Ms. Ella Blumenthal was born in Warsaw, Poland in 1921 to a large and extended family. In October 1940 she was deported to the Warsaw Ghetto. She survived the Warsaw Ghetto uprising in 1943. The Nazis deported Ms. Blumenthal, her father and her niece Roma to Majdanek death camp. Ms. Blumenthal’s father was beaten on arrival and never seen again by Ms. Blumenthal. Ms. Blumenthal and Roma survived Majdanek. They were sent to Auschwitz-Birkenau Nazi German concentration and death camp (1941-1945), and later to Bergen-Belsen concentration camp where they remained until liberation. Of the 27 members of her immediate family, only Ms. Blumenthal and Roma survived the Holocaust. After the war, Ms. Blumenthal managed to get to Paris and then to Tel Aviv, before moving to South Africa. She lives in Cape Town and has four children, eleven grandchildren and eleven great grandchildren.

Dr. Petra Gelbart is a Romani educator and board-certified music therapist. She is the granddaughter of Helena “Margita” Nová and Antonín “Ruda” Hránek, Romani Holocaust survivors. Dr. Gelbart’s family introduced her to Romani music and language during her youth in the former Czechoslovakia. She holds a Ph.D. in Ethnomusicology from Harvard University and is currently an Adjunct Professor at Fordham University. Dr. Gelbart is involved with several Romani organizations, as well as with foster families raising Romani children.

Mr. Pinchas Gutter was born in Łódź, Poland in 1932. He was seven when the Second World War began. Mr. Gutter, his twin sister, and his mother, fled disguised as Christians to their aunt in Warsaw. His father followed. The family were incarcerated in the Warsaw Ghetto for three and a half years. When the Warsaw Ghetto uprising began in April 1943, the family hid in a bunker for three weeks before the Nazis discovered them and deported them to Majdanek death camp. The Nazis murdered Mr. Gutter’s father, mother and twin sister on arrival. The Nazis selected Mr. Gutter for slave labour. He survived Majdanek, five other concentration camps including Buchenwald, and a death march from Germany to Czechoslovakia, where he was liberated in 1945 by Soviet troops. He was 13 years old. Under the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, Mr. Gutter was taken to England with other child Holocaust survivors to rehabilitate. Mr. Gutter is married to Dorothy, and their family now spans three generations.

Ms. Fumiko Ishioka is the director of the Tokyo Holocaust Education Resource Center. In 2000 she rented a suitcase from the Auschwitz Museum to display throughout Japan as a way to convey the story of the Holocaust to other children. The suitcase had a name, a birth date and the German word “Waisenkind” meaning orphan. Ms. Ishioka began researching the life of the owner of the suitcase, Hana Brady, and eventually found her surviving brother in Canada. The story was turned into a book Hana’s Suitcase, and a documentary Inside Hana’s Suitcase. Hana’s suitcase has been traveling to more than 1,200 schools to this day.
Ms. Vered Kater was born in 1943 in Eindhoven, Nazi-occupied Netherlands. Her earliest years were spent in hiding. The Nazis forced her family to hide to survive, but the family was unable to hide together. Fortunately, Ms. Kater’s father worked in the Philips factory. Mr. Frits Philips found a hiding place for all his Jewish employees. Ms. Kater was taken in by Joop and Joke Kuiper and spent her first three years living as their only child. They risked their lives to conceal Ms. Kater’s Jewish identity and shield her from the Nazis and the horrors of the Holocaust. After the war, Ms. Kater decided to become a nurse to help people and has built a legacy as a health worker, traveling to developing countries to administer aid to people in need. She often shares in-depth accounts of her story of survival. In 2019 Ms. Kater delivered her testimony during the annual Holocaust observance organized by the United Nations Information Centre in Yangon, Myanmar.
