

Application Guide for IDE Master's Degree Program 2021, Zhejiang University

INTRODUCTION

The UN Technology Bank for the Least Developed Countries, the World Eco-Design Conference (WEDC) and the International School of Design at Zhejiang University, Ningbo (ISD-ZJU Ningbo), China jointly signed the agreement on cooperation and promotion of the implementation of International Design Education (IDE) program. Industrial design offers great potential for least developed countries (LDCs) as a driver of innovation, problem-solving and economic growth.

Zhejiang University is ranked among China's leading Universities for both the quantity and quality of its master's degree programs. Several hundred academic majors are established in colleges and departments affiliated to seven faculties of science, engineering, agriculture, medicine, information technology, humanities and social sciences. Zhejiang University, Ningbo was jointly built by Zhejiang University and the Ningbo Municipal People's Government on August 1st, 2018. As a directly affiliated institution of ZJU, Zhejiang University, Ningbo strives to create a high-level, research-oriented, international campus that integrates research and technology transfer, relying on Zhejiang University's high-quality educational resources.

The International Design Education Program (IDE) is developed for the world's least developed countries. The program will be facilitated by the International School of Design, Zhejiang University, Ningbo (ISD-ZJU NINGBO), that will provide master education and research on industrial design with the cooperation of the School of Software Technology, ZJU. The IDE is also an incubator for bridging innovation and entrepreneurship by transforming exceptional projects and research into start-ups and supporting them to innovate and grow by providing business support resources and services, resulting in closer access to manufacturing and business.

The IDE program is completed in two and a half academic years, offered in English and located in Zhejiang University, Ningbo. Graduates fulfilling all the degree requirements will be awarded the master's degree of Industrial Design Engineering, Zhejiang University. This program provides applicants from LDCs with full scholarship covering full tuition fee, on-campus accommodation expenses, comprehensive medical insurance, admission fee and monthly stipend; Partial scholarship covering full tuition fee, comprehensive medical insurance, admission fee and monthly stipend.
