4. The situation in Burundi

During the period under review, the Security Council held eight meetings in connection with the situation in Burundi, adopted two resolutions and issued one presidential statement. The Secretary-General participated in one meeting, and at five meetings speakers were invited under rule 39 of the provisional rules of procedure. Invitations under rule 37 were extended to Burundi and the United Republic of Tanzania. In January 2016, the Council visited Burundi to follow up on the security situation, which had been deteriorating since December 2015. More information on the meetings, including on participants, speakers and outcomes, is given in the table below.

During the period, the Council’s deliberations focused on the volatile political situation in Burundi, and on the continued occurrence of serious human rights violations and the deteriorating humanitarian emergency in the country. In March 2016, the Secretary-General briefed the Council on his visit to the country the previous month. In resolution 2279 (2016), the Council urged the Government of Burundi to extend full cooperation to the East African Community-led, African Union-endorsed mediator and his facilitator for the inter-Burundian dialogue. The Council also requested the Secretary-General to support the inter-Burundian dialogue and to coordinate work with the East African Community and the African Union. The Council further requested the Secretary-General to strengthen the team of the Special Adviser on Conflict Prevention, including in Burundi, and to present options for the deployment of a United Nations police contribution to increase the United Nations capacity to monitor the security situation, promote respect for human rights and advance the rule of law.

In July 2016, by resolution 2303 (2016), the Council requested the Secretary-General to establish a United Nations police officers component in Burundi for an initial period of one year to monitor the security situation and to support the Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights in monitoring human rights violations and abuses, and in that regard.

43 Resolution 2279 (2016), paras. 5, 7 and 10.
authorized a ceiling of 228 United Nations individual police officers.\(^4^4\)

In a letter dated 3 May 2017 addressed to the President of the Security Council, the Secretary-General appointed a new Special Envoy to lead and coordinate political efforts of the United Nations in Burundi, replacing the Special Adviser on Conflict Prevention, including in Burundi.\(^4^5\) In July 2017, the Special Envoy of the Secretary-General for Burundi briefed the Council for the first time and noted that while the economic situation continued to worsen because of the tense political environment, the security situation had improved since the beginning of the year.\(^4^6\)

By the end of 2017, the facilitator for the inter-Burundian dialogue had convened a further round of dialogue sessions in Arusha, United Republic of Tanzania, between all relevant stakeholders. In regard to relations between the United Nations and the Government of Burundi, the Secretariat was continuing negotiations with the Government on a draft headquarters agreement.\(^4^7\)

During the period under review, the Security Council held three meetings in connection with the situation in the Great Lakes region. More information on the meetings, including on participants, speakers and outcomes, is given in the table below.

In 2016 and 2017, the Council was briefed on the efforts to promote inclusive dialogue processes in the region, including in Burundi and the Democratic Republic of the Congo. The Council was also briefed on the conclusions of the seventh high-level Meeting of the Regional Oversight Mechanism of the Peace, Security and Cooperation Framework for the Democratic Republic of the Congo and the Region, held on 26 October 2016 in Luanda. It was the first time that a meeting of the Mechanism had been held in a signatory country since the signing of the Framework. The meeting dealt with the situations in Burundi, the Central African Republic, the Democratic Republic of the Congo and South Sudan.

During the period, the Council focused on the implementation and challenges to the Framework, and on the recommendations of the Secretary-General concerning the strategic review of the mandate of the Special Envoy of the Secretary-General for the Great Lakes Region, conducted by the Secretariat in 2016 pursuant to resolution 2277 (2016). The Council also addressed the activities of foreign and domestic armed groups in the Democratic Republic of the Congo and
