address those issues, so that the Council did not lose focus on its core issue of concern.<sup>22</sup>

2. Phrasing of agenda items

Case 5

Given the importance attached to the phrasing of agenda items, in a Note by the President of the Security Council dated 18 April 2005,<sup>23</sup> concerning formulation of the title of the agenda item for issues pertaining to Iraq, members of the Security Council announced the agreement reached as follows:

Issues relating to the return of all Kuwaiti property, the repatriation or return of all Kuwaiti and third-country nationals or their remains, and the United Nations Compensation

Commission would be considered under the agenda item entitled “The situation between Iraq and Kuwait”. Other issues that did not fall under this category would be considered under the agenda item entitled “The situation concerning Iraq”.

By a Note by the President of the Council dated 19 July 2006,<sup>24</sup> the members of the Council recalled the desirability, whenever possible, of using descriptive formulations of agenda items to avoid having a number of separate agenda items on the same subject. It was further observed that when such a descriptive formulation existed, consideration should be given to subsuming earlier agenda items on the same subject under the descriptive formulation. During the review period, the Council created several descriptive formulations of agenda items under which separate items on the same subject were subsumed. For example, as of 6 November 2007, four separate agenda items dealing with regional organizations were subsumed under a single agenda item entitled “The role of regional and sub-regional organizations in the maintenance of international peace and security”.<sup>25</sup> Henceforth, the items subsumed did not appear in the summary statement. For other such instances see the table in Part III, Section B, on items added to the list of matters of which the Council was seized.<sup>26</sup>

Part III

The agenda: matters of which the Security Council is seized (rules 10 and 11)

Note

Rule 10 of the provisional rules of procedure was designed to enable the Security Council to continue, at its next meeting, the consideration of an item of unfinished business without subjecting that item to renewed debate in connection with the adoption of the agenda.

<sup>25</sup> The items subsumed were: “The Security Council and regional organizations: facing the new challenges to international peace and security”, “Cooperation between the United Nations and regional organizations in stabilization processes”, “Cooperation between the United Nations and regional organizations in maintaining international peace and security” and “Relationship between the United Nations and regional organizations, in particular the African Union, in the maintenance of international peace and security”.

Rule 11 provides for the Secretary-General to communicate each week to the representatives on the Security Council a summary statement of matters of which the Security Council is seized and of the stage reached in their consideration.<sup>27</sup> In previous volumes of the Repertoire, it was noted that items on the agenda of the Council had remained on the Secretary-General's summary statement when the tenor of the Council's discussion or its specific decisions revealed a continuing concern with the matter. Additional evidence supporting such retention was provided when the President of the Council announced, upon conclusion of the debate, that the Council remained seized of a question.

During the period under review, items were deleted from the list of matters of which the Security Council was seized when: (i) no request for its retention had been made by Member States and the item had not been considered in formal meetings during the preceding five years; or (ii) the Council had formally concluded its consideration of the item.

The tabulation appearing in the last section supplements the tabulations contained in the previous volumes of the Repertoire and indicates the changes that have since occurred in the list of matters of which the Council is seized.

A. Continuation of discussion of agenda items (rule 10)

There was no discussion concerning the application of rule 10 during the period under review. On many occasions, separate consecutive meetings were held on the same agenda item.<sup>28</sup> In other instances, the meeting was suspended and resumed until the Council had completed that stage of its consideration of the item.<sup>29</sup>

<sup>27</sup> Pursuant to a Note by the President of the Council dated 19 December 2007 (S/2007/749), beginning in January 2008, the references given for each item listed in the summary statement would reflect the date of first consideration of the item in a formal meeting and the date of the most recent formal meeting held on that item.

<sup>28</sup> For example 4952nd and 4953rd meetings, held on 27 April 2004, on the situation between Iraq and Kuwait; 5238th and 5242nd meetings, held on 27 and 29 July 2005 respectively, on the situation in Georgia; 5284th and 5285th meetings, held on 18 October 2005 on the question concerning Haiti; and 5289th and 5290th meetings held on 24 October 2005 on the Security Council resolutions 1160 (1998), 1199 (1998), 1203 (1998), 1239 (1999) and 1244 (1999).

<sup>29</sup> For example, 4950th meeting on non-proliferation of weapons of mass destruction held on 22 April 2004 and resumed on 28 April 2004; 4990th meeting on protection of civilians in armed conflict held on 14 June 2004 and resumed on 14 December 2004; 4896th meeting on small arms held on 19 January 2004 and resumed on 17 February 2005; 5066th meeting on women and peace and security held on 28 October 2004 and resumed on 27 October 2005; and 5705th meeting on maintenance of international peace and security held on 25 June 2007 and resumed on 28 August 2007.

B. Retention and deletion of items from the summary statements by the Secretary-General on matters of which the Security Council is seized (rule 11)

1. Proceedings of the Security Council regarding the retention and deletion of items from the agenda

In the proceedings of the Security Council, agenda items that have not been considered in the preceding five years are automatically deleted from the list of matters of which the Security Council is seized, unless a Member State notifies the Secretary-General beforehand of its wish to have the item retained.<sup>30</sup> Forty-one items were deleted during the period under review using this procedure. Items are also deleted following a request addressed to the Secretary-General by the Member State concerned and in the absence of any objection on the part of the members of the Council. In letters dated 30 March 2006 and 22 May 2007, the Chairman of the Committee on the Exercise of the Inalienable Rights of the Palestinian People reiterated his continuing objection to the deletion of items that related to the exercise of the inalienable rights of the Palestinian people, the question of Palestine and the situation in the Middle East. He cautioned that any decision to delete those items would go beyond procedural exercise and would have far-reaching political implications.<sup>31</sup> The Council continued to be seized of the items in question.

2. Addition, retention and deletion of items from the Secretary-General's summary statements on matters of which the Security Council is seized

Part (a) indicates items added to the list of matters of which the Council was seized during the period under review; Part (b) indicates items appearing on previous lists for which new action by the Security Council was reported in the summary statements during the period 2004-2007; and Part (c) indicates items deleted from the list during that period.<sup>32</sup> The tabulation shows that, during the period under review, the Council included 43 new items in the list of
