

SDG Pavilion, Blue Zone
11th Dec, From 18:00 To 19:00

Side Event title:

Bridging the Gap: SRHR, Youth Engagement, and NDCs in Climate Action

Side Event Description:

This occasion's goal is to discover the critical intersection of Sexual and Reproductive Health and Rights (SRHR), youth engagement, and Nationally Determined Contributions (NDCs) in the context of climate action. It seeks to facilitate an in-intensity dialogue on how younger humans can be pivotal in shaping extra inclusive, equitable, and ambitious NDCs that combine SRHR issues. The occasion will feature insights, experiences, and solutions from experts, young leaders, and advocates, demonstrating the ability of this triad to drive significant climate action.

Objectives:

1-Youth Empowerment: Empower younger humans to be energetic retailers in weather action by using the know-how of the significance of SRHR and their position in shaping NDCs.

2-Knowledge Exchange: Foster communication and knowledge alternate among stakeholders, imparting a platform for sharing first-class practices, innovative processes, and successful children-led projects.

3-Inclusivity: Promote the importance of an inclusive technique to NDCs that remember the SRHR wishes and rights of all, particularly youth.

4-Policy Advocacy: Advocate for guidelines that understand the important link among SRHR, youth engagement, and NDCs, emphasizing their collective position in accomplishing climate and social desires.

Outcomes:

1-Youth Empowerment: Enhanced motivation and ability among young contributors to actively engage in weather action, recommend SRHR concerns, and impact NDC development.

2-Informed Action: Increased understanding among all contributors approximately the intersection of SRHR, teen engagement, and NDCs, main to more informed and targeted climate motion efforts.

3-Advocacy Insights: The occasion will generate policy pointers and insights on how teens can efficaciously suggest SRHR-inclusive NDCs.

4-Youth-Policymaker Collaboration: Facilitation of debate and collaboration among teenage representatives and policymakers to make certain young people's views are integrated into NDC development and implementation.

5-Inspiration for Action: Encourage all contributors to actively contribute to weather motion by spotting the crucial position of SRHR, teenagers' engagement, and NDCs in constructing a sustainable, equitable, and resilient destiny.