King Salman Global Academy for Arabic Language

2022

The 18th of December 1973 is acknowledged as the day the United Nations adopted Arabic as the sixth official language of the Organization. On this special day, Arabic speakers throughout the world celebrate the legacy and beauty of this unique language.

As part of the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia's commitment to endorsing the Arabic language across international organizations and forums, King Salman Global Academy for Arabic Language (KSAA) will celebrate its second annual Arabic language event, 'International Day of the Arabic Language', at the UN Headquarters in New York City, in cooperation with the Permanent Mission of the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia to the UN.

Under the slogan, "The Arabic Language in the United Nation A 50-Year Journey", the two-day event will feature several speakers from the UN and other international organizations as well as diplomats from a number of Arab and Islamic countries. The event will also include the release of a book documenting the history of the Arabic language in the United Nations. It will also feature several seminars, workshops, and cultural and art exhibitions on the Arabic language and its contributions as well as its presence in international organizations.

When:
Monday and Tuesday
19-20 December 2022.

Location:
United Nations
Headquarters.

Presenters:
Dr. Mohamed Aladsani
